Hopkins Promises More 'Cooperation'

FSU was assured by Tallahassee City Manager Arvah Hopkins Tuesday that the Tallahassee Police Dept. will quit hiring students to help in the arrest and conviction of homosexuals.

"We will cooperate with FSU all the way," Hopkins said.

The students, all mature and aged 20 and over, were hired at a fee of $10 per case to stand in front of a local bus station and signal police when "propositioned" by a deviate.

Hopkins said solicitations of young men has doubled at the bus station in the past year and vice records show the deviates come from a wide surrounding area to hunt young victims.

Hopkins, relaying the sentiments of the Tallahassee City Commission, made the statement after Chief of Police Frank Stoutamire had announced the department would continue to hire students regardless of objections of the University.

"It is our job and intention to maintain a community atmosphere that is safe for all young people, including thousands of students who attend our two state universities here," he said.

Dean of Students Harry P. Day, speaking for the FSU administration, called for a halt to the practice after it was made public a week ago. He said he was shocked that the University had not been informed of the practice.

He continued, "We will not continue hiring FSU students if the practice meets the University's disapproval."

FSU students will be given new Offering more freedom to students

FSU students will be given new criterion next fall from which to plan their courses of study in general (liberal arts) education, it was announced today.

According to new policies governing a basic academic program required of all students, FSU is switching from a two-year program of hard-core requirements to a more liberal, four-year program of broad-area selective, beginning in September.

Offering more freedom to students who wish to map their academic careers according to individual needs, interests and abilities, the changes in policy are the result of a two and one-half year study just concluded by the FSU faculty.

Like many other universities, FSU has for some time been concerned with maintaining the quality of its general education program and balancing its consistency with the increasing scope of specialization re-

The appointment of Lynda Brinks as program director of the University Union at FSU was announced today.

Miss Brinks assumed her new position Monday. The position of program director was formerly filled by Marie Williams who will continue on the Union staff as director of the radio station.

Formerly head resident and counselor in Selby Scholarship House for Women, Miss Brinks has served as a counselor at Camp Tapawingo in Harrison, Me., and as a social worker with the Florida State Dept. of Public Welfare.

gained by training and by the essential first-hand and a faculty spokesman. Led by the University's Committee on Academic Affairs, the Faculty Senate adopted the new regulations governing basic studies in mid-December. The change is "to assure reasonable development" of every student's "ability to communicate clearly, to develop a sense of values and to relate the events of his experience as a rational, participating citizen," said a senate member. The courses thus include the social and natural sciences, history, communication and the broad area of humanities.

Describing the reforms as "changes in principle rather than mechanics," Dr. Stephen S. Winters, director of FSU's Division of Basic Studies, said the new policies will have threefold benefits for students:

First, general education courses can be integrated throughout the average four years of a student's baccalaureate studies rather than compressed in a restricted two-year time period as previously dictated.

Second, fewer specific courses are required in the new 43-hour program which constitutes approximately one-third of a student's academic career.

Watchdog

Apparently vying for the God-Country-Mother Society's Clean Old Man award, Dean of Students Harry P. Day and Student Body President Jim Groot rose up over the Christmas break to defend the chastity of a few of FSU's male students from the nasty clutches of the Tallahassee Police Dept.

Admittedly a department that is headed by a man who labels statements from the dean of students "trash" would not be the most pleasant place for students to earn spending money. Yet, the sanctimonious crys of the dean and student body president seemed just as out of place and disastrous to public relations as the police chief's remarks.

In properly gasping tones, the two FSU officials expressed their shock over the police dept.'s use of University students as informants against homosexual solicitors. Hastily labeling the department's action as wrong, seemingly because it had not said "mother-may-I" to the University, Day and Groot (consciously or unconsciously) reinforced the outmoded and gradually dying concept of "in loco parentis".

Once again a University administrator, through a deluge of emotionalistic mouthings, attempted to subvert student civil rights and establish the University's "right" to regulate the students' non-academic life.

Because of the controversial nature of the subject of homosexuality, the administration is securing obedience to this dangerous concept (in loco parentis) as the City of Tallahassee officials have agreed not to use students anymore as informants.

The city may be forced to bow down under the heat of the administration's passionate piety, but the students must not acquiesce to administrative tyranny. They must recognize and reject it, no matter how well cloaked in sentimental morality.

Varsity Theater and the

To the Editor:

The recent controversy over Faculty Senate's "closed door policy" seems, to me, to be merely a reflection of quite opposite points of view.

Perhaps both the faculty and student body should examine its respective "reason for being."

Tallahassee Needs Cleaning

To the Editor:

As a result of the article about the slum housing for Negroes on Lafayette and St. Augustine Streets in the "Smoke Signals", another part of town, just 10 minutes away from there, took it upon itself to add an exclamation point to the observation. The "Smoke Signals" was released on Monday, Dec. 6, 1965. That same day a "home" behind Johnson Furniture Company was gutted by one of the greatest of man's inventions, fire. It burned due to one of the greatest evils in American society, apathy. By the way, a small child arrived at infinite apathy when he was trapped in that wooden tinderbox, he was burned, yes, but died instead of suffocation, lack of oxygen.

Patriotism Alive

To the Editor:

"Oh say can you see by the dawn's early light," has become like a prayer murmured with the best of intentions, but with little reverence. This coupled with the constant bickering over Vietnam, yes or no, "Why are we involved?" leaves one with the feeling that "America" means little to us today.

However, above all this, the male portion of our student body has reassured me that there is a great deal of patriotism. Around campus, this entire trimester, through daily contacts I have not heard one person who would not fight, voluntarily or if drafted. No one has issued an evasive reply, or stated they would positively not fight despite their own personal feelings. This is enough for me. Margaret Bonan

Preachers Not Practicing Precepts

It would seem that I have been suffering from a false pretense. For years I had thought that the basic purpose of teachers was to teach. Or, to put it another way: I had thought that the faculty existed to serve the student body!

Some faculty members act as though they feel the students are here to serve them, and not, as it should be, the opposite. After a university without teachers in quality while a university with students is a university in name.

The students of a university are not the faculty; the administration, or the buildings. Ideally, all three are present and work harmoniously as a functional unit.

Advocates of the closed doors maintain that the students have right to attend Faculty Senate proceedings. Further, some persons maintain that there is nothing of interest in Faculty Senate meetings. Perhaps my trouble stems from requirements, basic studies, requirements, graduation requirements and other academic affairs which have a direct bearing on student body.

If this is not of importance to students then nothing academic is this university is of any importance. Perhaps my trouble stems from being corrupted by the School Social Welfare. There are several social welfare concepts which have been taken rather seriously. The Dignity of the Individual, the right of Client Self-Determination, and Clients Right of Participation.

I don't feel too badly though. It seems that almost every department on campus has been "preaching" and practicing another.

Is this an admission from the faultless faculty that they don't work? Or, is it a matter of being in a rut by allowing tradition to hold sway over reality?

Most would be "stormed" members of the faculty concede that the "serfs" should have a vote in the masters' table?

"Oh mighty lords of knowledge, the peasants are clamoring for citizenship -- what will you do?"

Why Student Problems Need Administrative Consideration

The Editor:
I will disagree that the day students have adjustment problems different from those of the senior student. He is, for example, "out of touch" with the campus. The day student moves to and from the campus. Thus, the day student might more easily come to the campus, or one who stands on the periphery of things.
Students, then, whether part-time workers in university settings or themselves as vigorous advocates of the welfare of day students, are perceived as visitors to the campus? Do these students themselves come to view themselves as persons apart? That day students have special problems is probably unquestionable.

A particular instance in which the day student is disadvantaged by his status is that of having to buy his meals on a day-to-day basis. One question which there isn't a food plan for day students comparable to that for resident students. Why not have a five-day food plan for the day students' midday meal?
The day student is also disadvantaged in terms of a place to rest between classes as well as a place to park his belongings. Why, at FSU, are there not more physical facilities for day students?

FSU has a sizeable percentage of day students making up its student membership. From among this percentage it is to be expected that many have great potential as scholars. Their successes help add to the institution's luster. Should the fact of being a day student detract from the effectiveness of such students?

Flambeau Forum Empiricism Only Guide To Truth

To the Editor:
A few comments on Fred McDonald's letter of Dec. 9:
It seems impossible to penetrate Mr. McDonald's mania for "sympathy" toward communism. (By mania, I mean obsession. I will be indebted to any critic who refrains from saying "The thesis of Johnson's letter is that Mr. McDonald is a maniac.") In regard to my anti-intellectualism: I suppose he means my anti-communism. If so, American intellectuals are a rare species indeed. But maybe he means that since I disagree with him I am guilty of anti-intellectualism, a synonym for anti-intellectualism. This leads to the conclusion that Mr. McDonald thinks himself an intellectual, modest chap.
I did not discredit any social scientist who disagrees with me, I simply implied that one cannot qualify as a social scientist who is unaware of the very strong case against Marxist theory. If Mr. McDonald is also a social scientist in addition to being an intellectual, then I will apologize.

Speaking of apologizing, it is only fair that I express my regret for misinterpreting the tardiness of his first letter.

I omitted extensive discussion of his first point because essentially—hold on—I agree with it. Any American who has taken the trouble to read Marx has certainly done so with a reasonably open mind. But it is impossible to be raised in America without developing some antagonism toward Marxism through parents and teachers. In fact, I share Mr. McDonald's contempt for those who violently criticize anything of which they are totally ignorant. However, I still contend that the most vehement anti-communists are those who know the most about it, which is why I listed four ex-communists as reputable sources.
The last sentence of Mr. McDonald's sixth paragraph reads: "Marxism and communism, no matter how undemocratic they may appear, are alternatives that may be considered by the 'free' citizen in this country." I would be interested in knowing the reason for the quotes around the word free. With all fairness, I think this can be paraphrased to say that Marxism-communism is not incompatible with freedom. Well, every communist leader since Lenin has admitted that his system is inherently totalitarian; I dare say Mr. McDonald stands alone in this belief. Perhaps he thinks Lenin wasn't sympathetic enough to communism.
I suggest that Mr. McDonald delve deeper into James Burnham's history if he only aware of his exclusions on the inevitability of capitalism. Burnham, by his own admission, was once a communist. Still not convinced? This fact was further confirmed by the liberal's liberal, Steve Allen, in his book "Letter to a Conservative" (p.173). Also he has not written only three books as Mr. McDonald contends, but upwards of a dozen and currently writes a bi-weekly column in "National Review".

No, I don't think that there is a "right way" and a "wrong way" to look at anything. Right and wrong have absolutely no meaning to me. Truth has meaning. The only way to arrive at truth is empirically, and by this means communism has been rendered invalid. Doubtless, after that statement my anti-intellectualism must appear to gallop rather than creep, I am certainly not more concerned with inhumanity than with ideology. Even capitalism has at times been inhuman, I oppose the absurd aims of communism even more than the outrageous means.

Mr. McDonald has repeatedly insisted that I send my arguments against communist theory to the "Flambeau". This doesn't say much for his logic. He found it necessary to quote short phrases of mine out of context in consideration of the "Flambeau's" limited space; yet, paradoxically he expects me to explain communism and Marxism, distinguish between them, and refute both in the same space in which he couldn't fit a complete sentence. Then, with all divine obtuseness, feels affronted because I fail to comply with this outrageous request. Mr. McDonald's resorting to name-calling has done little to strengthen his case. For the sake of "intellectualism" he would have us be "sympathetic" toward an ideology which is sworn to enslave us. We intellectuals resent that.

Fraternity To Colonize At FSU

Phi Gamma Delta, "Fiji," a social fraternity which stresses academic responsibility, will formally undertake colonization at FSU, according to Jeff Crew, "Fiji" spokesman.

Phi Gamma Delta was the first fraternity to have a tutorial program in which graduate students help undergraduates with their studies, Crew said.

Informal rush will be Saturday from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. in 246, Union and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Crew said.

Informal rush will be Saturday from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. in 246, Union and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Crew said. All persons interested in forming a colony are urged to attend, he continued.

Phi Gamma Delta has 91 active undergraduate chapters, the closest being the Upsilon Phi chapter at U of F and the Alpha Upsilon chapter at Auburn, Crew added.

Denver Public Schools: teachers.

... Studies

Third, a much wider selection of courses will be available from which a student will have greater freedom to choose both subject matter and level of depth according to his individual interests and abilities.

In addition, said Winters, placement-proficiency examinations will be available for all basic studies courses. Through these tests, exemption of elementary courses in favor of more advanced work in the same area of study will be possible for any student who can demonstrate the ability for higher level courses.

However, the total number of hours required in the new program will remain at 43 regardless of exemptions earned by examination, with the exception of normal transfers of credit hours in equivalent courses from other institutions or those earned in an accredited advanced placement program, said Winters.

Flexibility in course planning has been further enhanced by increases in the number of courses offered for basic studies credit, and in the number of departments participating in each of the broad areas of study, Winters continued.

The new 43-hour curriculum will be distributed as follows, according to the Faculty Senate resolution: nine semester hours in the area of communication (English, mathematics, speech, statistics, classics, modern language) including basic courses in math and English; six hours in the area of history. Also nine hours in social science (anthropology, economics, geography, government, philosophy, psychology, social science, sociology); nine hours in the area of humanities (art, classics, English, humanities, modern language, music, philosophy, religion, speech) with at least one course being in literature.

Ten hours in the area of natural science (biological science, chemistry, geology, meteorology, physics, astronomy) one course of which must be chemistry or physics (including astronomy), and one which includes scheduled laboratory work, will also be required.

Dr. E. L. Chalmers, dean of FSU's School of Arts and Sciences, has hailed the new program as one which "moves this University much closer to the 10 or 15 most eminent academic institutions in the nation", . . . which preserves the requirement for broad exposure of all students to the multiple approaches to knowledge, . . . and yet gives each student the opportunity to develop a course of study that is both meaningful to his personal future and adaptable to his ability.

WFSU-TV Schedule

FSU's WFSU-TV Channel 11 began Sunday programming for the first time Sunday and will start a new children's show during weekday afternoons.

Edward L. Herp, University director of broadcasting services, said the children's program will be called "Miss Nancy's Store". It will be televised live Monday through Friday at 5 p.m.

"Miss Nancy" will be Mrs. Charles Benda who now teaches fifth grade social studies by television for the Leon County school system.

FSU drama student Rhet Bryson will operate puppet characters for the show. D. Keith Carlson of the WFSU-TV staff will direct the show. Herp noted that the children's show will fill the current 5 p.m. void in area television entertainment for children.

The University television station will be on the air from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. each Sunday. The schedule will include a variety of programs including films, a public affairs series and "tele-courses".

Union Business Manager Gets New Job As Assistant Director

FSU announced today the appointment of Archie Kramer as asst. director of the Union.

Kramer, formerly Union business manager, will combine the duties of that office with added responsibilities in the administration of the Union in the new position, according to Dr. Herb Reinhard, Union director.

Kramer received a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Northwestern University and has had a variety of administrative positions with commercial organizations, including one with the Straberg Co. of Miami.

He joined the Union staff in 1964 as an accountant and was named business manager a few months later.

What does it take to "spark" a man to his very best . . . to bring out the fullest expression of his ability and training? At Ford Motor Company we are convinced that an invigorating business and professional climate is one essential. A prime ingredient of this climate is the stimulation that comes from working with the top people in a field . . . such as Dr. James Mercereau.

Jim Mercereau joined our Scientific Laboratory in 1962. Recently, he headed a team of physicists who verified aspects of the Quantum Theory by creating a giant, observable quantum effect in superconductors. This outstanding achievement was the major reason the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce selected Dr. Mercereau as one of "America's Ten Outstanding Young Men of 1964." Your area of interest may be far different from Dr. Mercereau's; however, you will come in contact with outstanding men in all fields at Ford Motor Company.

We believe the coupling of top experience and talent with youth and enthusiasm is stimulating to all concerned. College graduates who join Ford Motor Company find themselves very much a part of this kind of team. If you are interested in a career that provides the stimulation of working with the best, see our representative when he visits your campus. We think you'll be impressed by the things he can tell you about working at Ford Motor Company.

Cagers Now 5-5

Seminole Holiday Trip Hostile

by BILL THOMAS
Flambeau Sports Writer

The FSU cagers didn't have as long a Christmas vacation as most people might think. Even though it was the holiday season, basketball season was still in full swing at FSU. The cagers played four games during the break, one of them at home.

That game was played Saturday, Dec. 18, against the Gauchos of the University of California at Santa Barbara, after a 115-80 setback by North Carolina.

The Tribe came from behind in the closing minutes on sharp outside shooting and two driving layups, to edge the Gauchos 62-61.

FSU took the lead in the opening minutes of the game, but lost ground on the strong inside shooting of California's Russ Banko and 6-8 Dick Hallett, each of whom finished with 20 points.

With seven minutes left, the Gauchos were ahead by seven points. FSU's Bill Peacock, who hurt his elbow early in the game, came back in and hit on four straight set shots.

Jim Lytle tied it up with two minutes left to play, and then sank a layup to put the Seminoles ahead for keeps.

California's big men controlled the backboard's through most of the game with Hallett bringing down 15.

On Dec. 20 and 21, the Tribe competed in the first annual Tampa Invitational Tournament.

FSU, host team for the inaugural event, competed with the Keydets of VMI, the Auburn Tigers and the Lions of Columbia University.

In the opening games, Auburn defeated Columbia in overtime 76-75, and the Tribe squeaked by VMI 65-64.

Ahead at one time by 13 points, the Keydets were on top throughout most of the game. With two minutes left, however, the score was tied 62-62. After sinking a free throw, Peacock tapped in a rebound for the Seminoles, who held the lead until the end.

The finals had the fans on the edges of their seats throughout the entire game. Auburn and FSU ran a neck-and-neck race with the Tigers nosing out the Tribe at the wire.

With 23 seconds left in the game, the Seminoles were ahead 58-57. FSU was called for blocking, however, and two free throws put the Tigers ahead 59-58.

With nine seconds left, the Tribe had its chance at the free throw line, but was unable to connect. The game ended with Auburn in front 59-58.

The Tribe had a second chance at Auburn Dec. 27 in Pensacola. The first half of the game was close with the Tigers leading 35-33, but they ran all over the Seminoles in the final half, winning by a score of 80-64.

The new year found FSU in Athens, Ga., facing the University of Georgia. The Bulldogs came out on top by a score of 63-57.

Both teams hit 25 field goals, but FSU, which had been hitting on 77 percent of its free throws, was only able to connect on seven of 19 against the Bulldogs, who sank 13 of 20.

The game was marked by four technical fouls, three for Georgia and one for FSU, all for protesting referees' decisions.

FSU is now 5-5 for the season. Five of the decisions have been close, and four have been by one point.

Explaining the reason for the close games, FSU Head Coach Bud Kennedy said, "I'm using a lot of sophomores, and you can't teach experience. The team is making more mistakes than usual, and we've had more turnovers than we normally do, but I still think the team is improving each game."

"Any time you can win, it's a good thing. Of course, we don't try to win by one point, but I'll take one-point wins the rest of the way if I can get them," he continued.

Another factor in the recent close decisions is the knee injury of sophomore guard Darrel Stewart. Kennedy said,

"He hurt his knee in the Tampa game," he said, "but he didn't tell anyone about it and we didn't notice it until he started to limp against North Carolina."

"He only played five minutes against North Carolina, and he didn't even suit up for the California game," said Kennedy.

Sheriffs Joyce And Crevasse Stand Behind Football Teams

The FSU-U of F football rivalry has been as intense as any in the nation, and it has affected many people outside the two Universities.

The following letters dated back to 1964 between Leon Co. Sheriff Bill Joyce and the Alachua Co. counterpart Joe Crevasse indicate the out-reaching effects of the annual gridiron clash.

Nov. 25, 1964

Honorable Joe M. Crevasse, Jr., Sheriff, Alachua County Gainesville, Florida

Dear Joe:

I realize each year it is a little harder to determine the Holiday Menu for the inmates incarcerated in the County Jail; however, this year it was quite easy to decide and I am passing my menu on to you for your consideration, which consists of the following:
Barbeque Gator, Gainesville Sauce, University Peas, Potatoes Alachua, and Never, Never Pie, a la mode. I thought this might give you an idea.

Your friend,
W.F. "Bill" Joyce, Sheriff
Leon County, Florida

P.S. If Mrs. Crevasse desires pocketbook and shoes, I have a number of skins left and will be glad to make up a set for her.

Nov. 29, 1965

Honorable W. F. Joyce
Sheriff, Leon County
Tallahassee, Florida

Dear Bill:

Following the Gator-Seminole ball game last year, you very kindly sent my wife a lovely pair of alligator shoes and a purse.

These gifts were most appreciated. Alligator merchandise is very expensive and known for its lasting and durable qualities, and our section of the State such as these are considered luxuries. I would report that they are still in excellent condition, and look as good as the day they arrived.

Now that another Gator-Seminole football game is over, I am glad to have an opportunity to reciprocate the kindness of last year. However, I am somewhat ashamed to send merchandise made from Seminoles' skins. Naturally, such merchandise looks good at the time of purchase, but my experience is that it will not hold up like that made from tough and durable alligator skins.

Therefore, with no apologies, I am sending a beautiful pair of alligator shoes to your wife, and an alligator belt to you. If you are dependent over the outcome of the game, please return the belt.

Sincerely,
J.M. Crevasse

letter of November 29th reed on December 3rd.
to know the gator shoes and purse are still appreciated. When they were sent, I felt sure you and your lovely wife would not forget them for sometime to come. You mentioned something, in your letter, about a recent football clash and I would like you to reciprocate my little thoughtfulness by sending Wanda a pair of skin shoes as well as skin belt for myself, provided after the recent scalping party, there is enough alligator hide left for these articles. Just in passing, I think your choice of skins is quite proper. I am certainly inclined to agree that they are tough, but doubt their being durable for more than a year, and you can rest assured if they are not, I am friend enough to let you know.

By the way, Joe, you will note in the first paragraph that the delivery of your letter was a little slow and it was also delivered to the County

Judge's office, which is not too accurate. So, if I may suggest, when you send the gifts, just wrap them in a package the shape of a football, address to W. F. (Casey) Joyce, hand same to Steve Spurrier and tell him I will be on the corner of Park Avenue and Monroe Street amid 20 Tallahasseeans. Advise him to toss it and I feel sure the delivery will be much faster than the mails and no one in the crowd will touch it except "Casey" Joyce.

As you must know, Joe, I am a student of Indian history and thought you would like to know at this particular time I am studying the "Crow" Tribe. If you feel that I am still despondent over the outcome of the recent football clash you mentioned in your letter, I would accept and appreciate a "War Bonnet" of "Crow" feathers, size 7 and one-half Long Oval.

Yours until next year,
Bill

P.S. There should be a new crop of Gator Hides available by 1966 which will afford me the opportunity of furnishing your wife a new pair of shoes and matching purse of the latest style.

Seminole Scorecard

The New Year

With the holidays over and the New Year here, the sports world turns from football to the winter and spring sports.

Basketball and swimming top the sports calendar throughout January and February.

The Seminole cagers have been slowed considerably after winning their first three games. Going into tomorrow night's clash with Miami, the Tribe sports a 5-5 record.

The swimmers don't open their season until Jan. 15, but Coach Bim Stults' men have been working since early last fall in hopes of completing their third straight undefeated season.

Stults has a team loaded with sophomores this year and claims he won't know until the opening meet just how good they are. Chances are, though, the swimmers will again be among the best in the South.

The spring sports of track, tennis, golf and baseball take over in March and each of these teams will be looking forward to a repeat of its out-standing performances last year.

Baseball gets a jump on the other spring activities with a special banquet Feb. 15. Details for the event are still under wraps, but several major league stars are scheduled to attend.

Among those rumored to be coming are Ted Williams and Lefty Gomez.

Proceeds from the banquet will be used for the erection of the lights at the baseball diamond.

FSU Head Baseball Coach Fred Hatfield is optimistic about the outlook for his sluggers this year, and he has good reason. The Tribe reached the NCAA national quarterfinals last year and has the entire starting lineup returning.

All things considered, it looks like a good year for Seminole sports.

Common Problem

The "best ever" cagers who drew many raves before the season started have run into a few snags, and they have not particularly enjoyed the holidays.

FSU Head Coach Bud Kennedy's men have come across the same problem that plagued the Seminole football team--how to win away from home.

The cagers have managed to win only one of five games away from the confines of Tully Gym and that one was at Tampa where the Tribe was host team in the Gasparilla Invitational Tournament.

Hurricane Warnings Tomorrow

Under the throes of a three-game losing streak, FSU's basketball team clashes with the Hurricanes of Miami, victors in three of their last four cage contests, tomorrow night at 7:45 p.m. in Tully Gym.

The Seminole freshman cagers take on Gulf Coast Junior College at 5:30 p.m. in a contest preceding the Hurricane-Tribe tussle.

Although possessing a 4-5 season mark, the 'Canes boast a pair of junior guards with impressive scoring credentials--Rick Jones with an 18.3 point-making average and Junior Gee, owning a 17.1 scoring output per game.

Besides the two stellar guards, Miami Head Coach Bruce Hale has forward Mike Wittman, a 6-6 junior, playing in the spot vacated by Hurricane All-American Rick Barry. Wittman has filled Barry's high-scoring shoes admirably, currently pacing the 'Canes with a 20.7 shooting percentage and leading the club in rebounds.

The man at the other forward slot is 6-6 sophomore Rusty Parker. Parker beat out two lettermen, junior John Bates and senior Stu Marcus, for his starting position and is second to Wittman in rebounds for the Miami club.

The Hurricanes topped Ohio 105-100 to begin a two-game skid before Louisville tripped them up, 85-84.

William Selected as Chairman of Sociology Dept.

Appointment of Dr. Lewis M. Kilian as chairman of the FSU Department of Sociology was announced by Dr. L.L. Chalmers Jr., dean of the School of Arts and Sciences.

Member of the faculty since 1951, Kilian is on leave for the year 1965-66 serving as visiting professor of sociology at University of California at Los Angeles.

Interim chairman he succeeded the late Meyer F. Nimkoff. Kilian's publications are books "Collective Behavior" (Prentice-Hall, 1956) and "An Introduction to Sociological Problems of Field Research in Disaster" (National Research Council, 1956) and "Crisis in America" with Charles M. Grigg (Prentice-Hall, 1964).

He has BA and MA degrees from University of Michigan and a Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago.

Kilian was assistant professor of sociology at the University of Oklahoma before coming to FSU. In 1950-52 he conducted contract research in disaster studies for the U.S. Army. He directed research for the amicus curiae brief in the Florida attorney general in school desegregation case.

Kilian served in the Army from 1946 and now is a Lt. colonel in the Army reserve. He was awarded Army Commendation Medal in 1946.

He is fortunate to have a man Kilian's stature who is willing to assume the added responsibilities of the chairmanship," Chalmers said.

Kilian is an internationally recognized research sociologist and outstanding teacher. We are most pleased that he has accepted this appointment," Chalmers continued.

Announces Rush Schedule

Own rush will kick off informal rush tomorrow night, Bruce Ivey, president of the Inter-Fraternity Council, announced today.

During the 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. rush and similar open houses will follow from 11 p.m. to 4 p.m. Rushes may visit any house and as long as they wish. There will be no rush groups as during informal rush in the fall.

Men may not begin pledging until 5 p.m. The last day of pledging is March 15.

Students, including those who signed up for fall rush, may sign up at any time in the IFC office at 100 Westcott Bldg.

Peace Corps To Visit Next Week

A Peace Corps team from Washington, D.C., will visit FSU next week announced a spokesman for the FSU chaplain's office.

Staff members, including returned volunteers will be on campus to explain the Peace Corps, its training and service programs and the opportunities it offers students. They will also accept applications.

An information center will be staffed by the team throughout the week-long visit, and the non-competitive Peace Corps placement exam will be each day. These tests are used to determine an applicant's strengths and qualifications; they require no preparation, the spokesman said.

Members of the team will be available as speakers at any time during the week. Arrangements can be made with the Peace Corps' liaison, Dr. Charles Welborn, University chaplain, at 599-2155.

The Peace Corps has more requests for volunteers than it can fill and the need is growing greater, the spokesman continued.

Union Program Council Features Performance By Isidor Lateiner

Isidor Lateiner, world famous violinist, will perform at FSU as a concert sponsored by the Union Program Council Music Committee Monday night at 8 p.m. in Moore Auditorium.

Admission for students is $1 and for non-students, $1.50. Tickets may be purchased at the Union Ticket Office.

Selections will include "Sonata in G minor," by Tartini; "Sonata in G major, Opus 30 No. 1" by Beethoven.

Auditions for the premiere play, "The White Widow," by Mario Fratti will be Jan. 24-25 at 7:30 p.m. in Conradi Theatre, Petre Saputo, business manager, announced today. All FSU students may try out for the cast of the play. The cast will have approximately 26 members. There will be 12 major roles, Saputo said.

Fratti is an Italian playwright who translated "The White Widow" for the FSU performance. This performance will be the first time the

by ELLEN WEISS
Asst. News Editor

The "Smoke Signals" will take on a new look when Wayne Cowart, newly-elected editor, takes office this trimester.

Cowart, formerly chairman of the Board of Publications, will be replaced as chairman by Dave Nelsen, news editor of the "Flambeau".

Cowart, a speech major, said he plans to "concentrate, to emphasize, and to explore deeply...any topic relevant to the University in greater detail and depth than can either the 'Flambeau' or the 'Tally Ho'." "The SS has been a bad-rag in the past. It has produced irresponsible and largely uninteresting copy. We plan to make it a magazine the student will be interested in and proud of," he added.

Cowart has had experience in both school publications and professionally. He began work on the "Flambeau" staff as photo editor and was later managing editor and executive editor.

He produced "Focus", an hour-long news broadcast sponsored by the "Flambeau" and WFSU-TV, and has been an announcer, producer and newsmen for WFSU-TV. Cowart has also been a newsmen-photographer for UPI.

Nelsen, who recently left the post of "Flambeau" sports editor for the news desk, has had previous experience in journalism. During the summer term he acted as news editor for the "Flambeau" also. Besides "Flambeau" work, Nelsen also fills the position of "Tally Ho" sports editor. He also is a member of the Student Entertainment Series Committee.

The Feb. 14 issue of the "Smoke Signals" will be a "people and events magazine focusing on FSU, FSU people, FSU events; a magazine willing to deal with significant controversial issues intelligently and maturely; a magazine to read, not flip through once and use for wrapping paper," Cowart explained. Elected by the Board of Publications, Feb. 13, he will be editor until December when he will graduate.

'Smoke' In Westcott

The Campus Movie Series will present the film version of Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke" tonight and tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium. Admission is $2.50.

Starring Geraldine Page, Lawrence Harvey, Rita Moreno and John McIntire, this is the story of a young man caught in a love affair, a minister's daughter and a daughter of a gambling casino owner.

Flambeau Editorials

FLAMBEAU editorials do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the student body as a whole or administration of Florida State University. Editorials reflect the editorial policy of the FLAMBEAU.

SG Integrity

In a week the FSU political coliseum will be open for business as the Student Party and University Party convene to select their champions for the coming combat. And combat it will be if preliminary skirmishes are any indication.

Apparently the campus politicos have been simmering their animosities on the back burner over the year since the highly controversial election of last spring and are now ready to turn up the heat.

From the hazy picture now developing of campus political activity, it seems that the politicians have been taking healthy shots of the boiling brew and more and more seem ready to seek and ask no quarter in the gladiatorial contest scheduled for February.

While such a bloody battle might be both educational and entertaining—like a bit of degenerate old Rome with the original cast—it would cause serious questioning of the value of campus politics.

Student Government can function efficiently and perform important tasks, making it a meaningful part of the University community respected by administration, faculty, and students, as long as it and the people who make it up remember that the job of government is to serve and lead with integrity the people it represents.

As election time approaches, too many people concerned with the FSU political scene seem more interested in establishing a dynasty, acquiring another title or nursing a wounded ego than in producing a good Student Government.

We hope that between now and campaign time the master minds of student politics will pause to remember exactly why they should be in government.

Squirrels, Pigeons 'Gunned Down'

To the Editor:

You should have been here Christmas week. Peace on Earth and Good Will Toward Men prevailed to be replaced by war on the squirrels and pigeons.

During this week, all possible squirrels and pigeons were exterminated by gun fire. The police condoned this action and apparently the administration feels such procedures are right and proper. Wednesday, buckshot rained all day on the roof of the Conrad greenhouse as a myriad of birds obediently yelled how efficiently they had managed to kill the prey. The most efficient lot rode over the campus in an FSU truck labeled "Pige" - these brave hunters excelled in riding the campus of these gross nuisances.

My reactions to such procedures are obvious or I would not be venting ire via this letter. My question was answered as to the necessity of such actions in the business office by an explanation of the amount of property these animals destroy. I thus wonder if such a course as Ecology to be offered Trimester II, discussing balanced ecosystems or every animal's place in the world is not wasted days of words when the extinction of such simple animals as squirrels and pigeons is apparently encouraged by the administration of this institution.

Is this sort of wholesale extermination via shaguns on the campus of Florida State University really necessary? Incidentally, the injured animals are lying on the lawn of Copeland Building, in front of Devine Hall, near the Union tonight.

Soldiers Say Thank You For Christmas Candy

Students of FSU: I am my platoon received about 300 of Christmas gifts sent by the students of FSU. No less was given other than the rest. I am sure that you will be sure that this letter reaches the people concerned. I am the Platoon Sergeant of the 3rd Platoon, 125th Air Traffic Company, U.S. Army. My platoon consists of five different sites in central Vietnam and 75 good men. I am writing to express my gratitude for myself and my platoon for the wonderful gesture received from FSU today.

My home is 833 Imperial Drive in Largo, Fla. I have always had a great deal of pride in my home state and this certainly justifies it.

Some packages received were addressed to individuals and I assure that all such packages received by this platoon will reach the individual.

I have been in the service for 14 years. I have served in Korea in '52, Germany in '55-'58 and Vietnam since August of '65. This is the first time I have ever seen or heard tell of anything of this nature.

Morale is a constant problem in an overseas area and a gesture such as this is of more value than you will ever know.

Thanks to all of you from 75 good Americans. Your time, effort and expense is appreciated.

Sgt. Carroll Gibson P.S. Would be glad to hear from any and all of you.

thinking of us at such a time. Once again we send you our 'thanks'.

135th ATC

Dear Ladys and Gentlemen,

I'd like to send my deepest thanks to all of you who cared enough to send us gifts at Christmas. My name is Sp. 5 Richard J. Reed and I received two of your gifts. One was from Don and one from C. Hawkins.

I sure am glad to know we have such patriots left in our schools. For a while we felt maybe the US had forgotten us, with the demonstrating and all. But I see now it is only a few who don't really care about the piece of our country and the preservation of all Freedom. I don't regret the army at all. It is a great honor to know I am helping preserve Freedom and protect my home land.

I feel I say for all of us over here when I say you people who supported us this Christmas have also helped you share. You have lifted the moral of every GI in Vietnam, and the world with your generosity. I thank you all.

If anyone would like to write me I'd be glad to hear from you all. I'll close now. Thank you again for your support, a GI who appreciates.

Sp 5 Richard Reed

To the Students of FSU:

I want to send my personal 'thanks' to each and every one of you for the delicious candy we received.

The box I got myself was from Rosemary Kosakowski (Thanks Rose). Each man in our 36 man detachment got a box. Some of them will probably send a thank you note. In any case, I'd like to thank all of you for your 'morale booster'.

Sgt. Sammy Price

To Whom It May Concern:

Along with a lot of other GI's I want to thank each and every individual responsible for the needed and useful gifts we received from the Florida State University.

Those gifts boosted the morale of the men 100 percent and we wish to thank you very much.

I am sure that when the time comes for the men to support the college of our choice, there will be no question as to what college it will be.

And now I personally want to thank you and wish everyone a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Jimmy R. Wolfe

To Everyone of the University of Florida State:

I want to thank you for my Christmas present I received from the students of your University. It was very nice of them to think of us. I do not know how to thank you for it.

I hope you all had a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Sp 4 Samuel Adams

Students Invited To Fund Drive

FSU students are invited to the semi-formal Governor's Scholarship Foundation Ball, Jan. 17, in Tully Gym for $10 per couple, half the standard contribution. It was announced today.

Entertainment will be provided from 8:30 p.m. to midnight by Guy Lombardo's Orchestra, songstress Connie Haines and "The Four Saints".

Tickets are available at the Office of Financial Aid in Longmire Bldg. The money raised by this and other similar balls given around the State will be used for scholarships for needy students to the various schools in Florida, said a spokesman for the Governor's office.

British Musical In Thomasville

The British musical, "Stop the World I Want to Get Off," will move into the Thomasville Municipal Auditorium tomorrow night. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Reserved seats priced at $5 may be obtained in three ways. Ticket buyers may purchase tickets at the box office at CoCroft Music Co., Thomasville, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. this week. They may call Thomasville 226-7494 or send a check to the Thomasville Entertainment Foundation at P.O. Box 162.

Column Stuff Due

The Greek Column material for this trimester is due every Wednesday at 5 p.m. in the "Flambeau" office. It must be typed and double-spaced. The first Greek Column will be published a week from today.

FSU Junior Miss Rides In Parade

Susan McCall, an FSU freshman and Florida's Junior Miss, joined America's Junior Miss, Patricia Gauder, for the Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena, Calif., New Year's Day.

Miss McCall and four other title holders were attendants on the float entered by the Eastman Kodak Co. The mammoth float was decorated with the largest variety of flowers and plants ever used in the parade, said a spokesman for the company.

With its theme "Youth--Flower of the World", the float was acclaimed as one of the unique in the parade's history, he continued.

Miss Tally Ho 1966 Contest Planned

Miss Tally Ho 1966 and her court will be chosen in a contest next week, according to Barbara Paterson, beauty editor of the "Tally Ho."

The first part of the contest will consist of five-minute interviews for each of the candidates by a panel of six judges who are members of the Tallahassee Junior Chamber of Commerce. Scott Treadway of the C of C will be the chairman of the panel.

Interviews will be based upon beauty, poise, personality and activities, and will take place in room 246 of the Union. Candidates will wear suits and heels.

Approximately three-fourths of the contestants will be eliminated during the interviews, according to Miss Paterson.

Semi-finals will be Thursday, 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the Auditorium. The candidates wear semi-formals or cocktail dresses and will be judged primarily on beauty and grace.

Miss Tally Ho and her court will be announced at a dance next day in the FSU Rooms, from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Seminoles Host 'Canes Tonight

by JUDY HUGHES
Flambeau Sports Writer

The Seminole will attempt to halt a three-game skid break when they return home tonight at 7:45 p.m. to face the whirling Miami Hurricanes in Tully Gym.

The 'Canes, fresh from dumping highly regarded University of Utah Monday night, bring a 4-5 chart into the contest against the faltering Seminole.

The Tribe, with its season slate evened at 5-5, will be playing on the home court in Tully Gym for the first time since the Christmas break.

Gary Schull's 16-point average paces the Seminole scorers with Jim Lytle (13.0) and Bill Peacock (10.0) behind him.

Mike Wittman, with a 20.7 shooting percentage, paces Miami.

Wittman also tops the Hurricanes in board play, hauling down 85 rebounds in nine games. His closest competition is Rudy Parker with 81 and Stu Marcus with 67.

Schull also is the Tribe rebound leader with 84.

The Canes had a slow season start, winning only the first of their initial five clashes. After outclassing Tampa 120-91, Miami dropped its second game to the U of F 76-66 before taking a trip out West. The Hurricanes lost out to Santa Clara 78-74, and San Francisco 105-89 on the Coast, and then fell victim to Nevada 89-79.

The pace picked up for the Miami during the yuletide season when they participated in the Hurricane Classic. The U of M took Ohio University 105-100 before the holiday tourney, and then stretched the ledger to two in a row by knocking off Boston University in the first round 81-60. The victory was marred by a squeaker won by Louisville 85-84 in the finals, but the Canes bounced back by defeating strong Utah University 88-67.

While the Hurricanes have won three of their last four, the Seminole have been traveling in the opposite direction. The Tribe captured its first three games and then started a downhill slide, managing only to snag two of its last five clashes.

The Miamians bring a height disadvantage into the rivalry, but the smaller Hurricanes will carry a potent 87.3 scoring clip as opposed to their opponents' 85.6. The Seminole will bring 71.1 point-scoring average into the fracas.

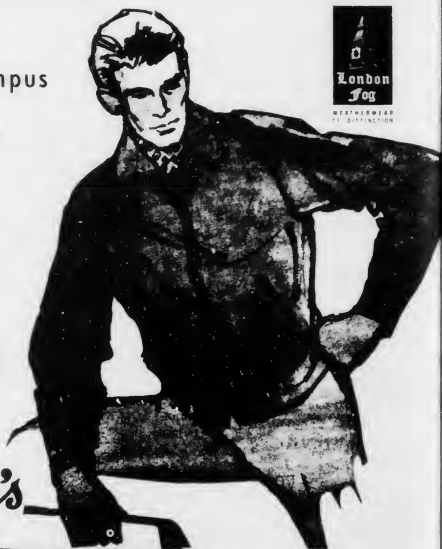

Miami Coach Bruce Hale plans to start sharp-shooting guards Rick Jones and Junior Parker and Wittman at the slots, with a platooning of Marcus, John Bates, and freshman in the pivot position.

The Hurricane-Tribe clash will be preceded by the Seminole men-Gulf Coast Junior C match at 5:30 p.m.

ATTEMPTING A BLOCK

... and trying to pull off another rebound is forward Gary Schull. Schull is leading the team in rebounds with 84 and owns a 16.0 scoring average to top the scoring department for the Seminole.

Fritz Decides For SG Top Spot

seems to be on his declaration of candidacy of office of student body president, Fritz (Student Party candidate) University formally challenged University candidate Larry Gont for the SG top spot in the elections.

Fritz announced that he will seek student body presidency at its election Wednesday night.

Fritz, backed by influential leaders, Fritz emerged as leading contender for the party nomination.

Fritz stated, "I thought I would like to see many students from all over campus life. Their enthusiasm and support encouraged me to run for the nomination." Fritz stated, "I believe the purpose of Student Government is to provide the marketplace between those who are required to be students and the additional things which enrich and round out the life," he added.

Fritz has been in the Student Senate given me an insight into the unrealized potential of the office of student body president," he continued.

Fritz said, "I wish to restore the dignity to which petty politics have seemed to overshadow," he said. "I intend to make this a campaign of issues and the expansion of the role of Student Government into all facets of University life," said Fritz.

Fritz has been active in student government since his sophomore year, when he was elected to the Student Senate from his precinct. He was re-elected to the senate last fall. He has been chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, a two-year member of the Organizations and Finance Committee and vice chairman of that committee, and chairman of a special committee to study the establishment of a public affairs forum.

Fritz was tapped for Omicron Delta Kappa leadership honor in last fall's tapping ceremony. In addition, he has been honored with Gold Key membership and was subsequently selected chairman of the Gold Key Speaker's Bureau.

He is a member of Alpha Council leadership honorary and has earned a 2.8 overall average.

Fritz has also been vice president, secretary, and assistant treasurer of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

In addition, Fritz has played an active part in the re-organization of the Student Party, serving as a member of the executive council and chairman of the Organization and

RICK FRITZ

Membership Committee. He was also the program chairman of the Student Party Election Clinic.

In senate, Fritz has introduced a bill to prevent the holding of more than one major office at the same time by a single student, a bill to revise the Honor Code and a bill to provide for non-political selection of the commissioner of elections. Other bills introduced by Fritz include legislation to initiate a public affairs program and to reactivate the Curriculum Evaluation Council. Also, Fritz supported the legislation to reappoint Student Senate and legislation to limit the tenure of office of the student body president to one year.

He also endorsed and supported unrestricted graduate student participation in Student Government.

President Champion Proclaims University 'Peace Corps Week'

President John Champion today proclaimed this week as Peace Corps Week at FSU.

A team consisting of Peace Corps staff members and returned volunteers will be here for a week-long visit.

Included in this group are Lynda Sanderson, who worked with community development in Guatemala; John Hoffman, who worked with the HAV program in Colombia; Craig Eitner, who taught school in Tanzania; and James Gibson, assistant director of the Division of Recruiting.

An information table is set up outside the University Bookstore and staffed by members of the Peace Corps team. Students may pick up application forms and sign up to take the placement test.

The test is non-competitive and no preparation is required before taking it, said Gibson. During the week, the test will be given in the Union at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. in room 246 Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Saturday, Monday, Jan. 17 and Tuesday, Jan. 18, the test will be in room 252, Union.

Students must bring the completed application forms with them to the test which should take about one and one-half hours.

Members of this team will be guest speakers at several of the tests in upper-classmen dorms this week. They will also be available as speakers for classes throughout the week.

Thursday afternoon a special program is planned. A film, "A Choice I Made", will be shown in Moore Auditorium at 4 p.m.

Stearns Reports Delegate Errors

Gene Stearns, chairman of Student Government, today announced that several delegates in the SP delegate list had last week for the SP convention Wednesday night were erroneously included.

According to Stearns, names for the delegates submitted by party representatives in the different living buildings, "Student Party apologizes to individuals for the error, as we do not know the names of the delegates who were included," he said.

Three names according to Stearns are Bob Stanley, Tom Cook and Larry Lapeviers.

ist Schedules Concert Tonight

When the program Council Music will present a violin concert in Moore Auditorium tonight at 8 p.m. Admission is $1 for students and $2 for non-students. Tickets may be purchased at the Union Ticket Stand for the door.

Programs will include "Sonata in G major," by Beethoven, "Violin Concerto," by Schubert, "Violin Solo," by Bartok, "Violin Solo," by Debussy and an "Introduction to Rondo Capriccioso."

Philip J. Fleming, executive vice president of the FSU Foundation and director of University development, said today that Gail, one of the trustees of the Alfred I. du Pont estate and president of the John Paper Co., has given the foundation 300 shares of common stock in the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Co.

Fleming said FSU Foundation President John G. McKay of Miami and foundation trustees are delighted with Ball's contribution, proceeds of which will be used exclusively for the purchase of law books. A successful lawbook salesman early in his business career, Ball said several directors of the foundation had told him of their desire to establish a law library for the benefit of FSU students and of the entire Florida Bar.

"We wish to start the University's new College of Law off with a good library, one which we hope will become one of the outstanding legal libraries in the country," Ball said. FSU President John Hanes today praised Ball for his contribution. "We are pleased that he is impressed with the worthiness of our cause," Hanes said. "He is indeed grateful for his providing the necessary funds for the start of our law library, which will benefit students for years to come." The 1965 Florida Legislature established a College of Law at FSU which will open for freshmen classes in September. Mason Ladd, dean of the University of Iowa Law College for the past 26 years, was appointed as dean of the new college last month. Ladd said, "Ball's generosity will make it possible for us to acquire a sound basic library of some 10,000 volumes which will be available to our first students in September. This excellent beginning will more

Hanes Selected Elections Boss

Ted Hanes, undersecretary for married students' welfare, was appointed late Friday by Jim Groot, student body president, to fill the position of commissioner of elections.

The post was vacated by Tom Farrar when he graduated in December.

Hanes said he will be primarily concerned with the upcoming Student Government elections. He added that he will make no major adjustments in either the commission's staff or organization, as Farrar left both his good friends.

FFC Movie Tomorrow

SP P Start Campaign With Keilum 'Hagge'

by KATHY URBAN
Asst. News Editor

During an evening of intense competition which slowly but surely developed into a "haggle" between campus political factions, Student Party and University Party officials sought to outdo each other in a series of speeches designed to persuade Keilum residents and guests that our party is best.

Party bigwigs from both sides attended the little-publicized election which was conducted in the lounge of Keilum Hall Thursday night.

The first speaker of the evening was University Party's favorite son, Student Body President Jim Groot, who ran a successful dark horse campaign during elections last spring.

Groot maintained that several of the high points of his administration were direct results of party effort—the recognition of men's dorms as organizations and the initiation of campus rules for student convenience.

"This is your Student Government," Groot told his audience. "We're your officers and we will be so as long as we can serve you." According to Groot, success lies in the primary goal of the University Party, and the key to its services lies in finances.

Next on the list of "defenders of the faith" came Student Party leader, Gene Stearns, who advocated that "people make the party" as testified by the SP method of convention delegate selection—a solicitation of students who are willing to participate, assured by various Student Party chairmen responsible for confirming the delegates' willingness to attend the annual rally.

"No smoke-filled rooms for SP," said Stearns.

Further, Stearns claimed that under Student Party direction, FSU's Student Government became the most respected in the South.

General goals of SP are to serve FSU first, to get elected second, to continue Stearns.

New Sec. of State Mel Smith contended that the difference between the two parties is "one tries harder, one gets elected". Smith said that UP built the image of FSU and has maintained it—to the credit of the party.

"UP is inclusive, not exclusive," Smith said, supporting his contention.

News Analysis

that UP's strength is in its diversity of members. "We must educate people to be aware of SG; it's not Mickey Mouse," he concluded.

When Keilum host Bruce Blackwell, president of the dorm government, opened the floor for question and answer period, both candidates for the presidential nomination, Larry Gonzalez (UP) and Rick Fritz (SP), were asked to recount the reasons they wish to run for office.

Fritz stated that his reasons for running go back to the question of "why join Student Government?" He said that he decided he must do something else than "just exist." Since he became a part of SG, Fritz said he made his goal "to make SG a part of the University, a complementary learning process to educational classes."

The evening's polite, political jabs boiled down to one main difference between the parties: the method of student participation, with the same general goal shared by both parties i.e., to serve.

'Prof-ile'

While many university professors are reluctant to hear what their students think of them, instructors at the California State College in Los Angeles are willing to pay for the information.

The results of a student-faculty conducted faculty evaluation poll are printed in a student publication called "Prof-ile" which is sold in the college bookstore for $3.30. Such devotion to excellence is admirable and should be an inspiration to instructors at this institution.

Unlike the faculty members at California State College who said that no professor should fear student opinion, after the FSU teacher evaluation of last spring this University's instructors seemed ready to pay to have the results kept secret.

Student Government will very shortly begin work on the second effort at faculty evaluation by students. This time students will not be placated by thin excuses and slow up tactics that characterized the last evaluation.

Instructors outside, and some inside, this University have admitted the value of such evaluations and the use of published results--without naming individual instructors if need be.

We hope, and expect, that faculty and administrators concerned with the evaluation will follow the example of the California faculty and this time cooperate fully with the student evaluating committee.

Such great expectations should not go unrealized at a great institution of higher learning.

'Aborted' Requirements Questionable

To the Editor:

The recent action by the Faculty Senate in changing Basic Studies requirements causes me to wonder if the best interests of the students were considered.

Through action taken by the Faculty Senate, Area VI, Personality Development, has been deleted from Basic Studies. I would like to know why Faculty Senate no longer considers the psychological and sociological adjustment and development of an individual of great importance?

Through talking with faculty members who were present when this 'abortion' occurred I understand that a faculty member presented valid reasons as to why this area should be retained. I further understand that there was no discussion of the relative merits of the debate, no tabling until a later investigation could be conducted that those most affected--the students--were not asked to be heard on this subject.

I think that this action on the part of the Faculty Senate, in view of the information that I presented, is a "lack of communication" on the part of the faculty and student.

There is supposed to be a Senate-Faculty Relations Committee, composed of both faculty and faculty members. Ideally, this committee could serve as a bridge between faculty members and the student body by allowing each to hear the point of view of the other. It would appear that the telephone service is poor, the staff of the student body is poor, the staff of the telephone service is poor, the staff of the telephone service is poor.

The entire purpose of a (lack of) communication was growth, adjustment and personal development. Memorization with regurgitation is the appropriate time. The field of Personality Development in Basic Studies is of serious importance and may result in "what" encyclopedias who have not read these basic personal problems prevent true maturity from ever reaching."

Spoonful Of Cheers To Jenne

To the Editor:

While hesitant to add another coffee spoonful to the already appalling measure of verbiage concerning the campus' intellectual state, I feel the silence on the part of the unconscious umbrella carriers has made the beatings of the mass cultists echo too loudly for their merits.

Therefore, to Susan Jenne (if she'll permit a pep-rally-sulled sentiment), hooray! Even those who consider themselves intellectuals in thinking the student body at-large even capable of reflection--but dammit boys--she's alive! She cares, and to someone who more than once, has been accosted with curious (but well meant) questions about why I stood staring at that dumb tree, her letter was occasion for joy.

Instead of lamely muttering something calculated not to disturb the alien but harmless placidity of my more pedestrian acquaintances, perhaps too, might have the courage to say, "Look these bare branches are silhouetted against the sunset"--maybe against the inevitable "how nice's" will come a simple "yes" from someone who hasn't got the chewing-gum-for-the-mind habit. There may be hope. Scrawled among the inanities on a coffee-house restroom wall once upon a time was: "Yossarian lives." Less apocryphal and that much more hopeful, Susan Jenne lives.

BOAC will leave you alone in Europe.

On a swinging 75-day BOAC Grand Orbit student tour you can explore the coast of Portugal, gaze at the Rif Mountains of Morocco, take an Adriatic cruise, visit the lands of Greece, absorb culture in Spain, France, Italy and England, find yourself a Scandinavian viking, lift your slein in Germany, Switzerland and Austria, play roulette in Monaco, and have plenty of time to roam around on your own. The whole package will cost you $1921.30* round trip from New York. And that includes most meals, hotels and everything else. (You can also let BOAC direct from Miami, Boston, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, or Honolulu. And join the group in London.)

To be sure you get what you pay for we hired some young tour leaders from Oxford and Cambridge and told them not to bug you.

They were all for it. They said that's the only kind of tour they'd be interested in leading anyway. So that's the kind of deal you'll get on a BOAC student tour of Europe this summer. And the Grand Orbit is only one of many tours. The price starts at $1117** for 42 days.

ROMAN IN THE GLOAMIN'

Now as the end of the first semester draws near, one fact emerges clearly: you are all going to flunk out of school. There are two things you can do about it. First, you can marry money. (I don't mean you marry the money itself; I mean you marry a person who has money. Weddings between people and currency have not been legal anywhere in the United States since the Smoot-Hawley Act. Persona's Stainless Steel Blades, on the other hand, are legal everywhere and are, indeed, used with great pleasure and satisfaction in all fifty states of the Union and Duluth. I bring up Persona Stainless Steel Blades because this column is sponsored by the makers of Persona Stainless Steel Blades, and they are inclined to get edgy if I omit to mention their product. Some of them get edgy and some get double-edgy because Persona Steel blades come both in Injector style and Double Edge style.)

But I digress. I was saying you can marry money, but, of course, you will not because you are a high-minded, clean-cut, pure-hearted, freckle-faced American kid. Therefore, to keep from flunking, you must try the second method: you must learn how to take lecture notes.

According to a recent survey, eleven out of ten American undergraduates do not know the proper way to take lecture notes. To illustrate this appalling statistic, let us suppose you are taking a course in history. Let us further suppose the lecturer is lecturing on the ruling houses of England. You listen intently. You write diligently in your notebook, making a topic outline as you have been taught. Like this:

- I. House of Plantagenet.
- II. House of Lancaster.
- III. House of York.

Then you stop. You put aside your pen. You blink back fear, for you cannot go on. Oh, yes, you know very well that the next ruling house is the House of Tudor. The trouble is you don't know the Roman numeral that comes after III.

It may, incidentally, be of some comfort to learn that you are not the only people who don't know Roman numerals. The fact is, the Romans never knew them either. Oh, I suppose they could tell you how much V or X were or like that, but when it came to read zingers like LXXI or MMC, they just flung away their styluses and went downtown to have a bath or take in a circus or maybe stab Caesar a few times.

You may wonder why Rome stuck with these ridiculous numerals when the Arabs had such a nice, simple system. Well, sir, the fact is that Emperor Vespasian tried like crazy to get the Arabs to use the numerals from Suleiman The Magnificent, but Suleiman wouldn't do business—not even when Vespasian raised his bid to 100,000 gold piasters, plus he offered to throw in the Colosseum, the Appian Way, and Technicolor.

So Rome stuck with Roman numerals—to its sorrow, as it turned out. One day in the Forum, Cicero and Pliny got to arguing about how much is CDL times MVIX. Well, sir, pretty soon everyone in town came around to join the hassle. In all the excitement, nobody remembered to look the north gate and—when before you could say ars longa—in rushed the Goths, the Visigoths, and the Green Bay Packers!

Well, sir, that's the way the empire crumbled, and I digress. Let's get back to lecture notes. Let's also say a word about Burna Shave. Why? Because Burna Shave is made by the makers of Persona Stainless Blades who, it will be recalled, are the sponsors of this column. They are also the sponsors of the ultimate in shaving luxury. First coat your kisser with Burna Shave, regular or menthol—or, if you are the devil—may-care sort, some of each. Then whisk off your stubble with an incredibly sharp, unbelievably durable Persona Blade, Injector or Double Edge—remembering first to put the blade in a razor. The result: facial facility, cutaneous cheer, epidermal elysium. Whether you shave every day, every 111 days, or every VII, you'll always find Persona and Burna Shave a winning combination.

Seminole Scorecard

By HANK SCHOMBER
Flambeau Sports Editor

The Seminole cagers put forth their "finest effort" in Tully Gym Friday night and cooled the heels of a fast charging Miami quintet.

"I hate to single any one boy out after a game like this," said Head Coach Bud Kennedy after the contest. "It was a team effort all the way."

A team effort it was, but special mention has to go to guards Jim Lyttle and Darrel Stewart. The sophomore playmakers were superb both on defense and offense.

Their Hurricane counterparts had been labeled "the best in the nation," but that myth was quickly put asunder by the ball-hawking defense and sure-handed ball control of Lyttle and Stewart.

The Seminoles, who have taken their lumps on the road, seem ready to make amends during the current home stand.

A little confidence gained during these next three games could go a long way to rounding the Tribe into the "dream team" Kennedy talked about before the season opened.

Junior forward Ron Malmen dressed out for the first time this season Friday, and Kennedy reports that he should be ready to play by Jan. 18 (the U of F game). "He's a real competitor" said the Tribe coach referring to Malmen. "and I couldn't keep him down. He wanted to dress for this home stand even if he didn't get to play."

Malmen's appearance plus more than 5,000 fans packed in and around Tully Gym played a significant part in morale for the Seminole's.

"They seem to be playing 100 percent harder" said one follower.

Tribe Tankers Wrestle Gators; Swim Season Opens Saturday

The Seminole swimming team will open its season in infested waters when it takes on the Gators of the U of F Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Union Pool.

Starting off the 1966 season with an unblemished slate dating from two years back, the tankers will be splashing up against one of their fiercer competitors from the first gun of the new season.

The rival Gators will come into the initial meet as defending South-eastern Conference champions and are favored to be SEC swimming kings again this year.

Tanker Head Coach Ben Suits said he is counting heavily on a group of sophomores up from last year's undefeated freshman squad. The 19 second-year swimmers were all a part of what Suits described as "the best freshman team ever at FSU."

"You can't tell about sophomores though," Suits warned. "They're inconsistent. One day they might give you a top-notch performance, and the next time they might loo bad," he added.

In addition to the sophomores, Suits has on his returning list freestyler Dick Abbott, diver Bob Cruickshank, breastroker Mike Koch, and butterflyer Mike Bloun, among others.

The Seminole tankers were unveiled at the Garnet and Gold intrasquad meet Dec. 4 when the Garnet beat the Gold 125-52 behind Bloun and Seelye Feldmeyer.

The varsity meet will be preceded by the FSU freshman-Gator freshman contest.

Seminole Crush Hurricanes, 78-62; Challenge Loyola Of South Tonight

by JUDY HUGHES

Flambeau Sports Writer

FSU gave the weather bureau a lesson in hurricane-taming as it resisted the storm warnings to down the 'Canes of the University of Miami 78-62 Friday night in Tully Gym.

Gary Schull's 17 points paced the Seminoles, whose defensive play sliced Miami's 87 point game average by 25 points in the winning effort.

The Hurricanes' stellar guards, Junior Gee and Rick Jones, were stopped on six and 14 points, respectively. Gee was averaging 17 points per game, Jones 18.

The Tribe started off slowly in the contest and then pulled away, leading by 21 points at one time during the game. FSU shot 56 percent from the floor and 60 percent from the charity line.

Miami's effort was stifled on the aggressive defensive play of guards Jim Lyttle and Darrel Stewart, and the rebounding of Schull.

"I'll tell you, I wouldn't trade my two little guards for Miami's two," said cager Coach Bud Kennedy after the game. "Stewart did a terrific job breaking that ball out of there," he added.

Schull hauled 15 rebounds off the boards and drew praise from Kennedy for his work.

"The difference in the game was our good tenacious defense," said Kennedy. "Schull did a good job on the boards," he added.

As a result, the Miamians shot a 28.4 percent from the floor, and missed 58 baskets.

The 'Canes were not entirely out of the contest, however, as forward Mike Wittman wound up as scoring leader on both sides for the night, bucketing 31 points.

The clash was marred by 52 personal fouls being called—24 on the Hurricanes and 28 on the Seminoles. The win gave the Tribe a 6-5 season ledger. The loss was the sixth for Miami.

The Seminoles are at home tonight to take on Loyola of South. The two teams tangled 7 p.m. in Tully Gym.

"Loyola has played real tough so far this season," said Kennedy. "This is the first time we've met them in four years," he added.

The Wolfpack currently has an edge over the Tribe. Captain Don Kallinoski tops the scoring and rebounding. He will rely heavily on the 6-6 forward who led the team in scoring last year with a 14.5 average and 268 games on the boards.

The tipoff with Loyola will be the FSU frosh-Pensacola College scrap at 5:45 p.m. The lone yearlings will be out to represent themselves for Friday night 100-84 setback at the hands of Coast Junior College.

SPORTS ON CAMPUS

There will be a meeting of intramural basketball managers Wednesday at 4 p.m.

Fraternity League managers will meet in room 214 Tully Gym. Dorm Independent League managers will convene in room 212, Tully Gym.

Any manager unable to be present is asked to send a representative. Teams sending neither a manager nor a representative to the meeting will be ineligible to participate.

There will be a meeting of interested in the Wednesday Bowling League Wednesday 7 p.m. in Crenshaw Lanes. Bowling will begin at 7 p.m.

Intramural basketball officials are anyone interested in officiating. Meet Wednesday at 4 p.m. in room 214, Tully Gym.

DUNKING TWO POINTS

in the Tribe's 78-62 victory over Miami Friday night is forward Gary Schull (4). The Seminoles tangle with Loyola of the South tonight at Tully Gym. Tipoff time is 7:45 p.m.

Third Political Party Announced

by DAVE NELSEN
Flambeau News Editor

Political controversy and high rivalry have existed for several years between parties, the Student Party

Now a new challenger has entered the arena in the form of a political party, appropriately enough named New Party.

Originally conceived as a graduate student party, it was later changed to include all students. According to party spokesmen, the idea first began to take positive shape last August.

At that time, the spokesman said, it was felt by the organizers that the graduate students needed better representation in Student Government. When word got out that a new party was forming, people in the two existing parties plus many independents expressed strong interest in and support for the idea.

According to Parris Glendening, one of the party founders, there will be many surprises when the list of delegates to the Jan. 19 NP nominating convention is released. He said there have been many defectors from the other parties.

Coming out strongly on several major issues, New Party will give the two more-established political parties a run for their money. As it stands now, NP has two possible candidates for the office of president. Both nominee possibilities have over a 3.5 grade point average which is indicative of NP ideology, said Glendening.

Mary Alice Barrett, another of the party founders, said the nominating convention will be open to anyone who wishes to contend for NP nomination. Also, anyone interested in joining or working for the party may obtain more information by contacting Miss Barrett in Gilchrist Hall (3720) or Fred McDonald at 599-2690.

"New Party is concerned with issues, not personalities," said Miss Barrett. "In the past, the other parties have only made weak promises to investigate the many areas of genuine concern to the student body," she continued.

"New Party, on the other hand, has not only formulated constructive measures for the effective realization of these desired reforms, but has also explored methods of implementing them through Student Government action," she said.

At present there are about 60 hard core members of the party, said Glendening. He expects membership to increase rapidly when students receive more information on the party.

"We especially encourage individuals with an interest in seeing a rejuvenation in Student Government politics," Glendening concluded.

Tutorial Teacher Training Tonight

Dr. Ted Corin of the FSU Reading Clinic recently released plans for the Liberal Forum tutorial program. Tutor-training for this program will begin tonight at 7 p.m. in room 409, Williams Bldg.

A second session will be given next Tuesday. Any member of the faculty, staff or student body who wishes to tutor should attend this meeting.

The main purpose of the program is the improvement of the reading and study habits of college-bound secondary school students, according to Corin. The program is designed to facilitate these students' academic success in college and to increase the capacity of their reading, he said.

Beginning next week, one-hour tutoring sessions will meet two or three times per week. The tutoring program will continue throughout the trimester.

Information on the program may be obtained by calling Jim Hunter at 599-3000 or Lew Howell at 877-1988.

Chairman First In New Series

A series of lectures on "Urbanization: Impacts on America" opens here tomorrow night with a lecture by Edward E. McClure, the chairman of FSU's new Dept. of Urban and Regional Planning.

The lecture-discussions in the American Studies Lecture Series will be in 101 Love Bldg. at 7:30 p.m. every Wednesday, said Acting Director Dr. Maurice Vance of the American Studies Program. Although especially for a senior level class in American Studies, the lectures are open to the public, he said.

McClure has bachelor of architecture and master of architecture degrees from the U of F.

He also has a master of science degree in city and regional planning from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and has taken advanced graduate work at Harvard.

His subject for Wednesday night's lecture is "Urbanism in America: A General Introduction."

Group To Study Vietnamese War

"The war in Vietnam now threatens to engulf the whole of Asia," said a member of a Vietnam study group now being formed on campus.

This war is unpopular and mis-understanding and the American public has been deliberately misinformed about the facts of the Vietnamese conflict," said a spokesman for the group.

Members of the group will be once a week beginning Thursday at 7 p.m. This week's meeting will be in room 340 Union.

Members of the group will help to prepare for each meeting, according to the spokesmen.

The group will study American, Vietnamese and neutral reports and investigate the origins and the nature of the war, the representative continued.

The American and National Liberation Front positions will be presented and analyzed at the meetings, he said.

Root Requests SEC Nominees

The Groot, student body president, has requested each dean of the colleges and schools of FSU to name student members for the curriculum evaluation Council.

As suggested by Student Senate provided for in the Student Government Statutes, the council will provide a channel for the expression of student opinions concerning University-wide academic courses of study, said Groot.

The council will consist of 12 student members, representatives from the College of Arts and Sciences, home economics, nursing, business, education and social science.

The two-voting members of the council will include the dean of colleges and the chairman of the Joint Senate Committee on Academic Affairs.

At each college, a curriculum committee will discuss, study and report to the dean of that school their views concerning the curriculum. This committee will in select one member to the council for a term of one year. Groot said, members of the curriculum committee of each college and school will be appointed by Groot from a list of candidates submitted by the dean of the college or school. The committee will have a minimum of twice yearly candidates as positions to fill.

SP Convention

Dickinson Seeking SG Vice Presidency

Dickinson announced today that she will be seeking the Student Government nomination for student body president at the SG convention tomorrow night.

The presiding officer of Student Senate, the student body vice president, is the head of the legislative branch of Student Government, said Miss Dickinson.

White Reindeer' First FFC Movie

The White Reindeer", a Finnish film will be shown tonight at 8 p.m. in the Student Union by the FSU Film Club.

Movie tickets are available at $2 each at the Westcott Ticket Office. Limited number of single adult movie tickets will be sold only on all season ticket holders' tickets.

The theme of "The White Reindeer" is taken from a folk legend which depicts a white reindeer. The film is supposedly a transposition of the dramatic moments of the life of the moon and kills the reindeer.

The stark, icy landscape of Iceland adds much to the brooding and dramatic moments of the film, say critics.

NEW PARTY

... platform committee members who met last night to discuss plans for the upcoming campaign are (back to camera) Parris Glendening, (lt. to rt.) Tony Skiff, Mary Alice Barrett, Deborah Snow, Bill Jennings and Fred McDonald.

"The effectiveness and success of a senate depends to a great extent on the degree of leadership ability, parliamentary knowledge, impartiality, tact and interest displayed by the vice president," she said.

She said that her three years of work with senate have given her an active understanding of student legislative processes and problems. "A strong Student Senate is the keystone of a strong Student Government," according to Miss Dickinson. "Because of my experience and concern, I feel I can best strengthen your senate," she said.

Miss Dickinson was a class senator for two years and was elected president pro-tem of Women's Senate as a sophomore. She was also chosen by Women's Senate to represent FSU at the 1965 National Women's Student Government Convention in Salt Lake City, Utah. During her senate term she initiated legislation for and was instrumental in passing the apartment rule poll, she said.

She also introduced and conducted the poll on the trimester system.

Miss Dickinson is presently chairman of the Student-Senate Relations Committee and president of Jennie Murphy.

Anderson Speaks

Dr. Hugh Anderson of Duke University, the first speaker in the new lecture series "New Perspectives in Religion" sponsored by the FSU Dept. of Religion, will speak in Longrine Auditorium at 8 p.m. tonight.

Professor of biblical criticism and theology at Duke University Divinity School, Anderson will speak on "Some Reflections on the Question of the Historical Jesus."

Flambeau Editorials

FLAMBEAU editorials do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the student body as a whole or administration of Florida State University. Editorials reflect the editorial policy of the FLAMBEAU.

First Step

After lying dormant for four years, the student curriculum committees have had new life breathed into them by Student Body President Jim Groot.

By this act of artificial respiration, Groot has taken the initial step in giving students a voice in scholastic policy.

These committees, drawn up by former Student Body President Carl Butler, will give students in their individual schools a chance to evaluate their class subjects and suggest improvements in course requirements.

More important though than the work that the committees themselves will do is the trend that they symbolize: to more deeply involve the student in the academic life of the University.

The next step in this movement will be to open Faculty Senate to student reporters from the "Flambeau". The proposal to do this will be made at this month's Faculty Senate meeting.

With a little bit of luck, the faculty will be as receptive to this idea in 1966 as they were to the curriculum committee idea four years ago.

Generosity

Some generous students may be putting their academic careers in jeopardy unknowingly when they loan their food plan cards to needy friends.

By doing this, no matter how worthy their motives, they are committing an Honor Court offense that could very well result in academic suspension or worse.

To some this may seem a harsh and unfair punishment, especially when the student intends no falsification, but is only doing a favor for a friend; or when the card owner may be going out of town for the weekend and wouldn't be using the card anyway.

However, according to officials of Morrison's food service, it is precisely the probability of the food plan card not being used 100 percent of the time that enables Morrison's to keep the food plan price down -- ergo the involvement of the Honor Court ruling to help maintain that low price.

By violating the ruling, students only endanger themselves -- monetarily as well as academically.

Campus Groups Must For GOP

To the Editor:

Most Americans agree with Goldwater that only the strong remain free; only the strong keep the peace. To remain strong is vital for us to keep another party system in America; not at the national level, but more importantly here in the grass roots. If the Republican party is to be an active and effective party in the future of our country it must be represented on the college campus throughout the nation.

This is a very important year for America, and the Democrats at FSU are in the position of being able to help us in our discussions about the future that will be raised. If the Republicans are ever going to put an end to the dangerous and galloping centralization of power in our country, we had better get busy right now. This trimester is the time for loyal Republicans to organize FSU Young Republicans and Republicans--your party needs it.

Jobs Wanted Deferments

Letters to Lt. General Hershey, Selective Service Director, American Council on Education (ACE) urged immediate deferment of the Korean War veterans for the deferment of college students.

During the Korean War, deferments were based on students' rank in their military service. Specific scores on the Service Exam, regardless of the field of study, said an ACE spokesman.

Guidelines decided who would be deferred and who would be deferred. Hershey said that a statement of student deferments will be in this month's issue of the ACE entitled "Selective Service."

The ACE requested the statement to put confusion on the rights and liabilities of students in connection with their draft status.

W. F. Morse, director of the Division on Federal Relations, said in a letter to Hershey last week said, "At the end of the crisis you developed criteria that provided guidance and orderly procedures within local boards to determine who to

Seminoles Skin Wolves 73-53

By JUDY HUGHES
Flambeau Sports Writer
FSU played a cat-and-mouse game with Loyola of the South for the first 10 minutes then dazzled the Wolfpack's eyes with defense and "two little guards" to thump the team from New Orleans 73-53 last night in Tully Gym.

The first half was filled with mistakes for both squads despite an 18-point performance by Seminole forward Gary Schull.

The Seminoles sparkled in the opening minutes of play with Schull scoring the initial two points on a one-handed pusher from underneath. The Wolfpack fought back from a 4-0 deficit to pull ahead 8-5 with 15:50 left in the first half.

Floor mistakes and a sterling defensive by the Tribe soon wiped out the Loyola lead. The Seminole guard duo of Darrel Stewart and Jim Lyttle combined for five steals. At one stretch in the first half the "Pack couldn't get a shot off for over two minutes.

During the period of Loyola ineffectiveness from the floor the Tribe put together eight points.

It was a good thing, however, for the Seminoles skidded in the latter part of the half on sloppy play. The Wolfpack captured three errant FSU passes in a row and turned two of them into goals, in addition to cashing in on several scoring opportunities provided by Tribe passes out of bounds.

The half ended with FSU in front 36-28.

The Seminole defense glittered in the second half of play as Loyola was limited to four free throws in the first 9:30 of the last period.

The Wolfpack finally broke the ice on a fast break by Paul Boumans with 11:30 left. Boumans grabbed a rebound in the FSU backcourt and rode it in on for the score.

A series of steals and jumpers by the wily Seminole guards pushed the Tribe to a 53-34 lead with 9:36 remaining. The Wolfpack refused to give in, however, and whittled the FSU lead to 11 points with about five minutes left.

The Tribe reserves came to the rescue, however, as center Don Biggs sank three field goals, forward Bill Glenn bucketed four points and forward Charlie Fairchild cashed in two foul shots in the closing five minutes to put away the victory.

FSU's Schull turned in the top performance of the night, winding up with 26 points to lead the FSU effort. Lyttle had 13 points and Stewart 12 for the evening.

Schull also led the way with 19 rebounds, followed by Biggs with 13. Top man for Loyola was forward Barry Gerahgy with 15 points.

BIG MAN WITH BIG POINTS

... again for the Seminoles was forward Gary Schull (4). The 6-4 senior had 26 points and 19 rebounds last night against Loyola of the South. The Tribe won handily 73-53.

Student Party Official Resigns

FLORIDA FLAMBEAU

Published Daily by Students Of Florida State University Wednesday, January 12, 1966

by KATHY URBAN
Asst. News Editor

On the eve of the Student Party convention, one of the party's highest executives has resigned in protest.

In a statement to the "Flambeau" late yesterday, Jeff Gorelick, vice chairman of the executive council of the Student Party, announced his resignation on the grounds that Student Party was more concerned with "mudslinging" than building a student-orientated political party.

When questioned about Gorelick's withdrawal, Student Party Chairman Bruce Robinson said that he was "not too surprised" and that he rather "expected it" although he declined to name reasons why. "I'm really not too upset about it, but it was a rather petty resignation," he concluded.

Gorelick's withdrawal from the party was reportedly prompted by actions of various party leaders who, according to Gorelick, ignored all his suggestions, ideas and offers to help build the party into an organization of "stewards of their constituency".

Gorelick, in his letter of resignation to Robinson, said, "In my position as vice chairman of the Student Party Executive Council, I clamored continuously in an attempt to plant some roots of positive thinking."

"My suggestions have not been accepted," he continued. "My ideas have been cast aside in favor of that old SP stand-by, mudslinging. And anyone keeping up on the preconvention propaganda cannot help but be aware of the dominant theme of the Student Party candidates. . . anti-Groottism. . ."

Further volunteering himself as a victim of campus controversy, Gorelick said that he worked earnestly last trimester in the belief that the Student Party was ready to abandon its negative thinking.

He said that he was "naïve enough to believe that they (SP members) had learned their lessons of the year previous. . . but that has not proven to be the case. . ."

Finally touching on a matter of late interest, Gorelick revealed that Student Party was not the "knight in shining armor" when it came to the mistakes on the delegate list to the SP convention. "There were more mistakes than were publicized," he said.

Gorelick concluded his letter by writing, "I can no longer associate my name with these goings on."

"YOU DON'T GET MUCH SLEEP, BUT

there are a few fringe benefits and a lot of personal satisfaction in the Peace Corps," says Peace Corps worker Lynda Sanderford. The team of workers will be on campus this week to accept applications and answer questions. They are located at the Union near the Post Office.

Smith Moves Positions ; Cabinet Gets New Faces

After graduation and internship, President Jim Groot's cabinet has undergone several major changes.

Miss Richardson has been appointed to the position of sec. of communications succeeding George Freelandier, who graduated last trimester. Smith was appointed to the position of sec. of state to fill a vacancy left by Randy Plott who is leaving this trimester. Prior to his appointment Smith served on the cabinet as sec. of intercollegiate and public affairs.

Freelandier, new to the cabinet, was appointed to fill Smith's position as sec. of intercollegiate and public affairs. His appointment, announced this week, was that of Ted Groot as commissioner of elections. The position was vacated when the previous commissioner Tom Farrar graduated last trimester.

Sound Becomes Lost

Freelandier Library has begun changing the book classification from the decimal system to the Library of Congress system, according to library officials.

The Library of Congress system, which classifies books from A (for bibliography) to Z (for bibliography), is more flexible than the decimal system and there is a trend among the Library of Congress system. The Library of Congress system, Director of Libraries Orwin Rush said.

All of the appointments must be approved by the Student Senate Elections and Appointments Committee. Miss Richardson resigned her post as sophomore class senator to accept the job of sec. of communications. According to Groot, Miss Richardson has an outstanding record in Student Government affairs. During her term in Senate she was chairman of the Labor, Student Services and Education Committee as well as president pro tempore of Women's Senate. A past member of Freshman Funkies, she is now in Sophomore Council and Alpha Lambda Delta.

Among Miss Richardson's duties as sec. of communications is a new Student Government project to adopt a squadron of US soldiers in Vietnam. It will help boost their morale, she said.

The in-Cabinet change with Smith was, according to Groot, to insure that work in the sec. of state position would carry on as smoothly as possible. Smith already "knows the ropes," said Groot.

As chief public relations man of Student Government, Smith will be in charge of many SG programs. Freelandier, in his new post, will be in charge of junior college affairs and Family Weekend.

Groot said he chose Freelandier to fill the position because of his adeptness at public speaking. He has won first place in American Legion and Exchange Club debate contests.

Candidates Publish Intentions For SP Convention Nominations

Maureen McClellan, junior class senator, today declared her intention to seek the Student Party nomination for women's vice president at the Student Party convention tonight.

Miss McClellan said she feels the office of women's vice president entails coordinating "all women's activities and organizations on campus as well as advising the presiding officer of Women's Senate. Miss McClellan was secretary of her freshman class and a member of the Assoc. of Women Students executive council. She has also been secretary of the Judicial and Rules Committee of Senate, and a member of Women's Judiciary.

"I believe that it is necessary to have qualified leaders in order to build a strong Student Government. But strong leadership implies a readiness for cooperation and a desire to provide every student the opportunity to participate and express his ideas," she said.

Without this full participation, Student Government cannot be productive," she continued.

Miss McClellan has been a junior counselor and vice president of Gilchrist Hall. She is also a member of Sophomore Council, Angel Flight and Garnet Key. She is vice president of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Bruce Murray

Bruce Murray today announced his candidacy for the Student Party nomination for men's vice president. Discussing Student Government Murray said, "Student Government must provide an environment and climate for learning conducive to the maximum opportunity for the intellectual, physical and spiritual growth of each student under the most pleasant conditions possible."

He said he recognizes that this environment "requires organization through leadership and service as well as intelligence and patience." Murray has worked on the dean of men's staff, as a member of the Food Services Committee and with Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

In dorm activities, he is a member of the Inter-Dormitory Council, former chairman of the Penthouse Phantoms and a member of the committee established to improve men's posture.

He also played freshman baseball.

Flambeau Editorials

FLAMBEAU editorials do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the student body as a whole or administration of Florida State University. Editorials reflect the editorial policy of the FLAMBEAU.

Rights Again

We have written about a student bill of rights before, and we are writing about it again.

The lack of such a document has other bad effects, more insidious than those treated earlier.

The students living at the University are repeatedly told that they must subordinate their personalities to the welfare of the group because of the problems imposed upon those living in "group situations" (right here it might be noted that many of these problems wouldn't exist if the University did not force most of the undergraduate women to live in dormitories).

The University, acting "in loco parentis", delegates the responsibility of making rules of conduct governing these situations to various administrative and student officials.

The students involved, particularly the Women's Senate and the House Councils, respond to this challenge with great zest, making rules left and right as though it was their goal to have a rule for everything.

It is thus that "consideration" and "courtesy" come to mean enforced conformity.

Where adherence is not compelled by the existence of a formal rule it is effected through "counseling".

Under these conditions, the results of this emphasis on "group living" (irrespective of its cause) are manifold.

Most important, however, is the fact that many students, deluged with such phrases, are deluded into forgetting the principle these rules claim to be based upon: the rights of others.

Ask any freshman girl about this.

She will undoubtedly tell you that such rules are only right and proper, and probably, if given the opportunity, would even add to the list of those in existence.

In short, these people have never learned the meaning of the concept "minority rights". They do not realize that this concept obligates them to be tolerant of those who would rather live differently.

Instead, they are led to believe that the only rights people have are rights to be like them.

This way of thinking, and the rules resulting from it, are not at all in keeping with the American tradition of law.

The thinking is unfortunate, the rules morally invalid. It only remains for the students to make these rules legally invalid as well—to pass a clear and binding student bill of rights.

FSU Vietnam Study Group

Elite Minority Governs South Vietnam

The purpose of this column, the first in a series prepared by the students of the FSU Vietnam Study Group, is to provide students and faculty with an open forum for discussion of the Vietnam war, its roots and origins and for an analysis of American society as it appears to many people who live in the third world (the underdeveloped nations of Asia, Africa, and Latin America).

We will attempt to provide references for all our statements about the war. We feel that this series of articles will deal with facts rather than opinions, pertaining to all facets of the Vietnam war. The present article will attempt to answer a few of the many basic questions concerning the war, while the next two columns will deal directly with a brief history of Vietnam under French, Japanese and American rule.

QUESTION: Our government has many times stated that this war is and must be primarily a Vietnamese affair. The US can assist and give limited help, but it must be won by the Vietnamese themselves. How has this turned out in practice?

ANSWER: "The central force in Vietnam today is the American force with its planes, artillery and big battalions." (Joseph Kraft, New York Post 8/25/65).

QUESTION: Our government in "White Paper" claims that the Viet Cong are armed and supplied by North Vietnam and China, while the rebels claim that most of their weapons are captured from the South troops who desert in tremendous numbers. They claim aid from North is minimal, especially compared with what the US gives Saigon. Which side is right?

ANSWER: According to recent figures "We captured on the past three years, if only 179 Communist made weapons turned up. White Paper number) in 18 percent that is less than two and one-half percent of the total. (I.F. Saigon Times, 3/17/65).

QUESTION: Our government claims to be protecting "democracy" in South Vietnam. Communist take over. The rebels claim that South Vietnam is democratic and that a small group represents the rights of the vast majority of the people. masses of people have, therefore, revolted in order to overthrow the dictatorial system. Who is the truth?

ANSWER: "The governing is generally urban-based, French educated with an aristocratic tradition based on either family or ground, money or land ownership. This elite minority attempts to govern the masses although a little about them is concerned. (Beverly Dubs, New York Times, 6/3/65).

New Party Shows Promise

To the Editor:

Student Government is the only effective vehicle for the realization of progress in the fulfillment of student body needs. Both of the older parties have repeatedly promised needed and long desired improvements in Student Government, as well as pledged consideration of student complaints in other areas, yet neither party has done very much more than promise to investigate these recognized problems, inequalities and criticisms.

They have offered no constructive solutions to any of the critical and fundamental problems affecting student life at the University, they have only promised to investigate these areas. What profitable work that has been done by Student Government leaders has been largely for the benefit of Student Government and not for the student body. Although Student Government needs improvement (the student body has made its desires and complaints known in various ways) however, the other older parties have neglected to lend their ear and give their attention to these non-governmental concerns.

What is needed is not the recognition that there are many things amiss. What is needed are constructive proposals and effective means of implementation. What is needed is action coupled with imagination. Neither party in the past has shown much of either, as neither party seems to have actually grasped the full significance of the potentials of government by student representatives in a modern university system. There has been far too much attention paid to trivial issues, to political

announced that there will be a fourth mass at 12:30 a.m. every Sunday beginning this Sunday.

Dr. Herman Kurz, 79, a botanist for 34 years at FSU until his retirement in 1966, died at Chamblee, Ga., recently.

Kurz was widely known among scientists for his field work in plant life of the sand dunes and marshes of Florida, and also Florida trees.
Even though he became known as one of the foremost authorities on Florida plant life, he did not attend high school until he was 26. At that age he was working as a barber in Chicago when he decided to resume an interrupted high school education in his native Iowa.

He finally received his PhD degree from the University of Chicago in 1922 and immediately came to FSU to teach.

The latest of his books is one on North Florida trees, of which he was joint author. This book, "Trees of North Florida," (with Robert K.
Godfrey), was published in 1962.

Another of his books, published in 1957, related a study of marsh plants along the Gulf Coast and the presence of various species to certain sea levels so that encroachment of the sea could be measured by the decayed deposits from various species.

Following his retirement, Kurz
continued to live in Tallahassee until June, when he went to Chamblee.

Just before his retirement from the FSU faculty in the spring of 1966, Kurz related how he had changed careers in his 20's.

When he left a farm near Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in 1906, he expected to make a career of cutting hair.

Kurz said. He wound up a few years later in a barber shop on the west side of Chicago.

After a year there, "I got so that I detested barbering and decided I would like to go into medicine," he explained.

"To go into medicine, he needed a high school education which he had missed on the Iowa farm. In February, 1913, Kurz enrolled in a YMCA high school course in Chicago. While enrolled, he said, his interest changed from medicine to chemistry.

"I wasn't too sharp at mathematics, you see, and the farther along I got in chemistry the more math I needed.

I got to wondering whether I would ever get a doctor's degree--and that is what I wanted--in chemistry," he said.

"Then I asked myself, 'Son, what were you always interested in even back on that farm in Iowa? There wasn't any question about it--I liked flowers and plants and trees--and now used every spare moment I had to get out and look for them in the fields and woods.'

"I never had even seen a book on botany and I went to the library and borrowed one. During the Christmas vacation of my senior year I went to Dr. J. M. Coulter, head of the botany dept., and found that by taking all botany for the next three quarters I could finish with a degree in botany at the end of the summer," Kurz continued.

"It was my field all right, even though I was 33 years old before I found it and even though I hadn't up to that time had a bit of biology or zoology, much less botany. It was an odd situation studying courses in elementary and advanced botany all at the same time but I got several A's," he said.

Among the contributions he has made to knowledge about plants of North Florida are several reports on cypress, including one which would indicate that a giant cypress near Longwood, Fla., is a rival near Longwood of the California redwoods.

Although growth rings of cypress sometimes lie, he said, this big tree would appear to be between 2,200 and 3,500 years old.

Another of his discoveries was of a "lost battalion" of the rare Torreyana tree which grows naturally only along the banks of the Apalachicola River.

...New Party

can pettiness, to party in-fighting and to personal power struggles.

To put this thought in another way, student parties of the past have only devised about half of their energies to the serious business of Student Government, devoting the remaining half to trivial and petty politics.

The emergence of a third party, as evidenced by Tuesday's "Flambeau", demonstrates that my views are not those of one individual or of just a minority.

The New Party, as it calls itself, seems to have actually grasped the importance of Student Government, that it is designed to be representative of the needs and views of the entire student body, not just certain selected portions of it. I lend my support to this new effort to bring maturity and integrity to Student Government. The whole concept of the New Party is that of reflection and serious research into the many and varied problems that plague Student Government and the student body at FSU.

Seminole Scorecard

By HANK SCHOMBER
Flambeau Sports Editor
Swimming Judgement Early

The day of reckoning for the Seminole swimming team is quickly approaching, and for Coach Bim Stults it is probably all too close.

The Tribe tankers, undefeated during their last two seasons of dual meet competition, open this year's campaign Saturday in the Union pool and the opposition will be the U of F Gators.

The untested Seminoles will have to swim for their lives against the perennially tough Reptiles from Gainesville.

Last year FSU drowned the Gators twice, but this season it will be anybody's guess as to who will come out on top. Not only are the Seminoles untested; also they have 22 sophomores on the squad.

Dick Abbott, labeled by Stults the "best all-around swimmer" in FSU history, returns, and his spirited presence alone could make the difference in the team. In addition to being a top-notch swimmer, Abbott is also the team's number one cheerleader.

Despite the return of Abbott and several others from last year's squad, the key to this year will be the performance of the sophomores and Saturday's meet may have all the answers. A strong showing against Florida could mean a third straight year of domination in southern swimming for the Seminoles.

Schedule Toughened

The revised 1966 football schedule released this week has strengthened the FSU home schedule with the addition of Mississippi State.

Last year many people felt that waiting an extra week before opening hurt the Seminoles. To eliminate this problem, the Houston game has been moved up to Sept. 17. This move also gives the Tribe its first home opener since 1962.

Mississippi State will invade Campbell Stadium on the Oct. 22 date vacated by Houston. A game with Richmond scheduled for Oct. 1 has been cancelled.

The revised schedule is as follows (home games are listed in all caps): Sept. 17, HOUSTON; Sept. 24, Miami; Oct. 1, open; Oct. 8, FLORIDA; Oct. 15, Texas Tech; Oct. 22, MISSISSIPPI STATE; Oct. 29 Virginia Tech; Nov. 5, South Carolina; Nov. 12 Syracuse; Nov. 19, WAKE FOREST and Nov. 26, MARYLAND.

Rick Fritz Tops SP Nominations

Student Party came through with some enthusiasm (if well-organized) political spirit last night in Montgomery Gym as the screaming delegates to the 1966 SP convention nominated by acclamation Rick Fritz as their standard bearer for the student body president race next month.

For more than a half hour of introductions, keynote addresses and general chaos on the floor of Montgomery Gym, SP bigwigs, led by party chairman Bruce Robinson, patted each other on the back with congratulatory speeches.

For the most part, praise revolved around the progress Student Party has made in the past year. Keynote speaker and past SP Student Body President Carl Butler dwelled for the most part on the "Groot Society" and its "unfulfilled promises" rather than the hopes of an SP future. "The student body has had enough of an administration that makes political appointments to buy control and votes," said Butler.

Remarkable on the obvious candidate for the "other party," Butler said that the student body does not want a president who thinks so little of academics that his own grades are in doubtful condition.

In his acceptance speech, Fritz gave what he called "excerpts" from the SP platform and his own campaign platform this year. Naming the expansion of Student Government as the theme of his party, Fritz included academic affairs and University development as two areas which most need attention by student officials.

Following Fritz's nomination, the convention delegates noisily continued their main order of business by selecting Joy Dickinson as their candidate for vice president of the student body.

Maureen McClellan was chosen to run on the SP ticket for women's vice president. Completing the ticket as the candidate for men's vice president was Bruce Murray, also accepted by acclamation.

Dick Healy was the SP choice for chief justice of the Honor Court. Union board nominees were Kay Price, Sharon Yates and Sally Brown. Gay Mison was the only candidate for a Board of Publications position.

"WE WANT FRITZ."

"...we want Fritz," yell the delegates to the Student Party convention in Montgomery Gym last night. Rick Fritz was nominated to run for president and Joy Dickinson was nominated to run for vice president on the SP ticket in next month's elections.

"AND FURTHERMORE, I WILL

say Rick Fritz who was nominated to run for the office of student body president at the Student Party convention last night.

Peace Corps Spokesman Urges Students To Look Into Program

Peace Corps team of five people came on the campus through Friday to acquaint FSU students with the Peace Corps program and give interested persons an opportunity to ask questions and take a qualification test, said Jim Gibson, Peace Corps worker.

Present tests are at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. in room 246, Union, today, Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, Gibson said.

Tests will also be given at 7:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday, January 25, Union, tonight and tomorrow night.

Peace Corps campus includes Lynda Bedford, a Peace Corps volunteer who served for two years in Guatemala, Gibson, director of public relations who works at headquarters in Washington, D.C., and a Peace Corps volunteer who works in the Peace Corps educational project in Colombia and Craig Greiner, who spent two years in Guatemala.

aire, the test results and the rating given by references, Gibson said. The test results help to place an individual in the Peace Corps. The test consists of a general aptitude test and a modern language aptitude test, which rates a person's ability to learn a foreign language, Gibson continued.

The people giving references for prospective Peace Corps members are asked to rate the candidate on a scale from one to five in three categories: job competence, emotional stability and maturity and ability to get along with others, Gibson added.

Peace Corps volunteers range in age from 18 to 79. The average age is 23 and most of the volunteers are recently-graduated college students, he said.

Gibson said there are now 12,000 members of the Corps. President Johnson said he hopes to have 20,000 volunteers by 1970.

Volunteers are now stationed in 46 countries in Latin America, Africa and Asia. Approximately half of the volunteers are teaching, a quarter are in community development programs and the rest are in agriculture, sanitation and other related fields, continued Gibson.

Resignation Not Important Says Executive Official Gene Stearns

Apparently willing to laugh the whole thing off, Student Party (SP) Executive Council Chairman Gene Stearns said last night that no one in the party was too upset by Jeff Gorelick's resignation and denunciation of the SP.

Gorelick was the vice chairman of the council before resigning yesterday with a heated letter accusing the Student Party of mud-slinging tactics rather than constructive programs for the betterment of Student Government.

"He actually thought Gorelick would resign long before this since he was the best friend of Steve Winn who had quit the party last trimester," said Stearns.

"We were really surprised when Gorelick didn't quit then," said Stearns. "We figured he'd eventually jump parties to be with his best friend, especially since Winn is a potential candidate on the UP ticket."

"As far as this incident is concerned, let's just say that Gorelick got a little excited when he made that statement. We wish him well where he is now," Stearns continued.

Stearns remarked that while Winn and Gorelick were the only two people that had left SP, he could name about 75 who had left UP for the SP. "...and none of them were encouraged to write such a letter to the 'Flambeau'."

"It goes its just the way they operate," he concluded.

Senate Changes Elections Code

After a 10-minute haggle over whether or not Bill XXV should be introduced at yesterday afternoon's meeting, and a list of amendments, and amendments to amendments, of the bill were discussed and passed, the elections code revision was put into effect.

The bill, first read in senate Nov. 11 by Sen. Pat Davis and sponsored by Sen. Bill Sizemore, amends the student body elections code, chapters 700 through 715, of the FSU Statutes.

The bill, which was intended to clarify the code, includes several major revisions. Among them is the inclusion of the duties of the commission of elections, formerly completely excluded from the code. His duties as defined include responsibility concerning publicity of election procedures, candidates and results, and enforcement of the code and rules pertaining to it.

Alumni Village and Kellum Hall were made regular polling stations in an amendment to the bill.

A procedure to guard against multiple voting was also defined in the revisions.

At the time a student votes, a poll worker will punch a number on the student's registration card, Under the former Statutes, the method was not defined, although the "punch" method has customarily been used.

A section of the bill calling for a filing fee for candidates was considered and amended several times before finally being defeated. Presented by Sen. Conrad Bell, the section was blasted by Sen. Carl Domino who argued that the student body should pay for the elections rather than the candidates themselves.

The bill as amended was finally accepted by a unanimous roll call vote of the 41 senators present.

Woman Space Consultant

Famous Balloonist Visits Son Here

When she piloted a balloon carrying her scientist husband, Jean Piccard, to 57,559 feet in 1934, Jeanette Piccard established an altitude record for women exceeded only by the Russian cosmonaut Valentina Tereshkova in 1963.

Although she's just made one balloon flight since then Mrs. Piccard, at 71, still is busy with the stratosphere and outer space. As consultant to the NASA Manned Spaceflight Center at Houston, she provides some ideas for space projects and spends much of her time on the road, talking in classrooms about space activities.

She wound up a five-day visit in Tallahassee this week, but her visit here was not on business. She was visiting her son, Dr. Paul Piccard, professor of government and director of the honors program at FSU. Piccard invited his mother to give an illustrated talk to his class in government and science the opening day of the trimester.

He told students, curious about the movie projector he had set up and his classroom guest: "It's the custom here, you know, for the instructor to have his mother present on the first day of class and to show home movies."

Films about the walk in space, plans for the Saturn-Apollo program and other space developments were shown. Mrs. Piccard has appearances scheduled at the Air Force Academy Feb. 20, in Los Angeles Feb. 22 and during the spring at the U of F.

Mrs. Piccard, who has a PhD degree in education, learned to pilot a balloon in May, 1934, in order to take her husband aloft for some research into cosmic rays. Jean Piccard, for many years a professor of engineering at the University of Minnesota, and his twin brother, Auguste Piccard, both did research from balloons in the 1930's.

Auguste Piccard, who remained in their native Switzerland, also was famous for his dives into the depths of the sea in a steel sphere.

Mrs. Piccard practiced piloting a balloon around Detroit in the spring of 1934, and recalls landing in apple orchards covered with the spring blossoms from the trees.

At 7 a.m. Oct. 23, 1934, Dr. and Mrs. Piccard began their ascent from the old Ford Airport at Dearborn, Mich.

Their balloon was 175 ft. high and filled with 600,000 cubic feet of hydrogen. It had a pressurized gondola for the first balloon flight into the stratosphere.

Mrs. Piccard admits she doesn't like great heights—such as the ledge of a building overlooking a street—but she says that on a balloon flight she experiences no feeling of dizzy height.

"Instead, there's a feeling of utter quiet and serenity, beautiful feeling that you are part of eternity," she said.

Their flight lasted until 3 p.m. and since it was above clouds which completely obscured what was below, there was a little concern, she recalls, lest they had drifted over the Atlantic.

The sound of a train whistle as they came down was a reassuring note, she said. They landed at Cadiz, Ohio.

The information her husband collected about cosmic rays was more extensive than any learned on non-manned flights up to 1947.

Mrs. Piccard herself won the Harmon Trophy for her flight but, although she still has her pilot's license, she has only made one balloon flight since the first one.

This was with her son Donald in 1947. He now manufactures balloons in California.

Miss To Herald Queen's Court 'Tally Ho'-Sponsored Dance

Tally Ho 1966 and her court announced by Palmer Wilcox, director of a "Tally Ho"-sponsored dance, tomorrow night at 9 p.m., and end at midnight and the will be appropriate. Miss Romer said, "The Tally Ho contest began last night with five-minute interviews with six judges from the Tallahassee Junior Chamber of Commerce. Choice of contestants was based on beauty, poise, personality and activities. Miss Romer

The 125 entrants were narrowed to 25 who will be further judged on beauty and grace tonight in Moore Auditorium from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Of the 25, one will be chosen as Miss Tally Ho. She and her court of five will be photographed in color at the dance for the yearbook, Miss Romer said.

Miss Romer also said that all 1965 "Tally Ho" yearbooks can be picked up in room 324 of the Union. She said that yearbooks for 1966 may be purchased in the publications business office, room 310 of the Union, for $3 each.

CARL HAIRE

Haire Appointed

The appointment of Carl D. Haire, Jr. as asst. director of alumni affairs at FSU was announced today by Thomas A. Wallis, director of alumni affairs.

Haire enrolled at FSU in January, 1947, following his discharge from the Army, and graduated in 1950 with a BS in journalism. While a student here he was chairman of the Student Publications Committee and a member of the "Flambeau" staff.

In addition to other duties, Haire will edit the quarterly "Alumni Bulletin" and other publications. He succeeds Ron Hamm.

Florence Study Center Proposed

A proposal has been made to establish a study center in Florence, Italy, operating on a seven-month year, announced Dr. R.R. Oglesby, FSU professor of government today.

The period will begin Sept. 1 and end Mar. 31. There are openings for approximately 100 students, restricted to sophomores, juniors and a few graduate students.

The departments available for study are Italian language, English literature, government, history, classics, humanities and religion. Each field will offer a wide variety of courses.

Oglesby said that students would pay in addition to transportation: $260 registration, $12 student insurance, $440 food, $330 room, $40 activity and hospital fee and $18 building fee.

Oglesby heads the committee for the planning of the Florence study center. Students interested in participating in this overseas study program are urged to contact Oglesby. The seven members of the first group of participating faculty will be drawn from the seven departments sponsoring the program.

The first proposed group of faculty consists of: Dr. Azzurra Glivens, Dr. Jackson Lee Ice, Dr. Adolph Kari, Dr. Harry Morris, Dr. R.R. Oglesby, Dr. Joseph G. Plescia and Dr. Ralph V. Turner.

Students selected for the program will be carefully screened to determine whether they possess the emotional maturity necessary for extended overseas study, Oglesby said. Principal emphasis in the program will be on the ability of the students to maintain self-discipline and self-government while living abroad, he continued.

Study abroad will not only improve the training of the students, but it will also provide opportunities for their professors to continue their own studies and research, Oglesby concluded.

Change In Menu

by HENRY DUBE
"Flambeau" Feature Writer

Food plan students now have the opportunity to eat "light" at breakfast time due to a new change in the menu, said Marvan Saunders, Union cafeteria supervisor.

"The change is clearly in the student's favor," continued Miss Saunders. "Now students can get juice, cereal and milk, sweet roll, doughnut or toast, and another beverage (including milk, if desired), rather than eggs or hot cakes."

The change resulted from requests by students for a lighter breakfast on the food plan, said Zachary Skokos, director of Morrison's food service.

The same proposal was presented by the Food Service Committee of Student Government, last spring. The proposed change was sent to R. K. Shaw, University business manager, and approved by him before going into effect this trimester.

"Confused students are slowing up the breakfast line each morning with questions about the revised plan," complained a cashier. "Students who are unsure of the changes should consult the flyer available at the cash register at all locations," she advised.

"The correct explanation of the plan will not appear on the food plan card until next trimester," announced Skokos.

The Food Service Committee, currently headed by Peter Crowell, handles students' complaints and requests, referring them to the administration and Skokos. "I am anxious to hear any suggestions for the betterment of the food plan," commented Crowell. (Suggestions in written form should be sent to: Crowell, U-783, Campus Mall. All legitimate suggestions will be reviewed by the committee.) Skokos commented, "We are perfectly willing to make any changes in the menus, recipes and service of the plan if enough people want the change and if it is approved by the business manager's office."

M.S., Michigan State Univ.

Opportunity comes early at Ford Motor Company. Graduates who join us are often surprised at how quickly they receive personal assignments involving major responsibilities. This chance to demonstrate individual skills contrasts sharply with the experience of many young people entering the business world for the first time. At Ford Motor Company, for example, a graduate may initiate a project and carry it through to its final development. One who knows is David Tenniswood, of our research staff.

Dave joined Ford Motor Company in July, 1961.

Assigned to our steering and controls section, he helped develop a revolutionary steering system that will facilitate driving in future Ford-built cars. Currently a design engineer working on suspension design and analysis, Dave has been impressed by the extent to which management encourages personal initiative among recent graduates like himself. Here, management looks immediately to young engineers, like Dave, for fresh concepts that reflect their academic training and special abilities. Moreover, when the idea is accepted for development, the initiator is frequently given the opportunity to see the job through—from drawing board to production line!

The experience of Dave Tenniswood is not unusual. Ford Motor Company believes that early incentive is fundamental to individual growth and a successful career. If you are interested in a job that challenges your abilities and rewards enterprise, we urge you to contact our representative when he visits your campus.

Seminole Scorecard

By HANK SCHOMBER
Flambeau Sports Editor

Monday night's basketball game with Loyola of the South left us with mixed emotions about the Seminoles.

True, the Tribe came out with a 73-53 win to its credit, but as we watched the game, the thought kept coming back, "Are the Seminoles winning or is Loyola losing?"

Even though Gary Schull played what is probably the finest game of his career pumping in 26 points and grabbing off 19 rebounds, and the Tribe's playmakers Jim Lyttle and Darrel Stewart were brilliant, the overall play of the team appeared extremely sloppy.

There were several bad passes and turnovers, and the shooting percentage from the floor was a pitiful 27.7 in the second half. Noting these facts, we can't say FSU "won't" only that Loyola was 20 points worse.

If the Seminoles put on other exhibitions like Monday's too often, the remainder of the season could be rougher than it now looks.

Saturday night the Tribe meets Memphis State, a team that boasts one of the finest guards in the nation.

Butler's ball-handling antics and red hot shooting ability should provide an interesting challenge for the Seminole backcourt duo of Lyttle and Stewart.

New Big Baseball Schedule

Coach Fred Hatfield has promised FSU baseball fans more baseball than ever before this season and from the looks of the tentative schedule he released this week the Tribe will be playing almost daily.

In addition to the regular schedule, Hatfield has set up two tournaments in March. Including the NCAA playoff games, FSU could play as many as 52 games.

The season opens Mar. 14 when the Kentucky Wildcats invade Tallahassee. The SEC Open Invitational Tournament is slated here with Tennessee, Mississippi State and Kentucky in attendance Mar. 18 and 19.

The FSU Open Invitational with Wake Forest, Michigan State and Duke will be played Mar. 28-31.

Games with the U of F are slated for May 6-7 and 20-21.

(from AP wire)
Sandy Koufax, the sensational southpaw pitcher for the Los Angeles Dodgers, has been named the Male Athlete of the Year for 1965 in the Assoc. Press year-end poll. The 30-year-old Koufax collected 224 first-place votes out of the balloting cast by 303 sports writers and sportscasters.

Bill Bradley, Princeton basketball star, was a distant second while Gary Player, winner of the U.S. Open golf title, was third.

Koufax also was named to this award in 1963, joining tennis star Don Budge and golfer Byron Nelson as one of only three men who have received this award twice. Koufax erased Bob Feller's strike-out record from the books as he whiffed 382 batters, thus establishing a new major league mark. While compiling a 26-8 win-loss record last year he led the National League for the fourth consecutive year in earned run average with 2.04.

To finish out the baseball season Koufax won two World Series games against the Minnesota Twins and became recipient of the Cy Young Award as the majors' outstanding pitcher.

U of F First Foe

Swim Spectacular Slated Soon

by JUDY HUGHES
Flambeau Sports Writer

The 1966 Seminole swimming team will feature the "sophomore look" in the season splashes open Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the Union pool against the U of F.

Coach Blm Stults will introduce 20 second-year players into varsity competition when the tankers take to the pool against a solid Gator foe.

"The U of F only lost one man through graduation," said Stults. "They had two All-American swimmers last season—Tom Dioguardi, a sprinter and butterflyer, and Blanchard 'Blui', a jack-of-all-trades. This year they have supplemented their squad with a fine batch of sophomores," Stults continued.

"Mark Montgomery is a sophomore diver who started for them last year as a freshman, and Charles Jarwin is another good second-year man who swims the individual medley," he said.

"The difference is that the Gators' sophomores are additions to their team, and our sophomores are being called on to fill the places of the seniors we lost from last year's squad," Stults said.

The Seminole tankers lost number one backstroke Dick Acosta, relay specialist John Rangely, butterflyer

Bob Duruchur, breastroker Doug Kruger, and diver Neal Allen, among others, via the diploma route. Stults said he will be counting

Checker Champ Casts Challenge

The "World Champion Checker Player," Tom Wiswell of Brooklyn, N.Y., will play an exhibition match Saturday at FSU.

The 8 p.m. match will be played in the Leon-Lafayette Room, and the public is invited. There will be no admission charge.

Wiswell will play as many as 24 games simultaneously, and plays either checkers or chess.

Anyone interested in playing Wiswell should contact the Program Council Office, Union, ext. 2232. Participants should furnish their boards and checkers or chessmen if possible.

Memphis State Saturday Foe; Sophomore Guards Square Off

The Tribe will go Tiger hunting Saturday night in Tully Gym as Memphis State invades Seminole territory for the 12th meeting of the two teams.

Memphis leads the series 8 to 3. Although the Tigers went 10-14 last year and only have three returning lettermen, they are boosted by the arrival of last season's 19-2 frosh squad.

The top rookie is Mike Butler, a 6-2 guard who is a magician with the basketball, averaging 19.7 points per game. An All-American prepster, Butler is a deft ball-handler with a bucketful of shots.

B.G. Perry, 6-2 guard, is the outstanding veteran on the squad. Averaging 10.8 last year, his experience could lead the Tigers to a successful season.

A 6-5 forward, Craig Alexander finished fifth in scoring for the Tigers last year with an 8.6 average. He was also one of the big leaders in the rebound department, and should pose a threat to the Tribe.

The Tigers don't lack height. Rookie forward Don Smith, 6-9, and sophomore centers Chuck Neal and Mike O'Dell, both 6-7, may cause trouble for the Seminoles under the basket and at mid-court.

Experience may be the big factor in the game. The Tigers have a 16-man squad, with 13 sophomores. FSU also has a number of sophomores in its lineup, but there are eight lettermen on the squad.

"It will be a game of their sophomores," said Stults.

more guards against our sophomore guards," said Seminole mentor Bud Kennedy.

Kennedy also said that the 6-4 guard Ron Malmen may see some action in the game Saturday night.

Malmen broke his right elbow in practice before the season opened in November. His loss was a big blow to the Seminole attack early in the year, as he averaged 12.4 last season, hitting on 84 percent from the free throw line.

Memphis is 6-6 for the season, after winning its last two games and faces Loyola of New Orleans tonight. The Tigers' win last Saturday night over Oklahoma City 97-87 was one of the bigger upsets of the season.

"Memphis State will be one of the toughest games of the season," Kennedy said. "They're a big ball club with a lot of size."

heavily on eight returning starters among them Dick Abbott, Mike Melley; Mike Blouin, burner Tom Lloyd, freestyler; and Koch, breastroker. Sophomore stylist Seeley Feldmeyer will be featured in the starting line-up Saturday.

"We had to get in shape after Christmas vacation," Stults. "We still won't know in top condition until after the season is over," he continued.

The squad has also lost a lot of the fish, which will sideline four or four tankers Saturday.

"We're not overconfident," Stults. "I'm hoping we'll see good account of ourselves as the U of F team not make hurt by graduation."

"The outcome of this season depends on the sophomores who never competed in a varsity test. It will depend on how they mature and how fast they take pressure," said Stults.

"Everything indicates that this will be a close meet Saturday," tanker coach concluded.

RON MALMEN

... may see some action in the game Saturday night. Malmen was injured in November with a season injury which kept him out of the courts until recently.

SG Problems Report Given By School Of Law

The 200 law schools polled by Smith, former sec. of intercollegiate and public affairs and newly named sec. of state, 100 percent reported no problems in student government that can be attributed to graduate or law students' participation.

The poll, distributed in October by Smith's office to all law schools, was sent to the American Bar Association, which initiated the need for graduate participation in student government, according to Smith. Smith initiated the questionnaire, FSU's proposed College of Law established and September, was set as the opening date. The questionnaire dealt with the needs of a law school, concerned with government, would graduate students who are excluded from occupying student positions.

Smith said he felt affected students are motivated to cause trouble on campus legislators open up opportunities to them now. The poll was his theory correct, he added, the responding schools, Smith 64 percent have significant graduate student participation. The responding schools had none or little, 21 percent stated that the exclusion of graduate and law students had no effect of discouraging participating undergraduate interest in student government. Any had reported by the other nine percent was due to the unresponsiveness of graduate student to the under-graduate needs, Smith said.

Smith said the poll's results are in 81 percent of the cases, he said, the poll questions the university versus the prestige of the law as a motivating factor as well as the use of office as a stepping-stone, he said.

Gonzalez Questioned; Declines To Answer

Rumors, rumors, rumors and more rumors.

For the past several days rumors have been circulating around campus to the effect that Student Body Vice President Larry Gonzalez, who is the apparent University Party nominee for student body president, does not have the grade point average required to run for the office.

According to the FSU Student Body Constitution, "All candidates for major office shall be required to have an over-all 2.3 scholastic average." The president of the student body is defined as a major office.

When contacted for comment, Gonzalez declined the rumor of his not being qualified. He said there is no qualification requirement on a student seeking a party nomination.

According to Commissioner of Elections Ted Hanes, the grades of any candidate are not checked until the candidate has filed for the election. Hanes said filing for the Feb. 8 primary election will begin Tuesday and last for one week.

Due to the University policy of not allowing the grades of any student to be released without the individual's permission, the registrar's office was unable to clarify the rumor.

Gonzalez denied permission to the "Flambeau" to check his grades because, "when I file for election it will be clearly evident that my grades are adequate." "If at that time the 'Flambeau' or any other interested party wants to check my grades to see if I am qualified," he said, "I will not legally be a candidate, I am only seeking the University Party nomination," he stated.

Panhellenic To Recruit Tonight

Tonight marks the beginning of second semester Panhellenic rush, according to Marylee Phillips, Panhellenic president.

Each rushee will attend an ice water tea at each sorority house. Half of the parties are tonight from 6:30 p.m. to 10:50 p.m. The other half will be from 1:30 p.m. to 5:50 p.m. tomorrow.

Rush will continue with dinner parties Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

Preference interviews will be following Saturday from 6 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. with no dinner being served. A Sunday dress and heels will be suitable for each occasion, Miss Phillips said.

Michael Shaara Coffee Speaker

Michael Shaara of the English dept. will speak at this trimester's first English Coffee Hour today at 4:10 p.m. in the Westminster House.

He will speak on "Hemingway, Jung and the Song of God." "Hemingway," says Shaara, "is one of the three or four greatest writers America has ever produced. Although he has won the Nobel Prize, he has been ill-treated and misunderstood by critics for many years."

He said he will discuss some reasons that many critics have such emotional feelings toward the novelist and why he believes Hemingway has been misrepresented.

Shaara said he will also include a comparison of Hemingway's attitude toward religion and Hinduism as well as Jung's psychological explanation of Hemingway's preoccupation with death.

Fund Ball Goes Can Stay Late

Student contributions to the dance featuring Guy Lombardo's Orchestra, singer Connie Haines and the humorous singing group The Four Saints, have been set at $10 per couple, rather than $20 donation required for all other ball invitations.

No $5 invitations will be sold. Sadler said.

Proceeds from the ball, and others to be given throughout Florida, will provide scholarships for needy students selected by high school principals in cities adjacent to ball sites. Tallahassee's ball will be the first to provide scholarship funds to scholars in the Big Bend area.

A Request

Once again student politics has shown itself to be more than a five-finger exercise in Calvin Pureheart politics with the accusations by Student Party that probable University Party presidential candidate Larry Gonzalez was not academically qualified to run.

Such accusations can be only suppositions at best or misinformation at worst, since grade point averages are not public information which the registrar's office is free to reveal to anyone other than the student.

While the registrar's policy functions to protect the student from possible needless embarrassment or worse, it indirectly leads, in politics, to the rumors that are now circulating about Gonzalez.

Since it is now impossible to verify or deny rumors because of the registrar's policy, doubt and uncertainty plague any responsible attempt to clear up the muddled affairs of campus politics.

The solution to this problem is obvious. If and when a situation similar to the present one arises, where the best interests of the University are not being served by administrative secrecy, the administration should release the crucial information through the "Flambeau" and thus eliminate needless, and possibly malicious, charges and counter-charges.

This is not to say that the "Flambeau" should have free access to all student records, but only that the paper should be able to fulfill its function of getting the right facts, and not guesses, to the student body.

In the case of student politicians, this is particularly true since the student body must have full knowledge of the kind of people that will lead and represent it.

Not only would such a "check system" feasibly cut down on the mud-slinging, but it would eliminate much of the political back-scratching cover-up efforts that have occurred in past administrations.

Politics at FSU has gotten to be a serious business and like any other big business could breed its robber barons. To keep that from happening, the students of FSU need this check on the zealous campus "leaders".

It is a reasonable request.

Argumentation Si, Condemnation N

To the Editor:

It seems that monologue may have begun to give way to dialogue. Mr. Johnson's latest rebuttal shows considerably less emotion than his previous articles. Perhaps argumentation will replace condemnation?

Mr. Johnson writes, "I still contend that the most vehement anti-communists are those who know the most about it..." Examples, I suppose, would include Robert Welch, Carl McIntyre, Joseph McCarthy, et al., as these splendid Americans are certainly among the most vehement anti-communists, therefore, they must know the most about it. I dare say that this little argument is unsound from a logical point of view!

Concerning my use of the concept "sympathy," Mr. Johnson refuses to consider the full implications of the notion. Not only sympathy toward Marxism, but toward any doctrine or ideology professing ideas contrary to cultural, social and moral indoctrination, i.e., any set of ideas that are counter to the prevailing values of the society. Examples of other such notions would include atheism, racism, communism, fascism or any other extreme position (yes, I do feel that communism is essentially an extreme position in the sense that it is both too moralistic and too romantic, i.e., unrealistic). Sympathy, however, encourages deep and possible insightful criticism and understanding, whereas bias and prejudice lead inevitably to rejection and condemnation.

Mr. Johnson took the liberty to paraphrase a statement which I made concerning freedom of inquiry. Interpreting the statement to mean "that Marxism-Communism is not incompatible with freedom." This was not my intention at all. Rather, if I implied anything, I implied that our beloved system is not as free and sacred as it could be.

Using free in quotes was meant only as a device questioning the possibility that Americanism-Capitalism is less a free system than many would like to think or believe. Certainly Mr. Johnson will have to admit that Americanism-Capitalism is no utopia any more than Marxism-Communism is a glorious success. And it is not so much a matter of degree as a matter of perspective (sympathy again). To the average Russian or Chinese, material goods and services are more desirable than civil liberties, whereas in the US and the West, since we already have material prosperity, civil liberties are more essential and more cherished.

It seems reasonable to assume that if virtually any person, whether from a Communist or Democratic society, is forced to choose between food, clothing and protection as opposed to civil liberties (e.g., freedom of speech, to assemble, to petition, etc.) that he would choose the well-being to "natural rights." "Right and wrong have always no meaning to me," writes Johnson, however, "truth has meaning." Since I don't know what "truth" is, I must prevail upon Johnson to inform me not only the meaning of the truth, but the truth itself!

"Truth" has rather absolute metaphysical connotations for me and I had rather leave the decision of "truth" to those few esoteric mystics who claim to have the truth but who are always somehow unable to tell others what it is.

By an argument, Mr. Johnson merely meant any set of statements which are logically consistent in the terms of which are both meaningful and susceptible to empirical verification. You have reduced asserted that there are multifarious arguments impeaching Marxism, Communism, and the position virtually any leftist.

All I ask is for you to repeat just one or two of these arguments appropriately qualified. It would be interesting if you expressed implications the argument has upon any tenet of Marxism present, such an argument would take two or three paragraphs at most; and any well-stated argument is far better ammunition than an opinionated polemic.

The FSU swimmers must count on a sense of desperation to pull them through a rough schedule this season, which begins tomorrow against the U of F at 1:30 p.m. in the Union pool.

DICK ABBOTT

... will be counted on to carry much of the swimming load against the Gators at the Union pool tomorrow. Described by Coach Bill Stults as the "best all-around swimmer in FSU's history," Abbott owns four school records.

SPORTS ON CAMPUS

Starting tomorrow at the Reservation, the FSU Sailing Club will offer lessons for beginning sailors. The lessons are free to anyone who wants to become a member of the club. Skippers tests will be given at the same time for anyone who knows how to sail and wants to become a qualified skipper. Anyone needing a ride to Lake Bradford should meet at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow on Landis Green next to the Night Director's Office.

There will be a meeting of the varsity baseball players Monday at 3 p.m. in Tully Gym. The freshman players will meet Tuesday at 3 p.m. in Tully Gym.

Tom Wiswell will play a simultaneous chess-checker match tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in the Leo-Lafayette Room, Union. Anyone interested in playing should contact the Program Council Office, Union, ext. 232.

APO accepted the challenge of a faculty football team and came out ahead in the contest 19-12, Wednesday.

The faculty squad was captained by Dr. Robert Spivey, who issued the challenge. The clash was at Florida High Field.

"This year we must depend on team strength to carry us through more than ever before," remarked tanker Coach Bill Stults. "We were hurt by graduation."

Stults was referring to the loss of striker Dick Acosta, highly rated relay specialist John Rangely and diver Neal Allen, undefeated in two years of varsity competition.

"We also lost all our veteran but-terflyers," added Stults. "So we have to rely on inexperienced swimmers for the flutter stroke, except for 'Flyer' Jimmy Mauldin, a senior," he continued.

Mauldin, however, is a question mark for the opening meet. The veteran tanker has been grappling with the flu and may or may not be ready when the Seminoles take to the water tomorrow.

"Right now our strongest point has to lie with our freestylers," said the swimming mentor. "Outstanding Dick Abbott swims the individual medley and the freestyle. Tom Lloyd is a strong freestyler and highly touted sophomore Seelye Feldmeyer specializes in the freestyle," commented Stults.

The tankers have had to put in long hours to get ready for the first meet against the reptiles from downstate. "I discovered after the Garnet and Gold meet Dec. 4 that we needed more endurance swimming and that we were not in the physical condition we needed to be in at the time," said Stults.

The U of F is only the first of a series of tough opponents right at the beginning of the season. The Seminoles swim the Gators and Georgia Tech at home before packing their bags for a road trip to North Carolina State, East Carolina and the University of North Carolina.

"We might have our most difficulty with North Carolina State," said Stults. "In fact, all three Carolina teams will rank as our roughest competition after the Gators."

The reptiles will rely on two All-Americans from last year's squad which only lost one man by graduation. Butterflyer and swimmer Tom Olsrud and backstrokeer Blanchard Tual are the swimmers to watch for the Gators in the duel tomorrow.

According to Stults, the U of F is stronger than the 1-2 record which it now sports indicates. The Gators defeated Vanderbilt while dropping contests to the University of Alabama and Suwannee.

However, by the time the reptiles infest the Union pool tomorrow, they will own either a leveled chart at 2-2, or a 1-3 mark, since they took on Georgia in an SEC meet yesterday. "Regardless of their record when they come in here," said Stults, "they have four meet's experience behind them. This is only our first clash."

The Seminole frosh tankers will swim the baby Gators at 1:30 p.m. with the big meet immediately following.

"Our frosh team is riddled with illness at this time and we have no All-American high schoolers. However, we have some very fine freshmen, among them backstrokeer Rod Gray, who was second in the State last year, Steve McMerney, a distance man and John Thompson, a butterflyer," Stults explained.

"The important thing to remember is that the team that goes off those starting blocks tomorrow against the U of F is not the team that scored the most overwhelming margin of victory over compiled against the Gators. We're a different team," Stults said.

A QUESTION MARK

... for the swimming meet tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. against the U of F is Tribe butterflyer Jim Mauldin. Mauldin, the only veteran flutter stroker left on the 1966 squad, has been out with the flu and is a doubtful starter tomorrow.

Tigers To Test Tribe's Talents Sophomore Guard Battle Looms

by BILL THOMAS
Flambeau Sports Writer

The FSU cagers take on the Tigers of Memphis State tomorrow night at 7:45 p.m. in Tully Gym.

The game, preceded by a frosh game with Manatee Junior College at 5:30 p.m., will see a number of sophomores on the court—four on the FSU squad and three off the Tribe bench.

Memphis is 6-6 for the season so far, having won its last two games. Memphis' last game against Oklahoma City turned into a small upset. Ranked in the nation's top 20, Oklahoma was defeated by the Tigers 97-57.

The fans may be in for a surprise tomorrow. FSU's Ron Malmien, who has missed a good portion of the season because of a broken elbow, may see some action against the Tigers. Seminole coach Bud Kennedy said he won't use Malmien extensively in the game, but he wants to get him back in shape, possibly for the Florida game Tuesday.

Kennedy plans to start the same team he did against Loyola with the exception of the center position. Bill Peacock and Gary Schull will open at forward with Darrel Stewart and Jim Lytle at the guard spots.

Kennedy will use either Ken Doyle, Don Biggs or Bill Phillips at center. Schull continues to lead the Seminoles in the scoring department with 202 points for a 16.9 average. He is followed by Lytle with 157 points and a 13.1 average.

"Memphis will start four sophomores," said FSU Asst. Coach Hugh Durham. "It should be a good guard battle—their sophs against ours." Mike Butler, 6-2 Tiger guard, led his frosh team in scoring last year with 18.9 points per game. This season he has boosted that to 19.7. Butler is a superb shooter of sorts with the basketball and hit under pressure from any angle on the court.

B. G. Petty is one of the three returning lettermen, averaging 10.8 last year. His game is greatly improved and his experience is an invaluable asset to the Tiger squad.

The Tigers have averaged 78.3 per game this year, while the defense has allowed its opponents only 69 points.

"Something's going to happen," said Durham. "It should be good defensive battle."

Matmen Travel To Meet Gators

The FSU wrestling team travels to Gainesville tomorrow for a dual with the U of F Gators.

It will be the opening match of the eight-meet season, which promises to be the most successful season the matmen have ever had.

FSU's Jim Jackson will wrestle the 123 lbs. class, with Lee Williams at 130 and Kim Wood at 145. The middleweights find Larry in the 145 lbs. class, Kim Biersma at 152, John Richards at 160, Pletzer at 167 and Al Holmstrom at 177.

In the heavyweight division, Ernst will tangle in the 184 class, while Mike Rebel and Gilliland will wrestle unlabeled. The team, according to Coach Buerbaugh, is strongest in the dweleights.

Sophomore Tankers Key Tribe Gator Gig

by JUDY HUGHES
Flambeau Sports Writer

The FSU swimming team banked its hopes on a group of talented sophomores and the second-year tankers came through to soak the U of F 70-25 at the Union pool Saturday.

The Gator freshmen, in a meet preceding the varsity contest, dampened the Tribe frosh 50-45 in a thriller that was decided by a difference of one-tenth of a second in the final freestyle relay.

Five records were set in the two meets combined—three meet marks, one pool and one freshman record—with the Seminole tankers capturing three of them. The other two marks were slashed by Gator All-American Tom Dioguardi.

The Seminole splashers took all but three events in the dual meet, which saw only Dioguardi and stellar backstroker Blanchard Tual taking wins for the Gators.

Sophomore Duane McAllister amassed 287.75 points in the diving competition to snatch the diving laurels from the U of F's highly regarded second-year man, Mark Montgomery.

The Tribe was paced by senior Tom Lloyd, who captured first in the 200-yard freestyle and beat out Dioguardi in the last leg of the 400-yard freestyle relay, the final event of the meet.

Lloyd was followed up by sophomores Bob Aldrich, Seeley Feldmeyer and K.C. Dawson in the competition against the hapless Gators, who fell behind 37-7 after the first four events and never could muster enough effort to come close.

In addition to taking eight of the 11 events, the Seminoles also finished

New Party States Platform Goals

Flambeau Editor Nelsen Seeking P Endorsement

...Nelsen, former news editor of the "Flambeau," today announced he will seek the nomination for student body vice president at the party convention Friday night. Through my "Flambeau" responsibilities, I have been intimately acquainted with all elements of the university, both students and administration, Nelsen said, deriving from this direct contact an extensive knowledge of the social and the problems of FSU as well as familiarity with programs for solution," Nelsen said. The duties of the vice president and an impartial, well-informed member in order to best represent the interests of the study body, Nelsen added.

Nelsen said that he decided to re-evaluate his position as news editor of the "Flambeau" staff after studying the political situation. He said he feels that in this capacity he can better serve the student body. "The 'Flambeau' editor, I feel, that the 'Flambeau' staff Nelsen luck but will not be instrumental of his campaign. He will be treated as any other student," Collins said. As news editor, Nelsen has coordinated all information presented in the "Flambeau." The position requires a knowledgeable, objective and fair view, Nelsen said. It is essential that a reporter covering Senate, political meetings and campus activities be aware of the existing philosophies and reasons for action, he continued. According to Nelsen, the vice president must be impartial and objective by virtue of his past experience and lack of prior party affiliation. He deems himself most qualified in that respect.

Opera Tickets On Sale Today

Tickets go on sale today for the Metropolitan Opera National Company's presentation of "Cinderella" at the Union Ticket Office, will cost $1, said Mrs. Vernon. Students will have to present an ID card for each ticket.

Lecture Postponed

The Government Lecture Series, featuring Ralph Huitt, ass. sec. of Health, Education and Welfare, originally scheduled for tonight in Moore Auditorium has been postponed. Dr. Elke Frank of the government dept. announced today. The lecture will be rescheduled for February, she said.

"Students may attend either one or the other of the performances but not both," she continued, "in order that the many people who want to see the show will have the opportunity."

"This is the first time that students have had to pay for an FSU Artist Series performance, but due to the quality of the show it is necessary," she said.

Tickets for the general public will go on sale Friday at $5 per ticket. FSU is well represented in the company, which is in its inaugural tour, said Mrs. Vernon. Carlyle Floyd, of the FSU School of Music, is the composer-director of "Susannah," the only American score being toured. Former FSU students Jay Davidson and Joe Napoli sing Cinderella and Little Bat, respectively.

The New Party intends to see a bill of student rights become an amendment to the Student Body Constitution as part of its platform, announced Parris Glendening, party spokesman, today.

According to Glendening, the bill is necessary, "if for no reason than to insure each student every opportunity to maintain his individual dignity and respect, as well as safeguard his reputation and future."

The following is the proposed bill of student rights sought by New Party:

I. All students shall have the freedom of religious choice, and the freedom to practice their chosen faith. The University shall make no law abridging this freedom.
II. All students shall have the freedom to petition, the freedom to peacefully assemble and freedom of the press.
III. All students shall have the right to a fair and impartial trial by their peers. This includes the right to be assumed innocent until proven guilty.

IV. All students shall have the right to trial by an impartial jury of their own peers (which shall mean that the student has the right to challenge prospective jurors when he has reason to believe they are biased). The student shall also have the right to waive trial by jury if he so chooses.

V. All students shall have the right to stand silent without this being taken as a presumption of guilt or being used to justify conviction.
VI. Each student shall have the right to testify in his own behalf. He shall be granted whatever reasonable time he may need in order to prepare his defense.

VII. Every student shall have the right to counsel, legal or otherwise.
VIII. Every student shall have the right to be informed of the charges against him and to hear all evidence against him, as well as anything relevant to his defense.

IX. Every student shall have the right to be confronted by his accusers.
X. Every student shall have the right to cross-examine witnesses against him, regardless of their status within the University.

XI. Every student shall have the right to appeal and not be punished until he has exhausted the means of appeal.

XII. No student whose case is processed in any way by local, State or federal courts shall be prosecuted by the University for the same case, nor shall the University punish him in any manner for this same offense.
XIII. No student shall be prosecuted by the University except under clear and well-defined statutes.

XIV. No student shall be prosecuted by the University for conduct or incidents which take place during vacations, term breaks or when he is outside the limits of Leon County.
XV. Student organizations (whether social, political, religious, service or whatever) shall have the same

Flambeau Editorials

FLAMBEAU editorials do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the student body as a whole or administration of Florida State University. Editorials reflect the editorial policy of the FLAMBEAU.

15 Minutes

Faculty Senate has graciously consented to allow the "Flambeau" 15 minutes Wednesday at its regular meeting to explain why the paper should be allowed to cover senate meetings and on what conditions this could be accomplished.

Since 15 minutes is hardly enough time to allow any kind of meaningful debate between the faculty and "Flambeau" on the merits of the paper's position, we feel that the members of the Faculty Senate would be better prepared to hear the "Flambeau" if we briefly outline the paper's position once more.

As the letters to the editor on the basic studies changes have indicated, the students of this University are interested in the reasons for academic changes made by the Faculty Senate and, as the victims of the changes, would like to have the chance to present their opinions to the faculty.

The "Flambeau" would like to be, and should be, the medium for keeping the students informed of the academic affairs that obviously play an important part in their lives, and at the same time function to keep the faculty aware of student opinion on academic matters.

Administrative and faculty members from Dean of Students Harry Day to Dr. Wayne Minnick, member of the Faculty Senate Steering Committee, have admitted the validity of the "Flambeau's" request, but have questioned whether or not there is a way to accomplish this noble end without exposing faculty members to adverse public reaction should a faculty member present an unpopular viewpoint on any non-academic matter that the legislative body might consider.

To prevent such an embarrassing situation from arising, the Faculty Senate presently follows an unwritten policy of not allowing reporters to attend meetings unless they have been specially invited by the senate, thus practicing de facto censorship through a decidedly negative outlook.

This policy takes on an even darker aspect when faculty representatives admit that the senate very seldom discusses matters which would jeopardize the University's reputation in the local and State community.

The "Flambeau" proposes a more positive policy which would still permit the faculty closed door sessions on non-academic, potentially explosive issues.

We feel that it would be both reasonable and just if the Faculty Senate would allow reporters to attend and report all meetings unless the senate should specifically request the reporters not to attend a particular meeting or part of a meeting because non-academic matters of a violently controversial nature would be considered.

We ask the faculty senators to give this proposal serious consideration between now and Wednesday's meeting.

Flambeau Forum

Stearns' Attitude Indicates Party

To the Editor:

From the comments in Thursday's paper, Gene Stearns obviously thinks that the student body is uninterested in the resignation of a major official of his party. But if these parties mean anything, this resignation and other defections must have some relevance to the political situation on this campus. If people are switching parties in wholesale numbers, I want to know why. It is possible you know, that some of us consider more than the candidate when we vote.

Did SP leaders and the 25 US members switch for any reason other than personalities and intra-party squabbling? Frankly, Jeff Grogan charges seem to be borne out by opening shots in the SP camp. But, because SP doesn't "see that way", we may never know whether there is any substance to Stearns' 25 defections.

The attitude of Gene Stearns the SP is just one more indication that the major parties stand for nothing. Party officials switch one to the other without any regard on the parties. The two parties are alike—they are interested in personalities, in victory at any (financial or moral), in simplifying Student Government. Both major parties sacrifice and relevance to personal body and interests to personal cause often far removed from the campus.

The SP "pros" have undoubtedly illuminated the main reason for formation of New Party.

Deborah PS to Gene Stearns: Better stop your list again—I personally know more than two people who have SP recently, primarily because the attitude you reflect.

Kudos To The

To the Editor:

Although I extend my many thanks to President Groot for making the Curriculum Evaluation Program and I find this action worthy of "Flambeau's" praise, I feel that senators Rick Fritz (chairman), Maureen McClellan, and Chris, comprising the Special Studies Committee are the Committee for the Instruction of Curriculum Evaluation, share credit.

These senators began a detailed study of the curriculum evaluation machinery early last spring. An intensive study, the committee recommended its adoption.

Students Give Needy Blood

To the Editor:

In this day when reams of negative criticism of our college students continue to flood our news media, it was with particular pleasure that I noted the unselfish and quiet response made by a number of FSU students to an emergency call by the Leon County Blood Bank for the rather common blood type O-positive, last Thursday evening.

Some 30 unidentified male students (and I'm certain women would have been present too, had the hour not been so late) stood patiently inside and outside the inadequate blood bank quarters, awaiting their turn. Some had responded so quickly they were there in shirt sleeves despite the chilly temperature. Many stood quietly studying their calculus, their history, their organic chemistry, hardly looking up as they moved, person by person, nearer the nurse and her equipment.

Numerous times, during the course of the evening which lasted until nearly 2 a.m. for some, I heard the comment from townspeople who were in line, "These young people are from the college, aren't they?" Such positive activity by our students improves the image of our University, family with the local community. Schiller once said, "Everyone stamps his own value on himself—man is made great or small by his own will." This spontaneous expression of the will to help a less fortunate brother, or rather sister in this case, was especially exciting to me.

Dean of Men Donald Loucks

Why Change?

To the Editor:

The controversy over basic studies curriculum and the recent actions taken by the Faculty Senate in choosing certain courses and eliminating others has come to my attention. As a student I would be interested in reasons for course selection and the processes by which the basic studies curriculum is established. After reading a recent article in the "Flambeau" by Sen. Dale, concerning this topic, it seems students may be neglected by being ignored by faculty members in regard to basic studies course selection.

It would seem at least one or two courses concerned with developing the person and adding to his understanding of himself and enhancing his ability to cope with problems and frustration would be appropriate in order that the student could better use and absorb his other courses.

Ted K. Eikman

Nelsen

Nelsen said he decided to seek the nomination on the New Party ticket "because it more closely represents my philosophy of what the University could be, should be and will be." "The platform of the New Party shows mature and progressive understanding of student life by offering a real solution to new problems," Nelsen added.

Media Open House

Blackwell First in Tele-Lecture System

University President Gordon Blackwell will greet his former colleagues tomorrow afternoon in a special tele-lecture hookup in Greenville, S.C., announced today, director of the FSU Educational Media Center, today, Blackwell, former FSU president, will pick up his telephone at 3 p.m. in response to a call from the FSU Educational Media Center, said Quinly.

On hand to greet the Furman University president will be a delegation of his former associates at FSU headed by Blackwell's suc-

The conversation is part of an open house tomorrow and Wednesday in celebration of the new quarters of the Educational Media Center in the ground floor of the Seminole Dining Hall, Quinly said.

The conversation is made possible by the recent installation of the tele-lecture equipment at FSU, according to Quinly.

The tele-lecture system is based on the idea of using the telephone as an inexpensive means of carrying on lectures over a long distance, he explained. A lecturer in almost any part of the world can pick up his telephone and dial a number in Tallahassee.

At the FSU campus, three auditoriums are equipped with amplifying equipment permitting a two-way conversation, he continued.

By arrangement with the lecturer, slides illustrating the talk can be shown to the audience.

During his tele-lecture, Blackwell will talk on Furman University and color slides will be shown, Quinly said.

The open house will begin tomorrow at 1:30 p.m., and continue until 4 p.m. After the tele-lecture at 3 p.m., a demonstration of a new portable video tape recorder will be shown. The machine allows instant replay of visual material recorded, continued Quinly.

Wednesday, the open house will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until noon. It will resume at 2 p.m., and then last until 5 p.m. A replay of the Blackwell tele-lecture will take place at 3 p.m.

During both days new equipment in the audio-visual field will be on display.

4:10 p.m. Dr. Joseph Gosslight of Kent University will speak in room 105 Psychology Research Bldg.

4:15 p.m. Physical chemistry seminar featuring Bryan Henry will meet in 555 IMB Bldg.

6:30 p.m. APO pledges will meet in the Leon Room, Union.

7:30 p.m. APO actives will meet in the Lafayette Room, Union.

8 p.m. University Women's Bridge Club will meet in room 240, Union.

8:30 p.m. The Governor's Scholarship Ball will be in Tully Gym.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Baptist Student Union will have vespers tonight beginning at 6:45 p.m. for all students.

Fifty employing officials from over 30 junior colleges from Florida, Alabama, Georgia and North Carolina will be interviewing FSU students Jan. 25 for positions at their respective institutions.

Interviews will be in the FSU Rooms, Union, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Persons interested may sign up for interviews in room 338, Union, this week.

Peace Corps placement tests will be given today and tomorrow at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. in room 246, Union.

The completed applications should be brought to the test.

Alpha Kappa Psi invites all business majors to attend rush Wednesday in the Weichert Lounge, Business Bldg., at 7 p.m.

Gamma Sigma Sigma, women's service sorority, will provide babysitting services for Friday and Saturday nights.

Call Susan Kettley in 241 Landis for further information.

A reorganizational meeting of the FSU Jaycee chapter will be tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in room 252, Union.

Peterson On Way Out?

At this time of year the rumor bug is usually confined to politics around campus. This season, however, the gossipers have found their way over to the football coaches' office in grand style.

For several weeks now, State newspapers have been guessing back and forth as to who will be the first head football coach of the new Miami Dolphins in the American Football League. The name most often mentioned for the top spot has been that of Seminole head coach Bill Peterson.

Peterson is currently under a three-year contract to FSU, but this will not keep him from making the change if he decides to do so.

Contacted at his office yesterday, the Seminole coach said he had "no comment to make" about the situation. He made no indication whether or not he had even been contacted by the Miami club.

It appears certain, however, that negotiations between Miami and Tallahassee have been taking place and that in the not-too-distant future an announcement will be made.

While many people believe that Peterson would not leave FSU for the Miami job, we cannot help but think that the pros provide an interesting challenge to any coach; and if the right offer is made to Peterson, who has been described as pro-style coach, he won't hesitate to leave.

No matter what the outcome, the next week or two should be most interesting while the situation develops.

Frosh Cagers Pierce Manatee

The Seminole freshmen, led by guard Jeff Hogan with 31 points, romped to an easy 82-58 win over the Manatee Junior College Lancers Saturday night in Tully Gym.

The game proved to be a good warm-up for the Tribe's big game with the undefeated U of F freshmen tomorrow at 5:30 p.m. in Tully Gym.

The baby Gators will pit their 10-0 record against the Seminoles' 4-3. The first period was marked by Manatee's inability to move the ball. The Lancers were plagued by interceptions and stolen balls (mainly by forward LaDon Boyd and Hogan) and pressure from the entire Tribe on both offense and defense.

Hogan led the Seminoles from the opening minutes of the game. He pumped in 18 points on seven field goals and four free throws in the first half.

Hogan put FSU ahead 10-8 with 14:58 left in the half as the Tribe held the Lancers to one point for almost nine minutes.

Gators Tomorrow

Flambeau Sports Writer

The Seminoles took an early lead away from Memphis State Saturday night in Tully Gym, but had to hang on for dear life to save themselves in the closing moments of the game as they tipped the scrappy Tigers 67-63.

The Tribe, leading by 13 points at one time, was ahead by only one point, 60-59, with 3:20 left in the game. However, a pair of layups by Gary Schull and three shots from the charity line by Jim Lyttle gave the Seminoles the margin they needed.

FSU's Darrel Stewart, Brian Murphy and Lyttle played excellent defensive ball as they held the Tigers' Mike Butler to 11 points. Butler, who has averaged 25.8 points per game this season, was held to four points in the first half, including only one field goal. Schull led the Seminoles in statistics, scoring 20 points and pulling down 12 rebounds.

Ron Malmen, making his initial appearance for the Tribe this season, after being sidelined with a broken elbow, only played for 15 minutes but showed evidence that he may be back in his old form before too long.

With 11 minutes left in the first half he sank a 30-foot set shot from the outside. A minute later he made a brilliant pass to Don Biggs who sank the layup that put the Tribe in the lead for the rest of the game.

Bill Phillips showed some great defensive work for the Tribe against the Tigers. In the brief periods that he was in the game, the big forward pulled down 11 rebounds, seven of them in the first five minutes he played.

At one time this year the Tribe's free throw percentage was up near 78 percent, fourth in the nation. Saturday night, however, the Seminoles connected on only 54 percent from the charity line.

"I don't know what has happened in the last four or five games," said FSU Coach Bud Kennedy. "We're going to have to do a lot of work at the free throw line if we want to beat Florida."

Seminole Survive Late Tiger Charge

FSU Asst. Coach Hugh Durham said, "We played well in the first half, especially on defense. Stewart and Murphy were great. They were assigned to cover Butler, but any time he got loose, someone else picked him up."

"Our big problem was that we couldn't keep up the momentum in the second half," Durham continued. "If we could contain match our offense to the Tribe, we'd be a great ball club."

one-two in four of the nine individual events. Of the three first places won by the Gators, Tribe poolmen captured the second and third honors.

The first competition of the meet, the 400-yard medley relay, was indicative of the way that the meet unfolded.

A team of backstrokers Terry Schlichenmiller, breastroker Scott Guertler, butterflyer Jim Mauldin and freestyler Feldmeyer outdistanced the Gator medley team by almost a pole length to give FSU a quick seven points in the contest.

Lloyd then succeeded this performance by turning in a time of 1:52.4, a meet record, to beat out teammate Aldeitch for honors in the 200-yard freestyle.

Diguard picked up two of the U of F's three first place prizes by capturing the 50-yard freestyle in record 22 seconds for the pool relay and a tie for the meet record. Dawson pulled a surprise in the competition by beating out sophomore teammate Terry Maul in the 200-yard butterfly with a time of 2:09.3.

The Seminoles' versatile Dick Abbott and Feldmeyer finished second and third, respectively, to Diguard as he crashed a new meet record and tied a pool mark in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 48.5 seconds. Breastroker Jack Barnacastle outlasted Gator captain Charlie King in the 200-yard breaststroke.

In the 400-yard freestyle relay, the Tribe team of sophomores Ken Palmer, senior Charlie Robertson, Alderich and Lloyd slashed a record by posting a 3:20.4, despite the Tribe tankers only lost points by graduation, as they edged the U of F at home 72-60 year. The victory extended the Seminoles' two-season victory streak 17 straight dual meets.

The frosh swimmers lost all breaker to the "best ever" yearlings, being dunked 50-0 the final freestyle relay.

"The freshman performance was surprisingly better than we hoped," remarked FSU Coach Stuts after the meet.

The FSU yearling tankers to an 18-16 lead with Sem Jim Smith's win in the 200 individual medley, the fourth.

The first-year swimmers did the right lead until the victory in the 400-yard freestyle relay the finale. The Gators' Andy Pherson, winner of the 50 and 100 yard freestyle, beat out the Tribe Jim Thompson in the final relay. The reptiles turned 3:23.8 time with the Seminoles inches behind.

The Seminoles carry a 1-0 record into the meet against Georgia next Saturday.

Three Candidates Announce Hopes For NP, UP Support

New Party and University Party began to open up their campaigns a little more today with the announcement of three more candidates seeking women's and men's vice presidential nominations.

their government and to increase participation of interested people. "It is through these means that all of the branches of our government will produce at their maximum capacity," she said.

favor such proposals. Thus with a spirit of political objectiveness and a strong will to serve, I seek the nomination and election of men's vice president," said Prugh.

As well as being president of the student body at Daytona Beach Junior College, he was a member of Phi Theta Kappa honorary society for junior colleges, freshman senator and class treasurer.

In the summer of 1965, he was a congressional intern with US Sen. Spessard L. Holland. Last year he won second place in an international oratorical contest in Chicago.

He is presently on the FSU debating squad, Prugh, a recipient of the Ford Foundation Scholarship, has maintained a 3.85 grade point average.

Eric Falk

Eric Falk, student senator, announced today that he will seek the nomination for men's vice president at the University Party convention next Tuesday.

"As a candidate for the University Party nomination for men's vice president, I would like to emphasize the often overlooked potential for service which lies in that office," Falk said.

"Men's Senate not only serves the areas of special concern to men, but also acts as a source and originator for measures which benefit all students," Falk continued.

According to Falk, there are many ways in which a dynamic and productive Men's Senate can be of use to FSU.

By virtue of his Senate experience and training received from three parliamentary procedure courses, he said he would be able to translate this idea into fact.

Falk said, "I would like to help

Timothy Prugh

Timothy F. Prugh today announced that he is seeking the New Party nomination for Men's Vice President.

He is a transfer student from Daytona Beach Junior College where he was president of the student government.

"On my arrival at FSU, I immediately became aware of the lack of opportunity for the junior college transfer to become involved in Student Government. After a trimester of viewing the combined problems of fraternities, independents, and junior college transfers, I feel that my objectivity qualifies me for the post of men's vice president," said Prugh.

"I have studied the proposals of the New Party and concur with and

Mason Speaks On Function Of Changing Court

"The Changing Role of the Supreme Court," will undergo a second scrutiny tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium under the auspices of the University Lecture Series, announced Kay Vernon, director of special events, today.

Dr. Alpheus Thomas Mason, a McCormick professor of jurisprudence from Princeton University, will deliver a lecture on "The Supreme Court and Federalism". The lecture series began last trimester with a speech by US Supreme Court Justice William J. Brennan, Jr., on the "Bill of Rights".

Introducing Mason will be John Vanderoef, professor of government at FSU. Vanderoef is currently working on his doctorate at Princeton. Mason is his major professor.

Service Clan To Rush Tomorrow

Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity will have open rush at 7:30 p.m. in room 202 of the Education Bldg. tomorrow. Dr. Robert Spivey, head of the Dept. of Religion and an APO advisor, will be the guest speaker.

Iota Kappa chapter, the number one APO chapter in the nation, invites all men interested in service to the campus, community and nation to attend, said Steve Hand, APO president.

APO strives to build leadership and responsibility in its members, said Hand. Those who pledge will participate in such service projects as "White Christmas," the "Ugly Man Contest," charity drives, scouting activities and registration, he continued.

While service is the fraternity's primary function, it also has many social activities.

Religion Series Sponsors Clark Lecture Tonight

Dr. Clark, ass. professor of ethics at Union Theological Seminary, will lecture on "The Evolution of Religion and Secularism" at 8 p.m. in Longmire Auditorium.

This is the second of a series of lectures in the lecture series, "New Perspectives on Religion", sponsored by the Dept. of Religion. The series is designed to introduce the University community to current problems in religion, according to Dr. Robert Spivey, chairman of the FSU Dept. of Religion, who received a BA degree from the University, a BD degree from the Theological Seminary and a PhD from Yale University.

He is the author of "The Ethical Dimension of Albert Schweitzer," "The Church and Residential Segregation" and "The Christian View Against Poverty". In addition, he is a contributor to various religious and professional publications.

New Party Gets Two Defectors; Negative Campaigning Charged

More Student Party members, Alice Barrett and Jimmy W. Stevens, today defected to the New Party.

A letter to Gene Stearns, chairman of the Student Party (SP), from Fritz, presidential nominee of the SP and the "Flambeau", Miss Barrett spoke for both when she

Ballard Appointed

Gene Ballard has been appointed campaign chairman of New Party, announced Fred McDonald, chairman of New Party, today. Ballard's duties will be to campaign for the party as a whole instead of a particular candidate, McDonald said.

said, "We were opposed to the tactics of negative campaigning and personalism in contrast to issue orientation."

Both students had been active in SP. Stevens, a member for seven years, has headed delegations to conventions and nominated candidates for six years. Miss Barrett, a member for two years, was a delegate to two conventions.

Both were recently members of the Graduate Steering Committee of Rick Fritz for Student Body President.

"It is our opinion that New Party offers an alternative to the mentioned faults of campus politics and offers a reflection of things to come," Miss Barrett said.

Miss Barrett explained that she sent the letter to the "Flambeau" to publicly counteract Stearns' earlier statement that only two SP members, Steve Winn and Jeff Gorelick, had left the organization.

Flambeau Editorials

FLAMBEAU editorials do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the student body as a whole or administration of Florida State University. Editorials reflect the editorial policy of the FLAMBEAU.

Politics

With election fever spreading somewhat like the great plague, even so far as to take one of our editors from us--donna eis requiem--it is once again necessary for the "Flambeau" to clarify its position in relation to student political campaigns.

As much as certain political factions would like to convince the campus otherwise, the "Flambeau" does not and will not bias itself in favor of one particular candidate or party during the campaign.

All candidates will have equal opportunity to submit propaganda to the paper and have it printed. If there seem to be more news releases from one candidate or party than another, it's only because that person or group is working a little bit harder to get elected.

The "Flambeau" is acutely aware of its unique position as a monopoly press and feels that it is acting in the best interest of the student body not to favor or actively back a candidate either through preferential treatment or editorial endorsement.

Because the "Flambeau", unlike many other campus newspapers, chooses not to make decisions for the constituency, it therefore limits its campaign activity to being a public forum for the candidates and the electorate.

This policy places a greater responsibility on the student body than normally weighs down the average group of voters, since it means that each voter must keep up daily with the campaign so that he may make an intelligent choice on election day.

There can be no cliquish king-makers at FSU, either in Student Government or in the "Flambeau". Only the informed and concerned electorate has that kind of power.

Exciting New Party Challenges Appear

To the Editor:

It is very evident that there are many students on this campus who are not very satisfied with student government. Most of us that have shown little if any interest in student government have adopted this so-called "apathy" because to us, student government has always seemed a social club, or else a proving ground for politicians-to-be. Student government was to us only an extension of privilege to those who expressed a desire to be before the public eye and who enjoyed feeling important.

Most of us, I feel, did not hold anything personally against any of these duly elected leaders -- as we didn't know them -- but simply felt that they were a self-perpetuating group, a small group sharing essentially the same interests and ambitions, a group which looked upon student government as a means to further their own careers, and as an institution which reinforced their own point-of-view.

Student government, then, had become synonymous with the interest of this group. This has been our image of student government at FSU (and I sincerely feel that I speak more than myself), and there has been no reason to alter this belief, despite the fact some of us thought that one of last year's candidates was not of this group originally. The fact that a group of students has taken the initiative to form a third party on campus seems to demonstrate to me, at least, that some members of the student body feel that the state of student government is not hopelessly unchangeable. Although I must admit that I am a little skeptical as to their chances to alter the status quo to any great extent, that is, to bring about any changes in the way things are done so as to insure the achievement of other student interests than just those connected with student government, I must admit that I am both interested and excited about the possibilities of this group who call themselves appropriately enough, the New Party. This letter is only my way of saying Good Luck and I hope that you at least engender some activity in the so-called "apathetic majority" of the student body. If your views are as I have been led to understand, then many students who have with student government off as a cause may have to reconsider pessimism and take a new look at what student government can accomplish for them with new blood, new ideas. I can only hope it is a substantial and more representative of genuine student interests than what has been offered in the past.

Tribes To Go Gator Gigging Tonight In Tully

by BILL THOMAS
Flambeau Sports Writer

The Seminoles go Gator hunting tonight in Tully Gym. Tip-off time for the cagers at 7:45 p.m. marks the second meeting of the season between the two clubs. The U of F won the first game Dec. 8 in Gainesville by a score of 75-62.

The Gators' record is now 8-4 after downing Mississippi 79-49, Saturday.

One of the big men on offense for the Gators is 6-3 Harry Winkler. Only a sophomore, Winkler led U of F in the win Saturday night over the Rebels with 17 points.

"He is very quick for his size, and can muscle his way around the court, forcing opponents to foul him," reported Gator Coach Norm Sloan.

Dave Miller, 6-5 forward, is another sophomore to watch on the Gators' squad. He can hit the basket from just about anywhere on the floor. Miller works well under the basket and can put good pressure on his man.

Gary Keller, 6-9, and Jeff Ramsey, 6-10, control the backboards for the Gators.

"Keller has quick, cat-like moves, good hands, deft shooting from the inside and a great feel for tip-ins," Sloan said.

Ramsey's 63 percent average from the floor last year as a sophomore set a new SEC record, and his 197 rebounds helped put him on the All-SEC sophomore team.

Sloan reported Sunday, "We have gotten some fine play from Winkler and Miller who have been starting, and Mike Rollyson and Gary McElroy have given us some bench strength."

"Our juniors, Keller, Ramsey and Skip Higley, are doing well but we are going to have to do a little more work on our pivot play," the Gator mentor said.

FSU Coach Bud Kennedy plans to start the game much as he has in the past, with Jim Lyttle and Darrel Stewart at the guard spots, Gary Schull and Bill Peacock forward, and either Don Biggs or Ken Doyle at the post.

Kennedy said Ron Malmen, who has missed much of the season due to a November injury, is coming along fine.

"Malmen played about 15 minutes in the Memphis State game Saturday night," Kennedy said, "and we expect that much or more out of him tonight."

Kennedy also said his game plan would be much like it was for the first meeting of the two squads last month.

"Our big difference is in our defense. When we played in Gainesville we had a good individual defense."

Since then we've developed a good team defense. We're much superior now in that respect, and it makes us tougher," Kennedy noted.

"Our rebounding strength is also strengthened. We're more determined on the boards than we were," the Seminoles coach added. The FSU freshmen play the baby Gators at 5:30 p.m. in Tully Gym in a game preceding the varsity contest.

Student turnout is expected to be far greater than previous Seminoles contests as the Tribe faces its archrivals from Gatland, and seats should be at a premium.

BACK IN ACTION

... after being sidelined by a broken elbow, is Seminole forward Ron Malmen (23). The big junior bucketed eight points and pulled in five rebounds during the limited action he saw Saturday against Memphis State.

Seating Scarce For U of F Game

Student seating for tonight's basketball games with the U of F in Tully Gym (freshman game-5:30 p.m., varsity game-7:45 p.m.) will be limited to the north side of the gym and the end zones, and they are expected to be filled early.

The athletic dept. has announced that when the gym's 5,000 seat capacity is reached no one else will be admitted. They urge students who want to attend to come early.

The varsity game will be carried by WTNT (1270) radio beginning at 7:40 p.m.

Freshmen Meet In First Contest

A small but determined Seminole freshmen will battle tall and undefeated U of F cagers tonight in Tully Gym at 5:30 p.m. The Tribe will try to improve its win-loss record to 1-0 by 5-3 while throwing the baby Gators for their first loss in 11 games.

The Seminoles will be led offensively by Jeff Hogan, 24-4, 14.3 and 14.0 points per game respectively.

Hogan leads the free throw percentage with a scizzling 81.4. Geller is the leading rebounder after grabbing 19 off the boards against Pensacola Junior College.

The baby Gators, led by center Neal Walk and high jumper All-American Andy Owens, lost the game after an impressive victory Saturday over highly regarded St. Petersburg College, 88-73.

Walk poured in 31 points. Owens collected 20 against SPJC Trojans.

Racquettes Post Gateorette Sweep

The Racquettes swamped the U of F women netters here Saturday whitewashing the Gateorettes 12-0.

Kathleen Geraghty (FSU) defeated Eve Hersherberger (U of F) 6-0, 6-0; Lynn Chalmers (FSU) outstroked Sandy Bomar (U of F) 7-5, 3-6, 6-4 and Lee Kyser (FSU) disposed of Nat Perlman (U of F) 6-1, 6-0.

Mary Moorehead (FSU) defeated Sandy Schoenberger (U of F) 6-2, 6-1; Suzanne Duckworth (FSU) stopped Renness Rogers (U of F) 6-0, 6-2 and Bunny Smith (FSU) won three sets in a 4-6, 6-0, 6-1 victory over Diane Davis (U of F).

Donna Russell (FSU) blanketed Kathy Fulcher (U of F) 6-0, 6-0; Karen Boughan (FSU) defeated Peggy Long (U of F) 6-1, 6-0.

In doubles matches, Geraghty-Chalmers (FSU) defeated Perlman-Hersherberger (U of F) 6-1, 6-0; Moorehead-Nancy Hammerstrom (FSU) teamed to outlast Schoenberger-Bomar (U of F) 7-5, 7-5; Smith-Anne Manes (FSU) downed Davis-Rogers (U of F) 6-2, 6-0 and Russell-Ariene Krazczyk (FSU) swept over Fulcher-Long (U of F) 6-0, 6-0.

Two Parties Create Coalition For Single Convention, SG Elections

by ELLEN WEISS

Flambeau Asst. News Editor

A joint convention of two of the three political parties now on campus will replace the planned conventions of New Party and University Party as a result of the formation of a coalition for the coming election, the parties announced today.

The Tuesday convention in the Union will give equal vote strength to each of the parties regardless of number of delegates representing the respective parties, said Parris Glendening, New Party treasurer. He also emphasized that the parties, although joined for the elections, will remain independent of each other, afterward.

In a joint statement of intentions, the NP executive council and UP executive board agreed to the following specifications.

1. That the New Party and the University Party will have a joint and open convention.
2. That there will be equal representation at this convention in terms of delegates, interests and control of the convention.
3. That there will be an open nomination procedure at this convention in which each respective party nominates any candidate of its own choosing for any or all offices. This agreement being made with the understanding that whichever candidate should carry the majority of the convention will receive the support of the members and organization of both respective parties.
4. That the New Party platform will be adopted.
5. That the New Party and the University Party will each remain a separate and independent party, maintaining its own party organization, its own constitution and its own officers.
6. If for any reason two-thirds of either party delegation should refuse to endorse a candidate, then that party delegation shall have the right to nominate its own candidate for the respective office in question.

UP Statement

Conrad Bell, chairman of University Party, issued this statement on the coalition.

"After much consideration and thought, the executive board has decided that the University Party-New Party coalition would be best for both parties. Both have the basic principle that they stand for a party of all students from all phases of student life. Both are progressive in their platforms and goals.

"Another common meeting ground is found in that both planned to run 'positive' and not 'negative' campaigns.

"Due to some of these shared basic beliefs, we felt it would be detrimental to UP to have a third party in operation whose beliefs are closer to ours than those of the third established party.

"It was decided that a UP-NP coalition would be the best way to conduct our aims in Student Government were met.

"I personally feel the combining of forces for this campaign will give the students a much stronger slate of candidates than could otherwise be expected. The combined progressive platforms of both parties will give the FSU student much to look forward to in the next Student Government year. I feel the influence of NP on UP will cause us to re-evaluate our own goals and aims and evolve a much stronger party after the coalition ends."

NP Statement

The executive council of New Party released the following statement concerning the union of the two parties.

"We of the New Party feel that all the students at FSU should know just why New Party is so late in the race, it is felt by those who make up the party organization that a temporary coalition be formed with the University Party for this first, and most important, election.

"We fully intend to remain an autonomous and authentic third party on the FSU campus, keeping our own party organization intact, our own constitution in operation and our own officers on the job. Following this election New Party intends to devote all its energies toward gaining further strength in numbers and to seek candidates for the senate races in March.

"Our principal reasons for joining with the University Party in this temporary coalition—and not with student party—boil down to three. First and most important, University Party agreed to accept our entire platform intact.

"Secondly, we feel that such a temporary coalition is politically wise at this time, for without such a coalition Student Party will inadvertently be the most likely party to profit from a third party entering the political arena at such a late date.

"This is due to the fact that New Party and University Party will be seeking in large part the same potential voters, consequently NP and UP would end up only fighting each other.

"Also, although we do see much room for improvement in UP and although we do not accept all their potential candidates without reservations, they are, nevertheless, the same as those of us, those of SP, whose candidates we could not endorse at all.

"Also, we would never be able to condone Student Party's continued negative stand on so many points we feel to be basic and its failure to come out with any positive and substantial issues.

UP AND NP CHAIRMEN

... Conrad Bell (r.) and Fred McDonald sign the coalition agreement that puts the two parties together against the third campus party for the Feb. 8 election.

Lecture Series Presents Mason In 'Changing Role' Talk Tonight

Dr. Alpheus Thomas Mason of Princeton University will speak tonight for the University Lecture Series programs on "The Changing Role of the Supreme Court" at 8:30 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium.

His lecture, the second in the University Lecture Series for 1965-66, is on the subject, "The Supreme Court and Federalism". Chairman Nicholas Heerema of the lecture series said John S. Vandevoort, asst. prof. of government, will introduce Mason. An informal reception will be in the large lounge of Longmire after the address.

Mason has written four books on Justice Louis D. Brandeis. One of them, on the best seller lists for several months in 1947, was "Brandeis: A Free Man's Life". His biography of Chief Justice Harlan Stone, "Harlan Fiske Stone: Pillar of the Law" was published in 1957 and received one of the three $5,000 "Liberty and Justice Book Awards" of the American Library Assoc.

A native of Maryland, Mason received a BA degree from Dickinson College in 1920, a master's degree in 1921, and a PhD degree in 1923, from Princeton University. He taught for two years at Trinity College (now Duke University) and then returned to Princeton.

In 1947 he succeeded Edward S. Corwin, under whom he had studied for the doctorate, as McCormick Professor. Mason has been perennially honored in undergraduate courses for his lectures and he also is in demand over the country as a speaker. He was on the FSU campus in 1962 to deliver a lecture in the Government Lecture Series.

May Speech Sure

Jack May, asst. prof. of psychology, will lecture on "Urbanization and the Family" at 7:30 p.m. tonight in 101 Love Bldg. as the second speaker in the current American Studies Lecture Series.

The theme of the series is "Urbanization: Impacts on America" and the series features faculty members speaking on various aspects of the problem.

May received a PhD from the University of Indiana in 1965. His doctoral dissertation was entitled "A Developmental Study of Imagination".

Theatre Quartet Performance Set

Studio Theatre will present its first production of the second trimester Friday in Moore Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Admission is free.

The program, "Sonnets and Scenes from Shakespeare", will be performed by Annette Hannon, Peter Saputo, Paula Milton and Bob Grubbs, members of the Shakespeare Drama Quartet. Grubbs is the director of the quartet.

Some of the plays from which scenes will be read are "Hamlet", "Macbeth", "The Taming of the Shrew" and "The Tempest".

Other Studio Theatre productions this trimester will be Feb. 28 and April 3.

Forms Asked NP Platform

There is a genuine need for reforms in the area of student services, as well as a means of improvement that can be effectively carried out by Student Government," said Fred McDonald, chairman of New Party, today.

It became evident, he said, in a poll concerning the needs of students on campus conducted last year, that "actively champion reforms".

One of the party's platform, the Student Services and Development, the results of the poll, one of the following solutions proposed actions.

Revising contracts will cover the trimester (term) at a higher than be effective for the year.

University food services will be open to opening every two trimesters to insure the highest of the lowest reasonable cost. Any concern should offer the service at the most reasonable price. The university nor will enjoy monopoly rights.

As a solution to the parking problem which is presently facing the campus, the university will encourage that the next two wheel-vehicles be allowed on campus with the exception of cars for the handicapped, the only four-wheeled vehicle of the FSU maintenance service vehicles.

There is a need for a greater use of phone service on campus in rooms and in the various departmental buildings.

Graduate assistants and student assistants should be allowed for six-leave as is the case with other University employees.

Registration should be reduced so as to cut down on the energy and expense of all students during the regular registration period at the beginning of the trimester.

Students with at least a 2.2 average should be allowed to register.

There is a need for better career counseling in terms of professional counselors, especially for students in basic sciences.

Class regulations (especially women) should be minimized. There should be no restrictions on the use of any student activity.

Library or any student activity should be open to those of individual good.

Articles of the "Flambeau" should be distributed on the FAMU campus. News from both campuses should be eventually establishing a common newspaper.

To be continued tomorrow.

!#*(?)! Rules

After a diligent search, and several heated skirmishes with various social directors and dorm mothers, we finally obtained copies of the "hidden" rules we mentioned last fall.

Thanks to the kind assistance of Dean Jack Arnold, we are now able to discuss the 27 pages of women's dorm rules and Dean of Women Katherine Warren's justification for their existence.

Miss Warren said that each house council is allowed to make rules on subjects not covered in the housing or social regulations, because the "physical facilities" of the dorms differ.

For the enlightenment and edification of those who might have trouble relating the rules to this justification, or who in their ignorance might see no need for the rules at all, we have presented a few of the dorm rules, along with their rational justification.

Let's start off with an easy one, the rule against women talking out of windows. Only the very foolish can miss the relationship of this rule to the dean of women's justification.

Obviously, the key word here is "windows", for if there were no windows (physical facilities) there would be no need for this particular rule.

A little more complicated is the regulation of one dorm that states "Robes must be worn in the hall from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m." To the dull student, this might seem to pertain only to the existence of halls within the dorm. However, the more accomplished logician will readily see that this rule is designed to bring FSU women into conformity with the great physical facilities of our universe: the rising and setting of the sun, the jet streams in the upper atmosphere, etc.

Perhaps most interesting of all are the voluminous rules governing sun-bathing. Anyone who knows anything about women will quickly realize that these rules are related to the physical facilities of the girls themselves.

Regarding this subject, one house council proclaims: "REMEMBER: Consideration, Common Sense and Discretion. We know you have it so why not use it." Just in case you don't have it, the house council has thoughtfully provided seven rules to make sure you act as though you did.

We hope that by now those of you who have been wondering why the supposedly unenforceable social standards have been made into dormitory rules will understand the reasoning for such coercion. Also, we hope that the Faculty Senate understands why the administration has not complied with its recommendation that a large number of minor housing rules be eliminated.

In the hope that we still may rid ourselves of these ridiculous rules we would encourage the Faculty Senate to abolish the physical facilities which necessitate their existence: namely the doors, windows, parlors and halls on campus. But please, before you abolish girls, get rid of the house councils.

Crip -Calling Fallacious Reasoning

To the Editor:

Regarding the letter of Jan. 13, 1966, by Mr. Niemeyer in which he refers to: "... the faculty's consistent thinking on the subject" ... of omitting area six from basic studies. The faculty as a whole did not omit area six, nor did Faculty Senate, as a whole, exterminate personality development. There was a minority report which is in the Faculty Senate Minutes for Nov. 17, 1965.

I have taken the liberty of reproducing excerpts from those minutes on the grounds that they are of public record and have a vital bearing on the health and welfare of every student on this campus. I have not conferred with Dr. Smith, who presented the report, and am doing this without her consent or knowledge.

"He (Dr. Robert Hull) said that members of the (academic affairs) committee were not in agreement and he requested that the president recognize Dr. Louise Smith who wished to present a minority report. The minority report follows: 'The proposed program of 'basic studies' recommended by the Academic Affairs Committee, in general, increases the number of courses open to students, thus providing for greater freedom in choice of courses and for flexibility in program planning. With this I concur. It falls, however, to meet adequately certain very basic aspects needed in every person's general education. In my opinion, it eliminates the personal development area. Psychology and sociology are transferred to the social science area. Home and family life, nutrition, health education, and personal development are omitted from the recommended program. In 1947, the President's Commission on Higher Education, composed of eminent scholars and citizens, stated the purposes of 'general education which should be the common experience of all educated men and women ...'

I am listing only those portions which Dr. Smith says have been eliminated and that are directed to courses offered in the social and natural sciences. To attain a satisfactory educational and social adjustment. '7. To maintain and improve own health and to cooperate and intelligently in solving community health problems. '9. To acquire the knowledge and skills necessary to attain a satisfactory life. '10. To choose a socially and personally satisfying career that will permit one to use full his particular intellectual abilities.'"

I sincerely regret that I cannot permit me to list the reasons given by Dr. Smith keeping area six. I was particularly interested in noting that there was no comment from anyone following her presentation.

It would appear that Faculty did not care to answer her argument as to why Faculty Senate has seen fit to answer my inquiries into this matter.

Regarding the statement by Niemeyer that there are courses in this area, I disagree in general. I suspect there are "Crip courses" in area, in every department, in school and college in this area. However, it is an informal logic (argumentum ad hominem) to condemn an entire area on the basis of one or two courses. Assuming (perhaps fairly) the basic studies curriculum was done on behalf of the state would like to know "where" students, did you ask? "do you know what's for the state good if you haven't asked" Sen. Johnnie

'Flambeau' Editorial Ironical

To the Editor:

It seemed to me somewhat ironical that a "Flambeau" editorial pointed out the dangers involved in letting someone else use your food plan card just a day after I had voiced concern over an apparent breach of contract by food plan officials. It has long been maintained in Honor Court proceedings that signing the card which bears a non-transferable clause binds one to those terms. I can see no fault in this logic and believe it to be fair.

This, however, works both ways. On the same card is given the menu from which students may choose.

Sometime since the beginning of this trimester this menu was changed and food which was part of the plan must now be paid for. Specifically, one (according to the card) is entitled to juice, fruit, or cereal and eggs, etc. Now, if one gets cereal he may not get eggs. I have notified Attorney General Erickson of these facts and he has assured me that he will look into the legalities of the situation. If the changes are not rescinded it would mean that Morrison officials could arbitrarily charge the Food Plan menu and the students would have no recourse.

Carl J. Domino

Candy Surprises

To the Editor:

My organization was fortunate enough to receive a large carton filled with the individual boxes of candy sent to Vietnam by the people from Florida State University. I was lucky enough to get one with your card in it.

Frankly, I am more than pleasantly surprised at this expression from the people of the United States. Every man in my command (the number approximately 2,000) received a box under the "Christmas Star" operation. We held a party for some orphans this morning and much of the material that we used came from these packages. We are indeed grateful.

The great majority of us recognize that the great majority of the American people side with us. We also understand that the protesting element is considered more "newsworthy" although indications are that sentiment is running over more strongly against them.

'Society' Given National Charter

The Society for the Advancement of Management received its national charter last night at the Union. Charles Rovetta, dean of the School of Business, presented the charter to Jack Dobson, faculty adviser of the newly-organized society.

"The society has three main objectives," said Dobson: "to bring together business executives and students, to exchange information on management problems and to give students the opportunity to organize, plan and direct such an organization."

"You need not be a business major to become a member," said Joel Manary, club president. "A non-freshman classification is the only qualification."

"Students now have the opportunity to join an extra-curricular club which can develop management potential through seminars, panel discussions and leadership clinics."

NUP

As one smiling New Party member said when she found out about the coalition with the University Party. "It's in the finest tradition of European politics."

However, as a not too thorough glance around the campus would indicate, this is not Europe, nor are the conventions of European politics going to help much in understanding exactly what effect this coalition will have on the coming executive election.

For the UP, the coalition apparently will yield a positive through the creation of a double negative. They are probably not going to gain any new support over last year since both NP and UP are going after approximately the same kind of voter. On the other hand, however, they are not going to lose voters by splitting this common group between the two parties.

For the New Party, the coalition means staying alive. Because of its late entry into the race, and because of the party's reported inability to produce a strong presidential candidate, more than likely the NP would have run a poor third in the election, thus effectively taking it out of campus politics.

Having discreetly chosen survival over inflexible idealism, NP should be able to gather enough strength to make a real impact on the senatorial races later this year.

It is in the senate that the NP will be able to most effectively put into practice its far-seeing platform, which the party claims is its prime function anyway -- and not the search for glory of a leather padded chair on the Union's third floor.

These are the results that NP and UP admit they'd like to see and which they believe are quite possible. However, left unsaid is what the coalition will mean for the Student Party.

On the bread and butter level the coalition means that Student Party will be about $250 behind the NP-UP group. With coalition candidates declaring support by both parties, they will be able to get monetary support from both groups instead of just one as is customary.

If nothing else, Student Party is going to be outmaneuvered by two-to-one -- a very critical handicap.

Too, the Student Party image has been taking it on the chin for the past two weeks as the pure-in-heart NP has missed no opportunity to remind SP of its sins, lately using SP executive chairman Gene Stearns as its chief target.

While privately crying dirty pool, SP leaders have yet to effectively respond through a public, printed argument.

Should they continue this attitude of private pain and public silence, the election will have been over yesterday afternoon.

To the Editor:

I am glad to see signs of concern about the annual pigeon and squirrel extermination program at FSU.

When I first learned of the practice in December, 1963, I was quite puzzled since I had spent some time at several other universities, none of which had a squirrel or pigeon extermination program. Could it be, I speculated, that the administration could not bear any kind of spontaneity on this campus?

I, finally, asked the Director of Buildings and Grounds, Mr. Ray Green, Jr., about the practice with respect to why started it and for what. He stated that it was started many years ago by persons unknown, or at least unremembered; that the reasons for the extermination program are as follows:

Pigeons

1) reduction or elimination of mess made by pigeons.

2) reduction of insects brought to buildings by pigeons.

3) reduction of nest blocks on electrical wires.

4) reduction of amount of soot to electrical wire insulation.

5) reduction in the incidence of frightened girls (Girls, he said, frequently frightened by noise by squirrels in attics or on roofs).

They think the noises are being by men whose intentions are "unbearable").

I am willing to accept the implicit in all save the fifth reason, Girls who are frightened by noise by men who make like squirrels should surely be under more protective custody than afforded by a girl's

Still, there are values in these animals on the campus, of which were apparently consist when the policy of extermination expressed. I suspect that squirrels, especially, are a source of satisfaction, but frustration of students and faculty of FSU.

In any case, I suggest that policy be re-examined prior to Christmas Holidays of 1964. I am interested in pressing for a reduction of this policy should course, make a note of this on their 1964 calendar and preventive activities before

No Martyrs? Elect 'Pros'

To the Editor:

The candidates' motivation comes up in every campaign. Often someone is denounced as a "professional," who is in SG to promote his career. It seems that this is an "unhealthy" reason, why?

Let's examine the other species of politician. First there's the "dedicated martyr". This is the mythical creature who stands to gain nothing, but who is willing to give up sleep, grade points, and sometimes even money in order to render a public service. Bravo! One or two of these show up in each election.

Then there's the social politician.

He enjoys being a member of Sigma Gamma and having the feeling of self importance that goes with it. Enough said.

Or the Frat man who is filling a post for the sake of his fraternity's prestige. Etc.

What's wrong with a professional? One whose motivation is clear, and whose future depends on good performance, will at least be honest and/or conscientious. He may be timid about rocking the boat, and unimaginative in his position, but as long as we're short on martyrs, give me a professional.

SP Works Year Round For SG

To the Editor:

I have observed in the last several editions of the "Flambeau" that it seems to be the vogue for party defectors to write eloquent explanations as to why they have defected. When I received my Student Party membership card sometime ago, I did not consider writing to express my enthusiasm. However, now I think there is a need for a few positive comments on party politics.

I am proud that Student Party is the party with which I am affiliated because it has been actively interested in bettering Student Government all this year rather than just now at election time. In the fall the party held an election clinic, a dance, two serenades, and most important, a series of bi-weekly executive council meetings for the purpose of shaping party policy.

As an outgrowth of the work of interested and informed members, Student Party has formulated a comprehensive and realistic platform to be published in the near future. The convention of last week at which an entire slate of well-qualified candidates was nominated is indicative of the spirit and hard work which the party affords to FSU Student Government.

I honestly believe that Student Party has opened the door for active participation by any and all interested students. In a further attempt to include the widest possible range of student interest, the party will be conducting a membership drive the latter part of this week. I invite any student who wishes to contribute more than negative comments to join Student Party. I think you will find, as I have, that my party will be the one to revitalize and strengthen our Student Government.

Press Unfair

To the Editor:

On Jan. 11, the headlines of many Florida newspapers were concerned with the death of Prime Minister Shastri hours after the signing of the Russian-mediated India-Pakistan pact.

I wonder how many phenolized how little credit was given to Premier Kosygin and his staff for their part in the pact. I'm sure if the United States had pulled it off it would be well-publicized.

This seems a beautiful example of the one-sidedness we get from our free press. Time will tell how good the pact is. But the fact remains that the Russians are due a few back-pats which our press, in all fairness, should give them.

Foundation Receives Gift From Tallahassee 'King's Daughters'

Tallahassee circle of the King's Daughters has presented a $10,000 to the FSU Foundation. The presentation was made to President John Chamblor and Philip Lee, executive vice president of the foundation and director of university development.

Mrs. Roy A. Berga, president of the local circle, called the "in As Much Circle" said the money was used for financial assistance to students preparing for the ministerial fields. The organization has been assisting students in the ministerial fields for the past 20 years. In turning over the funds, $5,000 in cash and $5,000 in bonds, Mabel Lee, treasurer, said the gift was one of the final steps in disbanding the local organization, originally founded in 1894 as a branch of the national organization of the King's Daughters. The local group now numbers 33 members. Mrs. W. J. Owen, chairman of the finance and budget committee, said that a student at FSU was the recipient of the first scholarship ever given by the circle. The recipient, Sarah Lee Wells, is still working in the medical missionary field.

Dr. William Heard

'Mr. Biology' Dr. William Heard No Longer Teaching Basic 105

by MELODIE BETTS
Flambeau Feature Editor

Dr. William H. Heard, known on campus as "Mr. Biology", is no longer the exclusive professor of Biology 105.

For the first time in four years, Heard will not be teaching the basic biology course. Leroy Scott has taken his position as Heard has turned his attention to research and upper-class courses.

After receiving bachelor's, master's and doctor's degrees at the University of Michigan, Heard arrived at FSU in the fall of 1962 and began teaching Biology 105. In the ensuing year, he became the only instructor of the course when its location was moved from the Conrad Bldg. to Westcott Auditorium.

Heard began with a class of 72 students using a "blackboard, chalk and eraser". Within a season he was seated on the stage of Westcott with a "grease pencil and 500 blurred faces" in front of him. Preferring the smaller class, Heard said he feels he loses the student's identity in the large class. "I know nothing about them. Every name on the roll sheet looks like the next," he said.

"When a student comes in for help, I don't know how to help him. It's difficult to know what's wrong... if the student is attending classes... studying the material... or what can be done."

Heard said the only time he can rectify the lost identity between student and teacher is at final grading time.

"It is easier to make a completely unbiased curve when you don't know the students involved," he said. Heard said the dull routine of lecturing was made interesting when students came to tell him their tales of woe after the posting of final grades.

He recalled having changed one grade in the past four years and "that happened to be a very special case involving a mentally as well as physically handicapped person."

However, he claims he is a very understanding man. He said he will listen to the student's reasons and sympathize but will not change a grade once the final curve has been announced.

During his four years of teaching basic biology, he has received many tokens including plastic frogs, corny jokes and notes on his car windshield.

"These add to the excitement of the job," he said. Heard said one of the reasons he disliked the large class in Westcott was that he could not communicate with the students in a question-answer period.

However, the final day of classes, he said, there are usually 50 people who stay after class to question him and many telephone him for answers to questions.

Now that the reign of "Mr. Biology" has come to a close, Heard is teaching two courses, one in invertebrate zoology and one in entomology, the study of "bugs, beetles and other crawling critters," Heard commented.

In addition to teaching, Heard is also conducting research in the distributing of fresh water mollusks in the Southeastern States.

Opera Tryouts Set

The Metropolitan Opera National Company will have auditions for all singers who are interested in joining the company.

The auditions will be given Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. in Moore Auditorium. It is not necessary to bring an accompanist.

'Theatre Tomorrow'

Studio Theatre will present its first production of the second trimester tomorrow night in Moore Auditorium at 8:30. Admission is free.

The program, "Sonnets and Scenes from Shakespeare", will be performed by Annette Hannon, Peter Saputo, Paula Milton and Bob Grubbs, members of the Shakespeare Drama Quartet.

Grubbs is the director of the quartet.

Some of the plays from which scenes will be read are "Hamlet", "Macbeth", "The Taming of the Shrew" and "The Tempest".

$10,000 IN CASH AND BONDS

'Dialogue' To Feature Champion Cohorts In Student Confrontation

A gripe-session exchange between FSU President John Champion, members of the Administrative Council and students has been scheduled for Monday at 4 p.m. in Moore Auditorium.

The forum, called "Dialogue", is sponsored by the Union Program Council Student-Faculty Relations Committee.

Champion will be on stage with George Fortin, comptroller; R. K. Shaw, treasurer and business manager; Pat Hogan, director of University relations; Dr. Karl Dittmer, vice president for academic affairs; Dr. Juanita Gibson, director of the Institute of Research; Dr. William Wharton, registrar and Dr. Harry Day, dean of students. "I am happy to be able to part in this event which will to attain good communications between faculty and students," in Champion, who will act as a moderator.

He added that he did not feel there was any animosity between students and faculty, but that the purpose of this forum was to keep the good relationships up, to iron out any points of University policy that might be unclear to students.

Champion also expressed regret that he could not deal in a dignified manner with students more than does.

Seminole Scorecard

By HANK SCHOMBER
Flambeau Sports Editor

The U of F Gators raked the Seminoles over the basketball coals for the second time this year Tuesday night and taught some bitter lessons in basketball fundamentals along the way.

The difference in the game was simple--the Seminoles were outclassed by the bigger, faster and stronger Gators.

This is not to say that the Seminoles are a poor team, but Tuesday night they weren't anywhere near the ability of the U of F cagers.

The Seminoles have showed some glaring fundamental weaknesses in their last few games, and especially Tuesday night.

Free throw shooting, an area where earlier in the season the Tribe was most proficient, has suddenly become a nightmare.

The Seminoles hit on only 17 of 30 free throws for a .567 average compared to a .750 clip for the Gators. Against their last three opponents, the Seminoles have hit on only .561 of their charity tosses while the opposition has connected on .659.

In the rebounding department the Seminoles were hurt in their play against the Gators. Although the statistics showed both teams pulling down an equal number, the Seminoles were not getting their rebounds where they needed them most--off their own boards. Throughout the second half the Tribe was stopped on only a single shot at a time as the Gator big men, using their height advantage to the fullest extent, swept the errant shots away.

There are 12 games left on the schedule--enough to salvage a strong winning season if the Seminoles can overcome their weaknesses.

In Saturday Swim

Freshmen Await Falcons

The Seminole frosh swimmers go up against Miami-Dade Junior College, the second of five opponents for the winter season, Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the Union Pool.

After doing surprisingly well against a U of F team sprinkled with former high school All-Americans, the spirited frosh have high hopes of swamping Dade, Saturday. Before last Saturday, the U of F was boasting that it had the best frosh team in the South. Unlike some teams, however, the FSU frosh failed to fold under the pressure of the powerful foe.

In last Saturday's meet against the Gators, the frosh proved themselves by outdoing their own previous performances--all but one swimmer did a better time than he had ever done in high school competition.

The flu, a factor which curtailed a few swimmers last week, is still holding back Barry Rich, ex FSU butterflyer.

Miami-Dade Assn. Coach Bill Faunce said, "An important factor on any freshman team is the transition the boys meet when they come to college. So practice time is sacrificed for study time, which we hope will pay off later on when they are still around to back up the varsity team."

Faunce, a new member of the coaching staff, summed up the freshman team as "a spirited bunch of boys with a fine sense of teamwork and dedication."

... whipped the U of F last Saturday at Gainesville. FSU captured seven of 11 events in pinning the loss on the Gators.

SPORTS ON CAMPUS

The FSU Equestrian Club will meet tonight at 8 p.m. in room 303, Montgomery Gym. Plans for a future Gymkana will be discussed. New members should be prepared to pay trimester fees at this time.

The Fraternity League in the intramural basketball program will open its season tonight with a nine-game slate in Tully Gym.

At 7 p.m., the FDT's take on the SAE's on court one, the KA's tangle with the FKT's on court two, and the KS's battle the PKT's on court three.

The ATO's engage the PKT's on court one, the DTD's grapple with the TEP's on court two and the SFE's scrap with the TX's on court three at 8 p.m.

At 9 p.m., the SN's on court one face the DX's, the FKA's clash with the SX's on court two and the DSP's run up against the MO's on court three.

1966 Intramurals

Three games in Tully Gym last night kicked off the bigger-than-ever 1966 intramural basketball season.

This year there will be two Fraternity Leagues with 17 teams and four Dorm-Independent Leagues with eight teams in each league, a total of 49 teams.

Edward Cubbon, director of the intramural activities, said that nearly 1,000 boys will participate in the program this year.

The games will be played every night that the gym is available. Week nights there will be games on each of the three courts each hour, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Games will also be played Saturdays from noon to 4 p.m.

Each team will play between six and 10 games during the regular season.

The regular season will last until Feb. 25. There will be playoffs between the top two teams in each league, followed by the finals to determine the champions.

Trophies will be awarded to the first and second-place winners.

Grappling Gate Pinned By Tri

The FSU grapplers wrestled off F matmen Saturday in Gainesville and overhwhelmed the Gators 7-0-1.

The Seminoles won seven weight classes before a larger crowd in Florida Gym. It was the meet of the season for both sides.

In the 123 lbs. class Jim Cummings (FSU) won the decision 8-2. Cummings (FSU) wrestling 130 lbs., pinned his man in 23 sec. of the second period. Cummings won 7-0 decision in 137 lbs. class.

In the middleweight division FSU's Larry Eare was decisively won by the U of F 4-0 in the 141 lbs. class. At 152 lbs., Kim Buerger (FSU) scored a pin in 12 sec. of the second period. John Ruff (FSU) wrestling at 150 lbs., won decision 7-0. Skip Fletcher, 167 lbs., decided his Gator.

The U of F won a close decision 5-4 over Al Holmes (FSU), 177 lbs. class.

For the heavyweights, Ronnie (FSU) won by a pin in 43 sec. of the first period wrestling 220 lbs. Greg Gilliland (FSU), weighing unlimited, pinned his opponent in 1:02 of the first period.

Coach-wrestler Butterbaugh said, "The boys did a fine job, but we have to iron out some major errors before we meet Tampa, Saturday. In previous years Tampa has dominated wrestling in Florida, but we have to believe, however, that FSU will prove to be the Spartans."

Panama Added

FSU Coach Bud Kemp announced last yesterday that the Seminoles had added a game to their 1966 basketball schedule.

Friday, Jan. 28, the Tribe will meet a team of stars from Panama, Central American stars from Panama, Central American stars from Panama, currently touring the playing various college teams.

Fritz Strikes Back — Urges Action

Calling for action as well as high ideals, Rick Fritz, Student Party candidate for student body president, came out today with a program to completely revise the judicial system.

Presenting specific criticisms of the judicial system, Fritz said he plans to revamp the court system from house councils to the state court.

"The most critical problem area is Honor Court," said Fritz. "What's wrong with the court system is that it doesn't have the support of the faculty. Without their support, 'honor' cases are impossible to effectively enforce," said Fritz. "The Honor Court work, which is done by students and faculty members with the majority being students," Fritz said. "By having the president of the University appoint faculty members to the court, we should increase faculty respect for the Honor Court," said Fritz.

Opera Company Next Week

For the Metropolitan Opera Company productions "Cinderella" and "The Marriage of Figaro," sponsored by the FSU Student Body, are now on sale in the Ticket Office.

Tickets may obtain tickets for the opera by presenting their ID card. Only one ticket may be purchased per student, however, so students will have to choose between the two shows. Kay Vernon, director of the opera company, said:

"The opera for the public are also on sale for $5 at the ticket office. The opera will be presented at the Moore Auditorium Monday evening at 8:30 p.m. 'Susannah' will be presented Tuesday night at 8:30 p.m. at the Westcott Auditorium."

The opera was composed by the great American composer, George Gershwin. It is a musical rather than an opera. It is considered by the music world as the greatest American musical and has written operas, said Mrs. Vernon. "Susannah" was also presented at the World's Fair as typical of the American musical.

It has been on the FSU faculty since 1945 and was selected as distinguished professor of the year by the FSU faculty.

Davidson, former FSU student, will sing the title role in "Susannah". The opera, being presented in a new version by Gunther Schuller, is a musical by Richard Martin and contains some of the most difficult vocal music ever written, said Mrs. Vernon.

The opera appeared in three parts at the Moore Auditorium while at FSU. She came to the FSU in 1961 to study with Elena Kramnik of voice.

The opera company was formed by the division of the Metropolitan Opera under the co-sponsorship of the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

The company's purpose is to bring the opera to audiences in cities throughout the country where the parent company would not be able to do so, said Mrs. Vernon.

"Also, to end the problem of the courts blaming themselves by investigating the same cases that they try, the office of the attorney general should be put in charge of investigating and prosecuting Honor Court cases," Fritz continued.

"Naturally, this will mean some revision in our thinking about the attorney general," said Fritz. "I believe what we must do here is

Salley Petition Protests Firing

Sparked by the unexpected dismissal of Ruby Cole, house manager of Salley Hall, six student-initiated petitions urging that she be retained were distributed throughout the hall, reported Paul Carter, a concerned resident.

According to Carter, Edith McCullum, director of housing, dismissed Mrs. Cole saying that she was "silly" and "not to tell a soul, to the day she left."

According to several Salley residents, the real reason for dismissal was Mrs. Cole's friendliness with the students. They added that some of the other members of the staff didn't like her because they felt it was bad practice.

As soon as they can be collected, the six petitions will be sent to Dean of Students Harry Day before Monday, when the dismissal will take effect. In addition to the petitions, signs arguing "Keep Her Here" and "Please don't leave Salley" adorn students' doors.

Students feel Mrs. Irene Ulmer, girls' counselor, was instrumental in the action. She refused to comment, saying that the Housing Office is in charge of the petitioning.

She did describe one petitioning to show their appreciation to Mrs. Cole. Carter admitted that there was such a bulletin but that she said a student had written "Why don't we have one that will do something about it?"

take the attorney general out of the cabinet-appointed bracket, make him an elected official of at least senior standing, and give him a big staff to do an efficient job of investigation."

Fritz said he would make the attorney general an elected official to take the office out of politics. "That's also why I'd like to have a senior in that office—so he wouldn't be making it a stepping stone to some other office."

"The attorney general would still be the chief interpreter of the Constitution and Statutes, but his other Cabinet duties such as head of the seating committee could be taken over by the other Cabinet members," Fritz continued.

"To balance the prosecuting attorney, I'd like to see a public defender system set up so that if a student needed help and didn't know who to ask he'd be able to get help from the court," said Fritz.

"These public defenders would be qualified students, faculty or staff. Of course, the student wouldn't have to use the public defender. He could use any counselor that he wants," Fritz pointed out.

Fritz said he also wants to see all the student courts from house councils on up brought under one consistent system that would protect the defendant through legal due process.

On the highest level, said Fritz, this would mean scrapping all the confusing so-called appellate courts which are cluttering up the landscape and set up a strongly structured appellate court of students and administrators within the court system.

Along with remodeling the courts, Fritz said the Honor Code should be changed from an inflexible chivalric code to more realistic standards of academic conduct.

Ferrante-Teicher Next Student Series

Ferrante and Teicher, the two-piano team that has arranged and recorded the themes from more than 100 Hollywood pictures that are the group of instrumentalists in the country, will perform here Thursday night, announced a spokesman for the Student Entertainment Series.

Tuesday Last Day

Tuesday is the last day for potential candidates to file declarations of candidacy for Student Government positions.

Declarations of candidacy may be picked up in room 337, Union, from Ted Hanes, commissioner of elections. The declarations must be filed by 5 p.m. Tuesday in order that the candidates be eligible to run for office.

BABY, IT'S COLD

... was one coed's comment as the Tallahassee weather suddenly took a turn for the worse yesterday.

sponsored program, entitled "Double Play" will be at 8:30 p.m. in Tully Gym. The larger location was selected for their performance this season because students had to be turned away last year when the popular duo-piano team was booked for Westcott Auditorium, according to Kathryn Vernon, director of special events.

Ferrante and Teicher, have not only been sold out for nearly every date they have played, but for the past four years, in 99 percent of their engagements, they have sold out the standee sections as well, said Mrs. Vernon.

Since doing "Theme From the Apartment", their piano pyrotechniques have racked up a sales total of over nine million single discs and three million long playing albums.

Among their biggest hits is their recording of "Exodus", the rendition of "Tonight" from "West Side Story" and the theme music from the film "Cleopatra". Their many arrangements and recordings from Hollywood pictures have earned them the title, "The Theme Team". Mrs. Vernon said. Three of their most popular recordings in this area are "The Seventh Dawn", "My Fair Lady", and their newest bonanza, "A Rage to Live".

'Circles' Hour Topic

"Going Around in Academic Circles" is the title of the lecture of Dr. J. Russell Reaver today at the English Coffee Hour in the Westcott House at 4:10 p.m.

Invited to speak by the English Coffee Hour Committee, he'll give readings of comic views of college life of students and professors in the US and England, said Jeanie Williamson of the committee.

Flambeau Editorials

FLAMBEAU editorials do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the student body as a whole or administration of Florida State University. Editorials reflect the editorial policy of the FLAMBEAU.

Malcontents

It would be nice to say "we're surprised", that we really thought that Faculty Senate would relent, practice some of the tenets of freedom that it mouths, show an interest in encouraging student concern with academics, see to it that the students of FSU got a FULL education; it would be nice to say, but we can't.

We recognized that the Faculty Senate, being a human institution, would very likely not change its position, would uphold the status quo. Therefore, we were not really too surprised that the senate did not make the changes we requested.

What did come as a surprise was the information from informed sources that the legislators did not even consider the "Flambeau" proposal, nor apparently did they have any intention of considering the proposal when they invited the "Flambeau" to speak.

According to the sources, the only procedural changes considered which came out of committee ignored the "Flambeau" completely. One had to do with inviting the student body president and vice president to Faculty Senate committee meetings and sessions. The other was a proposal to maintain the status quo.

That one passed.

Even the most unsubtle mind—even a student—should be able to see that the Faculty Senate apparently asked the "Flambeau" to speak as a kind of meaningless gesture; just a little something to placate the grumbling student malcontents so they would roll over and go back to their tinkering toys and stop bothering the busy men of the world.

In the light of this condescending action, it seems ironical, to say the least, that one faculty senator was more interested in lecturing the paper for its poor editorial manners than in discussing issues.

Despite the Faculty Senate's attempts to ignore and insult the "Flambeau" we will—with Christian charity—overlook these incidents and continue our efforts to make this a university for students as well as "Herr Professor".

FSU Vietnam Study Group

France Sparks SE Asian Problem

This article will discuss Vietnam under French rule, and Vietnamese nationalism. Students wishing to check sources of statements are referred to 1.) Jenness: "War and Revolution in Vietnam," 1965; 2.) Ennis: "French Policy and Developments in Indo-China," 1936; 3.) Robert C. Bone: "Contemporary Southeast Asia," 1962; and 4.) Thompson: "French Indo-China," 1937.

By 1888 the French completed the conquest of Indo-China. The purpose, as Jenness points out, was economic gain, and resulted in suffering and privation for the Vietnamese. As a result of the Japanese victory over Russia in 1905, nationalism again spread in Vietnam. The myth of white invincibility was destroyed.

World War I profoundly shocked Vietnamese intellectuals who viewed the conflict in terms of Christian versus Christian and lost faith in all European claims to moral and ethical superiority. Hostility was spread by French prebargaining of Vietnamese youths who were sent to die in Europe. Thompson writes of the "lamentable scenes" in villages where the French herded together their "miserable volunteers" and placed them under guard.

After the war nationalism reached new peaks. French atrocities against the "natives" sparked massive retaliation, a spiral of terror and counter terror went on until the Foreign Legion crushed out resistance.

France's policies of economic exploitation, racial discrimination, and terror against the peasantry were responsible for the growth of nationalism, and after 1917, the influence of Communism. Ennis, in 1936, wrote, "When the Industrial, 'progressive' nations realize that their policies in agricultural 'backward' regions are endangered their very existence, then and only then will the tactics of aggression, technically termed 'imperialism', cease to be the trump card in the game of diplomacy." French Imperialism's answer to Vietnamese aspirations for a better life, social justice, and eventual independence was the bayonette of the white troops. The "French have gone forward with the Bible in one hand and the Gatling gun in the other, and if the natives did not accept one he got the other." (Quoted in Ennis from a 1907 English editorial.)

ism much different from that of scholars in the field.

Despite the nationalists' opposition to the growth of Communism, and for which the French policy opposition, Bone refers to the policy as more or less successful in these early years "without long-range failure." The "French" was largely due to the fact Vietnamese were "attuned" to the French "as did not other 'native people' placed value on intellectual achievement" and use of language (the French name they too had these values).

Denmark Study Programs Begin

Students who wish to participate in independent study programs may apply for one of five programs offered by New Experimental College in Copenhagen, Denmark, during 1966. A spokesman for the college, New Experimental College, an educational community of students and teachers from all countries of the world, is a place where students may have an opportunity to live and learn in a new culture, the spokesman continued.

For more information, write the administration and admission offices: Slotsherrensvej 21, Vanlose, Copenhagen, Denmark.

A six-month spring semester from Feb. 12 to Aug. 8 will include learning Danish in local homes and studying at a Danish Folk High School for three months, interspersed with four one-week seminars where each step is evaluated and focused for individual projects.

One semester's credit can be earned in the social sciences and humanities.

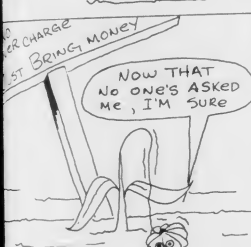

An 18-week spring semester beginning each Feb. 12 will include a program of group therapy sessions and a study of what it means to learn, said the spokesman. The semester is divided into three six-week phases, each with five weeks of work and a one-week vacation.

...Vietnam

Let us remark in closing, that along with most of the "experts" in this field, we tend to explain the era of French Colonialism, its failures and successes, in terms of the conflict of different interest groups. M.B.A., Washington Univ.

College graduates, new to Ford Motor Company, often comment on the comparative youth of many of our top executives. The example of these men in key positions is evidence that being young is no handicap at Ford to those who possess ability and ambition. In fact, new employees can expect challenging assignments while still participating in our College Graduate Program. This means an opportunity to demonstrate special skills and initiative while still learning the practical, day-to-day aspects of the business. Consider the experience of Jim Weston, who has been with Ford Motor Company for three years.

Jim came to Ford in February, 1963. His first assignment was in marketing analysis where his principal job was evaluating present and potential dealer locations. For a time, he also gained experience in the actual purchasing of dealer locations. Later, an assignment forecasting sales and market potential with Ford Division's Truck Sales Programming Department gave him the background he needed to qualify for his present position. His job today? Only three years out of college, Jim is now a senior financial analyst in Ford Division's Business Management Department.

Jim Weston's experience is not unusual. At Ford Motor Company, your twenties can be challenging and rewarding years. Like to learn more about it? Talk to our representative when he visits your campus.

Baseball Banquet Set Feb. 15; Ted Williams Highlights Benefit

Tallahassee baseball fans will be in for a rare treat Feb. 15, when Ted Williams, Bobby Bragan, Lefty Gomez and Billy Hitchcock will headline a benefit dinner for the purpose of raising money to light the FSU baseball field.

The dinner, scheduled for the Union at 7:30 p.m., is under the sponsorship of an organization known as the "Friends of Baseball", a group of local businessmen devoted to the promotion of FSU baseball.

Tickets may be obtained at the FSU Athletic Ticket Office in Tully Gym at $5 per plate, with all proceeds going to the light fund.

"The purpose of this dinner is not only to raise funds for the lights, but also to promote interest in baseball here in Tallahassee and at the university," reported a group spokesman.

The guest lineup was acquired by personal contact on the part of FSU baseball coach Fred Hatfield.

All guests are donating their time and paying their own expenses.

Williams' appearance at the banquet will coincide closely with his expected election to Baseball's Hall of Fame. The former Red Sox star is expected to win a place in Cooperstown easily in his first year of eligibility.

Williams had career batting average of .344, and was the last major league player to hit over .400 in a full season. He broke the magic number in 1941 when batted for a .406 average.

Having hit a total of 521 home runs in his career, he ranks third behind Babe Ruth and Jimmie Fox.

Williams also led the American League in batting six times, and led in RBI's four times. Gomez, widely known for his speaking ability; is a former Yankee pitching star, and will act as toastmaster for the dinner.

Bragan is presently manager of the Atlanta Braves of the National League. Hitchcock, a former Pittsburgh Pirate manager, is on the Braves' coaching staff.

Swimmers Out To Buzz Jacks

by JUDY HUGHES
Asst. Sports Editor

After a highly successful triumph over arch-rival U of F last Saturday, the FSU tankers take to the water again tomorrow in the Union Pool at 1:30 p.m., hoping to sting the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech just as badly.

The Tribe swimmers' 70-25 margin of victory came as a complete surprise to tanker Coach Elm Stults who noted, "It was a real achievement thumping the Gators. We had no idea that we would beat them so badly."

The Seminoles' feat was magnified by the fact that ace senior tankers Dick Abbott, Mike Blouin, Jim Mauldin and Tut Heisler were scarcely seen in the events. Instead, placed sophomores in the positions, with the result, a 45-point victory bulge.

"We're going to do that thing this time against U of F Tech," announced Stults.

"We plan to use as many possible during the meet, we can give our sophomores much experience as we can, continued the tanker coach. Stults was dissatisfied with swimmers' strengths in the against the U of F, even though Seminole splashes cracked records in the competition.

"We're trying to increase endurance," reported Stults. Speed is good, but we're not well on our finishes."

Fortunately, the Tribe weren't hurrying in the finish segment against the reptiles, with the eight events in which the Seminoles took first place, FSU tankers had long enough lead to an easy victory.

The fact was not against Stults, however. "This week, working on bringing them a little harder," he said, "According to the tanker coach, much is known about Georgia Tech's tankers. The Yellow Jackets face the U of F today in the Union Pool."

REHEARSALS CONTINUE

for the productions of "Cinderella" and "Susannah" at FSU under the direction of choral director John Johnson of the Metropolitan Opera National Company.

Met Opera Schedules Performance Tonight

The Metropolitan Opera National Company will present Gioacchino Rossini's "Cinderella" and Carlisle Floyd's "Susannah" tonight and tomorrow night, respectively, at 8:30 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium, announced Kay Vernon, director of special events, today.

Admission is $1 for students and $3 for non-students. Tickets may be purchased at the Union Ticket Office.

"Susannah," composed by Floyd, professor at FSU, was presented at the Brussels' World Fair as typical Americana.

Directed by Jose' Quintero, the opera depicts lust, sin and redemption in the Tennessee Valley, Mrs. Vernon said.

"Cinderella" is being presented in a new version by Gunther Remmert, translated by Ruth and Thomas Martini.

Brought to the campus by the 1965-66 FSU Artist Series, this new version brings to the stage a wealth of sparkle, fantasy, humor and charm, she continued.

It is a demanding opera, containing some of the most difficult vocal music that Rossini wrote. Singing the title role of "Cinderella" will be Joy Davidson.

The mezzo-soprano will be remembered by Tallahassee audiences for her many appearances in Opera in the FSU School of Music, continued Mrs. Vernon.

She studied with Eleana Nikolaidi, former Metropolitan opera singer now on the FSU faculty.

Mrs. Davidson's repertoire includes Suzuki in Giacomo Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," Azucena in Giuseppe Verdi's "Il Trovatore," and Emilia in "Otello," Mrs. Vernon said.

Student Party Vows 'Harder Try'

Complaints? Union Suggests At 'Dialogue'

Student-Faculty Relations Committee of the Union Program will, in an attempt to bridge the gap between the administration and the student body, is sponsoring a program entitled "Dialogue" today, in Moore Auditorium at 4 p.m., said Sally Brown, chairman of the committee.

President John Champion and the entire Administrative Council will present the program which will be titled "Meet the Press" and "Meet the Students." The program is open to the entire campus community. There will be discussion between the administration, faculty, students and the topics ranging from student life to women's rights, Miss Brown continued.

She said that the informal atmosphere afforded by this type-program permit students to openly express their opinions, ask any questions they may have and thus obtain more understanding between the two groups," Miss Brown said.

Students Harry Day said that "Dialogue" will be a "good forum where students may ask questions about the University and the future."

John Champion said the program was initiated because students wanted to have the forum.

He said many administrative officials will be present to answer questions which might be concerning their particular area.

He said that areas such as the law, building program and law school will probably be discussed, and that this periodically.

Champion stated, "so that we can have the students to answer any of their questions. It will be an opportunity to communicate," he continued.

FERRANTE AND TEICHER,

... America's best-known piano duo, will perform in Tully Gym Thursday night at 8:30 p.m. Tickets for the performance are now on sale in the Union Ticket Office.

Infiltration Said 'Deplorable'- 'Necessary'

By CAROL PHILLIPS
Flambeau Staff Writer

"Yeah, we did take over," said a former member of the Young People's Socialist League (YPSL), today when asked about the rumored take-over or merging with the old Young Republicans Club at FSU by the Students for a Democratic Society and Vietnam Study Group.

Kathy Wheeler, temporary chairman of the newly founded Young Republican Club, said when told of the action, that "the name of Young Republicans has been used fraudulently in an attempt to discredit the actual Young Republicans."

He said that the move was intended to give the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) and the Vietnam Study Group (VNSG) an "air of respectability." He referred to the action as a "deplorable trick."

"The purpose," said Wheeler, "is to give the appearance of widespread support for the movement against American involvement in the Vietnamese war. The result is a hoax on the entire FSU student body, regardless of political preference."

According to Wheeler, the "alleged Young Republican Club" does not have the backing of the Florida Federation of Young Republicans (FFYR).

Pledging to "try harder," Student Party came through with a platform of reforms last night at an executive council meeting in Moore Auditorium.

- "The Student Party stands for the development of FSU. Student Party pledges itself to:
- "1. promote donation of art objects and paintings for an FSU Art Gallery;
- "2. lobby for a multi-purpose coliseum for athletics, permanent circus facilities, entertainment and conventions;
- "3. lobby for continued financial support of the law school;
- "4. lobby for the re-establishment of a journalism school;
- "5. maintain conditions attractive to nationally-prominent professors;
- "6. provide the margin of difference between the finances available to our athletic teams' recruitment programs and those of the schools with which we compete;
- "7. seek improved facilities for the nursing school.
- "Student Party pledges itself to realize student enterprises to allow for establishing campus facilities such as the Union Pool instigated by this program;
- "8. to promote the so-called minor

- sports of FSU in such activities as lighting the baseball field as well as recruiting.
- "The Student Party pledges itself to expand facilities of the University Union by:
- "1. working toward securing an addition to the Union;
- "2. improving the entertainment, atmosphere and service in the Rathskeller;
- "3. increasing the space available for student activities;
- "4. increasing information regarding the use of the Union (i.e. reservation facilities);
- "5. bettering the campus movie equipment.
- "The Student Party stands for making our library the finest in the State; therefore Student Party pledges itself to aid library development by:
- "1. increasing financial support of the library through the student activities budget;
- "2. organizing a lobby to secure the State legislature's support;
- "3. providing the conveniences of a book drop;
- "4. lowering the price of reproducing materials thus cutting down the expense of book mutilation.
- "Student Party pledges itself to establish better communications with alumni by:
- "1. sending special materials to the alumni at regular intervals and improving the news publications.
- "2. developing programs stimulating interest in University development programs rather than emphasizing fund shortages;
- "3. establishing a host bureau for alumni through an SG agency;
- "4. establishing a special alumni center with lounging and dining facilities;
- "5. strengthening a student alumni affairs commission.
- "Student Party pledges itself to significantly increase support of the scholarship houses by:
- "1. increasing financial support

Timing

With remarkable timing Attorney General Lief Erickson revealed that he and his chief asst. Ron Goller are now ready to present their long-awaited judicial revision to the student body.

Two things make Erickson's timing interesting. First, it precisely coincides with the campus presidential campaign which has had as one of its major issues for all parties the revision of the court system. Second, the timing is interesting because of its length.

It has been over six months since the eager-beaver attorney general volunteered to right the wrongs of FSU's judicial system.

Even giving Erickson and Goller time off to shoot a few holes of golf or play a couple hands of bridge, six months was entirely too long to make obviously needed changes, especially when it was a silent six months.

By working so slowly and quietly (either from the smoothness of the operation, or lack of anything substantial to talk about), the attorney general has performed a great disservice to the candidates of this election and the student body.

Choosing, for a change, a real issue to campaign about (judicial reform) FSU's politicos have been left high and dry by the sudden and unannounced appearance of the white knight of jurisprudence.

Sources close to Erickson said that the revision report could have been out sooner—which would have been fairer to the politicos, who were under the impression judicial reform was still an unexplored issue, as well as the student body—except for some "... political differences between Goller and the present administration."

Therefore, it is a qualified congratulations which must be extended the attorney general for performing a needed, though tardy public service.

Tate Mesmerizes, Brennan Impresses

It seems appropriate to begin this first column with a resolution. One of my New Year's resolutions is to attend more campus lectures. Since coming to FSU, I've been exposed to the wealth of plays, lectures and movies offered here.

Some of the most memorable activities I attended last trimester were the Alan Tate lecture, the Government Lecture Series and the Sports Series.

Few people who were there will ever forget the Alan Tate lecture. Tate mesmerized his audience for the whole hour, reading T.S. Eliot's complex poetry. Outside Westminster House, the determined descent of rain could be heard. But the only sound inside was the cultivated, distinctly southern voice of Tate. "We are the hollow men," he lamented, "the dead men—Shadows cast by chandeliers made ghastly echoes of the author's face. Tate looked like a character sketched by Eliot. There was the same slender, pale complexion and the same hands. His eyes mirrored the fascination for his subject, personified the distinguished professor who never lost youthful enthusiasm for his work.

Equally as interesting was the appearance of Justice William Brennan. Those who heard him were pressed with his comprehensive knowledge of the law, the appearance of other lecturers is renewed campus interest concerning the judiciary.

This interest will no doubt persist with the opening of the Bar in Tallahassee and the inauguration of a law school at FSU. Lecture "The Changing Role of the Supreme Court" is vitally important today.

Every football game is some of a spectacle. Yet of all the activities I attended, the game was most memorable. I saw the Marching Chiefs play "The Magnificent Seven," fresh banners waved in the wind, and sun was shining brightly over everyone was smiling, as if music had touched each person's happiness. There was only one for that day—magnificent!

The most exciting activity I ever attended this trimester was the Student Party contest. Surrounding this event was a color and pageantry of a national convention. Banners like those at a governor's inauguration, the room. After every student carried signs praising favorites.

Enthusiasts marched around the room to determined beating of drums. Posters indicated each respective delegates and their roll call. The beginning of the contest was the most expected the monitor of "Alabama" and was answered. This column is ended with a wish is that each student find similar delight in activities. This column is also ended with appreciation for a stimulating cast where one need never be bored.

Flambeau Forum

Thorns Of Reason Eluded

To the Editor:

One more time to Fred McDonald: Once again Mr. McDonald has jubilantly skipped down his primrose path completely unscratched by those thorns of reason which he seems to so revere.

He begins by quoting me: "I still contend that the most vehement anti-communists are those who know the most about it..." (The rest of the sentence read "... which is why I listed four ex-communists as reputable sources.")

He continues: "Examples, I suppose, would include Robert Welch, Carl McIntyre, Joseph McCarthy, et. al., as these splendid Americans are certainly among the most vehement anti-communists, therefore they must know the most about it. I dare say, he smugly adds, "that this little argument is unsound from a logical point of view."

Alas for this hypothesis. The evidence to the contrary is devastating. For Mr. McDonald's sake, I hope his philosophy professors haven't read his letter. Welch's vehement attacks on what he calls "communism" are directed at such men as Eisenhower, Rusk, Kennedy, et. al. Welch's assaults on true communism (the Russian and Chinese variety) usually read "godless communism" or "our enemy sworn to bury us." These are hardly vehement statements.

But maybe I should simplify my logic. Let's try this: A) Mr. McDonald thinks that Welch is a vehement anti-communist. B) Welch's only vehement attacks are directed at men such as Eisenhower. C) Therefore Mr. McDonald thinks Eisenhower is a communist. Doubtless, the conclusion is false but it serves to invalidate Mr. McDonald's logic, not mine.

Mr. McDonald then protests that my paraphrase of his sentence was not his intention at all. His sentence read: "Marxism and communism, no matter how undemocratic they may appear, are alternatives that can be considered by the 'free' citizen in this country." I interpreted it: "Marxism-Communism are not incompatible with freedom," "This was not my intention at all!" he later shouts, whereupon he informs us he was comparing both systems to utopia (which he hadn't previously mentioned).

It is not my intention to impugn any disloyalty to Mr. McDonald, as he seems to think. I only wish to point out that, in anger, he made a rash statement, which is quite excessive, and that he should be willing to admit it.

Then, as is his custom, he demands a definition of truth, since to him it is absolutist and metaphysical. To an extent he is quite right. For clarity I might have added that I had no abstract concept in mind. I have added that if nothing were established as true we would still live in caves. I might have added that there are still some who reject the heliocentric explanation of the solar system. In short I might have added that by truth I meant fact or that which is proven. But Mr. McDonald would, no doubt, have found all that unsympathetic or anti-intellectual.

If my emotion has disappeared, as he suggests, certainly his has romped home to fill the void.

The "Flambeau" has been generous with its space to both of us but with the upcoming elections I feel that this space should be used on topics of more general interest to the student body as a whole. Therefore, if Mr. McDonald is intent upon further pursuing this argument, I suggest that it be continued through personal correspondence at box 5761.

Tellone, Whitley Seeking Nominations

Joe Whitley today declared his candidacy for the University Party nomination for the office of vice president.

At a second term precinct meeting, recently was appointed chairman of the Labor, Student Services and Education Committee, one of four standing Student Senate committees.

Also on the Inter-departmental Council (freshman men's group) and the advisory council president, Whitley is the most important plank in my mind is to appropriate some of the money men pay in their activities fee and use it on projects which will directly and positively affect them," said Whitley.

"Random examples," he continued, "are more footballs and basketballs for men's dorms, more weights for the weight room and more money for the intramural program in order for intramural officials to be able to space games further apart." Whitley continued, "Sally men certainly need another washer and dryer, Smith needs a water fountain in the TV-weight room."

Joe Tellone

Joe Tellone, sec. of internal affairs, announced today that he will seek the nomination of vice president of the student body at the University Party-New Party convention tomorrow night.

Tellone said, "As vice president I would like to work with senate in creating a more unified and therefore more effective Student Senate. I also plan to continue investigation of our present court systems and to encourage legislation concerning the reform of these judicial bodies."

Tellone said he feels he is familiar with the needs and problems of the new law school because of his experience as president of the Pre-Law Society.

Weight Roomers Get Good News

Karl Mohr, chairman of the Weight Room Improvement Committee, said today that he received welcome news of support for the drive to improve weight room facilities at a meeting of the committee Thursday night.

The weight room is located in the basement of Tully Gym and is available for use by all students.

Coach Edward Cubbon, head of the intramurals program, promised some funds from the athletic dept. and proposed a drive for additional funds, Mohr said.

In addition Eric Falk, chairman of the intramurals committee representing Student Government promised assistance in raising funds and organizing support for the drive, Mohr reported.

Mohr reviewed progress of the committee to date, including a petition of over 200 names, correspondence with athletic equipment companies and interest expressed by Dean of Students Harry Day. Local townspeople and members of the University community who are interested in donating funds or equipment are asked to call the athletic dept.

"4. providing a social fund for scholarship houses from the student activities fee."

Misklow Wants Parties Support

Arlene Misklow announced today that she will seek the nomination for women's vice president at the New Party-University Party convention tomorrow night.

A graduate of Shady Side Hospital Nursing School and a transfer from the University of Pittsburgh, Miss Misklow said she feels that her observations of student governments at other schools will enable her to act impartially and objectively toward the needs of students and Women's Senate."

Miss Misklow, a senior, is co-chairman of the Constitution and Rules Committee of New Party, social chairman of Circle 224 and a member of Newman Club. Her overall average is 2.8. Last trimester she earned a 3.3.

"The New Party got me interested in politics on campus. The idea of being for the student rather than concentrating on power appealed to me," she explained.

Over 137 Inquiries

Law School Interest High Says Ladd

More than 137 prospective students have made inquiries to the College of Law which will conduct its first classes next fall, announced Mason Ladd, newly-appointed dean of the college, today.

Ladd said the first class would be limited and that applications will be processed in the order received.

Ladd added that he hopes within the next few weeks to announce some faculty members. Three faculty members in addition to Ladd are expected the first year.

Prospective students who have made inquiries are being sent applications, student forms and information on the necessary tests.

Ladd said the only educational requirement for attending the College of Law is a bachelor's degree prior to September, when the first classes begin. No particular area of study is required.

Ladd said many graduates in engineering, sciences, business, government and the humanities have achieved distinction in the law.

In determining admission, grade point average will be considered along with the results of the Law School Admission Test of the Educational Testing Service, he said. This is a test used nationally by all major law schools, Ladd commented.

The test will be given Feb. 12 at one of several testing centers, including FSU.

Details on how to apply for the test are sent to all prospective students. Saturday is the deadline for applying for the test.

Classes will be in temporary quarters on the FSU campus the first year, Ladd continued.

Ladd, who comes to FSU after 26 years as head of the University of Iowa College of Law, said "the opening of the new college this fall will be one of the landmarks in the progress of FSU. It is the goal of FSU that this become a national law school, as well as one serving the best interests of the entire State of Florida."

under president Tom Sisco have been infiltrated by two left wing factions. The ultimate goal seems to be the idea that two political factions, of two extremes, could join together in order to discredit the US policy in Vietnam," said Erickson.

He further stated that his office appreciates the right of any group to organize and present its ideas in a respectful manner. However, he said he questions the integrity of those students involved when they seek to dupe the student body of FSU. Officials first became aware of the apparent "take over" when an poster was noticed announcing a single meeting of the Young Republican League and the Vietnam Study Group, a newly-organized discussion group which will submit admittedly "slightly" biased reports for publication in the "Flambeau", said Erickson.

The spokesman for the new group added that the move was necessary "because a left wing discussion group couldn't be sponsored on campus". He said that therefore, they wanted as little publicity as possible.

Dr. Harry P. Day, dean of students, said that he was watching the group with interest. No request was made for sponsorship of a new group, he said. He continued that he approved of the discussions as a means of free expression regardless of their backing.

Dr. Vincent Thursby, asst. dean of the Graduate School and temporary advisor to the Sisco YRC, expressed concern over the situation. He said he hoped that the Young Republicans can correct the problem within their own ranks.

The infiltrated group reportedly recently scheduled, then canceled a draft card burning. When Thursby was asked about the demonstration, he said that he had been informed that the Young Republicans would endorse the burning by Sisco.

Engineers and Scientists:

Let's talk about a career at Boeing...
50-year leader in aerospace technology

Campus Interviews, Monday, February 7

The most effective way to evaluate a company in terms of its potential for dynamic career growth is to examine its past record, its current status, and its prospects and planning for the future, together with the professional climate it offers for the development of your individual capabilities.

Boeing, which in 1966 completes 50 years of unmatched aircraft innovation and production, offers you career opportunities as diverse as its extensive and varied backlog. Whether your interests lie in the field of commercial jet airliners of the future or in space-flight technology, you can find at Boeing an opening which combines professional challenge and long-range stability.

The men of Boeing are today pioneering evolutionary advances in both civilian and military aircraft, as well as in space programs of such historic importance as America's first moon landing. Missiles, space vehicles, gas turbine engines, transport helicopters, marine vehicles and basic research are other areas of Boeing activity.

There's a spot where your talents can mature and grow at Boeing. In research, design, test, manufacturing or administration. The company's position as world leader in jet transportation provides a measure of the calibre of people with whom you would work. In addition, Boeing people work in small groups, where initiative and ability get maximum exposure. Boeing encourages participation in the company-paid Graduate Study Program at leading colleges and universities near company installations.

We're looking forward to meeting engineering, mathematics and science seniors and graduate students during our visit to your campus. Make an appointment now at your placement office. Boeing is an equal opportunity employer.

THE BIG PULL

... for the distance in the 200-yard butterfly competition is given by FSU's Rick MacDuff as he churns his way to winning the event. The "Swiminoles" dunked Georgia Tech Saturday by a 50-33 margin.

Seniors Watch

'Swiminoles' Swamp Tech

by JUDY HUGHES
Asst. Sports Editor

The FSU "Swiminoles" dog-paddled off to an easy lead against Georgia Tech and then floated leisurely to a 50-33 foundering of the Yellow Jackets Saturday in the Union Pool.

The Tribe splashers captured every event in the competition except the 500-yard freestyle and 200-yard breaststroke, in which the Seminole swimmers inserted only exhibition swimmers into the line-up.

Bob Bell, FSU junior, set a new 59-yard freestyle mark in the contest with a time of 22.7, breaking the old meet record of 22.9 in outdistancing his teammate, sophomore Jim Matthews, for the victory. Only three seniors swam for the Seminole during all 11 events of the competition. Standout splashers Dick Abbott, Mike Blouin, Tom Lloyd and Charley Robertson stayed on the sidelines except for exhibitions, and let Coach Bim Stults' sophomores take over the business end of the meet.

One of the sophs, rookie K.C. Dawson, winner of the 200-yard butterfly competition against the U of F in the first meet of the season, pulled a surprise by edging Tech's Tom Tieslau in the 200-yard freestyle race.

FSU entered two contestants in an event only twice in the meet, and the Seminole splashers finished one-two to each other in those two contests.

In the remaining four individual races in which the Tribe tankers participated, the lone FSU swimmer took the honors.

There was no diving competition, but the three varsity divers for the Seminole—Randy Stewart, Bob Cruickshank, and Duane McAllister—staged a diving exhibition with Cruickshank leading the way with 269.05 points.

The Tribe splashers performed in eight exhibitions. In addition to the one from the board, two of these were separate races, while the rest were executed in the exhibition lanes during the regular events.

Frosh Tip Dade

by JACK JOHNSON

Flambeau Sports Writer

The FSU frosh soundly defeated the Miami Dade JC Falcons swim team 64-31 Saturday at the Union Pool. The meet, which took place in 40-degree weather, proved the depth of the frosh team; after the opening relay, it was mostly third and fourth string swimmers who were used by Freshman Coach Bill Faunce.

The spirited Miami-Dade team was no match for the Seminole frosh. The Falcons were unable to do much more than claim third place for finishing the race.

In a fine show of sportsmanship, Faunce said, "I tried to put boys in who would make the events good races."

By doing this, Faunce found he had many strong swimmers on the bench, including Bill Fillmore and Pete Kowalek.

"I also tried experimenting a little, and placed some boys in events they don't usually swim; the boys all pulled through with surprisingly good times," he added.

by LARRY SPALDING

Flambeau Sports Writer

FSU football has been making news completely out of proportion to the season during the past week.

The biggest news of all was made Saturday when FSU Head Coach Bill Peterson finally commented on the rumor that he might move to a professional job with the AFL's Miami Dolphins.

In a story by Jack Slayton, sports writer of the "Herald Ledger", Peterson commented, "Yes, I've made up my mind. There's no question about it. I'm staying with FSU."

When questioned further about the possibility that he might consider coaching professional football, he remained firm, "No, I am not going."

FSU Defensive Coach Don James, one of the "prime movers" behind two seasons with the Seven Magnificents, added an equally firm "no" Friday night to the rumors that he might be headed to Georgia Tech as an assistant.

So, at this point the Seminole coaching staff appears to be almost the same as last year.

Outside of coaching, big news was made with Peterson's signing of All-Southern quarterback Tommy Warren from Coral Gables, to a grant-in-aid. This acquisition will give the Tribe frosh two outstanding quarterbacks this fall.

Lastly, the SEC will begin its meetings early next week, and among the business on the agenda will be another attempt by the U of F's Ray Graves to get FSU into the conference. Graves has already proposed to propose the Seminole for membership, but added that the conference members "will almost certainly vote against it."

However, Graves indicated that he wouldn't be surprised to see FSU in the league in another year or two.

Cagers Travel To Jacksonville

Coach Joe Williams will open the doors of the coliseum for his former boss, FSU Cager Coach Bud Kennedy, as the Dolphins of Jacksonville University play host to the Seminole at 8 p.m. tonight in Jacksonville.

Williams is more than just casually acquainted with a portion of the FSU squad. He coached the Seminole freshman team in 1962-63 and helped start Gary Schull, Bill Peacock and Bill Phillips on their college careers.

Two of his former students, Schull and Peacock, will start against the Dolphins tonight.

JU has failed in three attempts to beat FSU in previous seasons. Williams will be trying to avenge a humiliating 97-74 loss to the Tribe last year as well as two other previous setbacks.

Kennedy is not taking the Dolphins lightly, however.

"We know that JU will be well-prepared for this game," he said. "They are big, they have a good pressure defense and they run well. I think we'll have our hands full."

"JU has really been coming. Kennedy continued, "I feel the team has come a long way, and forward Dan Lee has helped a lot."

Lee is one of the outstanding players for the Dolphins. The 6-6 broke his wrist earlier this season but proved himself to the coaches and fans by playing one of the games of his career against FSU last week.

Kennedy was almost satisfied with his team's effort against the Dolphins Tuesday, but is distressed over the Seminole's efforts at the free line.

"We've been in a slump for a few weeks now," he said. "We have to let up and we'll start thinking about it."

"Otherwise, I thought we played the Gators a good game. We were up on the boards with them, made fewer floor mistakes, we've made all season," he said.

The Tribe mentor will start Peacock and Howland, Jimmie and Darrel Stewart at the slots and probably Ken Davis at the post.

wished the fact made clear that his group is not part of either the YRC or the VNSG.

"No one made the statement, 'we did take them over' with reference to either SDS, YPSL (Young People's entities taking over the YRC, said the YRC spokesman.

"It was a half-joking admission

"The president of YRC, concerned

Price, Brumm Seek Party Nominations

Byron Price, a New Party member, announced today his intention to seek the New Party-University Party nomination for the office of student body president at tonight's convention in the Union at 8 p.m.
Price, a transfer student from Pensacola JC, was president of
the student body at the junior college.
Price noted in a statement yesterday that he had "often thought of becoming active in Student Government at FSU", but had never had the opportunity during his first trimester "to work in a strong position within the other parties."

"New Party gave me this opportunity since it seeks to actively involve new students who have previously been excluded by the party hierarchies," said Price.

"Furthermore, the ideals of New Party are explicitly stated in the New Party platform which has been adopted by the University Party.

It delineates constructive proposals for the accomplishment of the goals of the New Party," he said.

Aron Brumm

Aron Brumm today announced that he will seek the nomination for the position of chief justice of the Honor Court at the University Party-New Party Convention tonight in the Union at 8 p.m.

"I am seeking the nomination for many sincere purposes and some convictions," stated Brumm. "I realize it is your future that is at stake when you are compelled to appear before the Honor Court."

"I firmly believe that my three years of experience in our judicial system qualify me for this trial position of chief justice," continued Brumm.

"Presently I am serving as a justice on the Honor Court and am avidly aware of the need for judicial revisions—revisions that will further guarantee fairness to the student and further protect his rights in court," stated Brumm.

"We must maintain a balance between the letter of the law and the spirit of the law, the spirit being earnest desire for justice to each individual and not merely a student number," he said.

Brumm has been asst. attorney general, chairman of the Honor Bureau, a justice on men's judiciary, campaigning for party nomination prior to active campaigning (article 104, "...seven days before the election"). There is no evidence as to a precedent set by Farrar," continued Hanes.

"Since there is no past policy or regulation in the Statutes, they can not be interpreted as prohibiting the serenading or the distribution of party literature which pushes nomination of a candidate," Hanes said.

"To remedy this situation," he continued, "I recommend legislation passed by the Senate. Until the legislators realize the lack of regulations covering this prior campaigning, I am powerless to do anything about it," stated Hanes.

According to Hanes, the whole problem rests in the fact that the campaign started sooner, in the chronological sense, than ever before.

He said that one of the parties was actively working last trimester to form its party and working relationship with students on various parts of campus.

Hanes continued that material pushing the nomination of a candidate has never been handed out in such quantity before.

He said that the literature did not "advocate candidacy, but rather nomination or party."

"One of the parties has been at a disadvantage because its convention was conducted at an earlier date.
The other parties, with their late convention, have found the extra time advantageous to their cause," said Hanes.

Series Features 'Religion' Editor

Daniel Callahan, assoc. editor of the "Commonweal", a journal of opinion edited by Catholic laymen, will lecture on "New Stirrings in the Roman Catholic Church" in Longmire Auditorium tonight at 8 p.m.

Sponsored by the Dept. of Religion, Callahan's lecture is the third of the "New Perspectives on Religion" series. The public is invited.

Callahan received a BA degree from Yale, an MA from Georgetown and a PhD in philosophy from Harvard.

He has taught in the Harvard Divinity School and at Temple and Brown Universities. He's author of "The Mind of the Catholic Layman" and "Honesty in the Church".

Union Sponsors Brazil Highlights

"Brazil is many things—most of them spectacular," said Howard Pollard, filmer of "Highlights of Brazil", which will be presented by Pollard in Moore Auditorium tonight
at 8:30 p.m.

Sponsored by the University Union Program Council Form Committee, admission is $3.50 for students and $1 for non-students.

The program is the third in "The World Around Us" series.

Jim Puryear, asst. Union program director, said of Pollard, "He brings to the lecture platform a fresh approach and a highly professional motion picture camera technique."

College is scheduled to begin in September. It has been stated that the law school will operate with a minimum of faculty members plus Ladd.

Helpers Wanted For LF Tutorials

The Liberal Forum Tutorial Program has initiated a program to tutor college-bound high school students with deficient reading skills. Tutors are drawn from the whole University community and are not highly trained specialists, but rather, they are simply concerned people who are willing to help, said Deborah Snow, spokesman for the group.

People who want to tutor should meet with Dr. Ted Corin, program consultant, tonight at 7 p.m. in 409 Williams Bldg.

More information concerning the program can be obtained by calling Jim Hunter, FSU ext. 3000, or Lew Howell at 877-1988.

Any member of the faculty, staff or student body may be eligible to tutor and should inquire if interested, she said.

Tutors work under the guidance of a specialist, with scientifically-developed materials.

B.M.E., Univ. of Kansas

The college graduate's initial exposure to the world of business is often less than exhilarating. The reason? A great many companies require the recent graduate to serve a long-term apprenticeship in a role that offers little or no opportunity to demonstrate personal capabilities. That is not the way at Ford Motor Company. Our College Graduate Program brings you into contact with many phases of business, encourages self-expression and helps you—and us—determine where your greatest potential lies. One of many young men who Program is getting to know and work with some of the most capable people in industry. One of many young men who believes he has gained tremendously from this exposure and experience is Larry Moore, a Product Design engineer.

After receiving his B.M.E. in February, 1964, Larry joined our College Graduate Program and began work in brake design. Stimulating assignments followed in product evaluation and disc brake development. Later, he learned production techniques while supervising one phase of the Mustang assembly line operations. An assignment in our Truck Sales Promotion and Training Department added still another dimension to his experience. The "big picture" of product development was brought into focus for Larry when he became associated with Thunderbird Product Planning. From there he moved to the Special Vehicles Section . . . into the exciting world of high-performance cars!

Currently, Larry Moore is on leave of absence, studying to acquire his M.B.A. degree at Michigan State. He feels—and rightly so—that we're 100 percent behind his desire to improve his educational background. Young men with talent, initiative and ambition can go far with Ford Motor Company. Think about it—and talk to our representative when he next visits your campus.

Seminole Scorecard

By HANK SCHOMBER
Flambeau Sports Editor

Friday night Seminole basketball fans will have the opportunity to see an exciting international basketball team when the Panama All-Stars move into Tully Gym for a contest with the Tribe cagers.

The Panamanians, touring the US under the State Dept.'s People-to-People Program, are described by Frank A. Walsh, chairman of the basketball committee for People-to-People, as a "very entertaining group, rather small but very fast".

When the All-Stars come into Tully Gym they will be at a decided height disadvantage. At 6-5, Norris Webb is the tallest of the Panamanians.

The invaders will also be re-adjusting their fast shooting game, since they will not be playing under their accustomed international rules, which require a team to shoot the ball within 30 seconds after obtaining possession.

Considering these two advantages for the Seminoles and the traditional home court benefits, we would like to suggest that the 30 second rule be instilled for Friday's game, to relieve some of the pressure otherwise put on the visitors.

Not only would this innovation be a fine good will and sporting gesture, but it would also give FSU fans an opportunity to see a game played under the pace-quickenning conditions that have often been suggested for US collegiate basketball.

By LARRY SPALDING
Flambeau Sports Writer

The Jacksonville University Dolphins held off a strong FSU comeback late in the second half last night to take a 90-86 decision from the Seminoles in Jacksonville.

The Dolphins took the lead after three and one-half minutes of play in the first half and never lost it. This caused the Seminole defense to sustain a difficult full court press

Gymnasts Open Season Tonight

FSU's Gymkana Club will meet the gymnasts from Louisiana State University in the first gymnastics match of the year tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Tully Gym. There is no admission charge.

The Seminole gymnasts are coached by Jon Culbertson, a postdoctoral research associate in biology. Culbertson, while at the University of Illinois, was a member of the National Champion gymnastics team twice. In addition he went to the World Games in Prague in 1962.

He will also participate in tonight's meet.

Other FSU gymnasts will include Pete Dicorco, Bill (Sammy Seminole) Gramling, Frank Denard, Roger Adams, Milt McGowan, Bill Bell, Wayne Boylston, Kip Wittenberg, Keith Deile, Pete Nofz and Larry Keller.

... Gary Schull (4) again led the Seminoles in scoring, with 21 points last night at Jacksonville. Despite Schull's output and a heroic comeback bid late in the game paced by Bill Glenn and Ron Malmen, the Tribe dropped its second straight contest, 90-86 to Jacksonville University.

POINTGETTER

... Gary Schull (4) again led the Seminoles in scoring, with 21 points last night at Jacksonville. Despite Schull's output and a heroic comeback bid late in the game paced by Bill Glenn and Ron Malmen, the Tribe dropped its second straight contest, 90-86 to Jacksonville University.

during most of the first half. Jacksonville kept FSU from scoring, but Seminole guard Jim Lytle loomed over the Tribe defense by sinking four consecutive buckets from the outside.

Nevertheless, by the end of the first half FSU was down 45-37.

In the second half, Jacksonville quickly opened up a 17 point lead over the stumbling Seminoles.

With seven minutes left in the game, the Seminoles decided to play kebab, although they were by 16 points.

Led by Bill Glenn and Ron Malmen, the FSU cagers moved on in six points with two and one minutes left in the game. The drive spluttered.

JU hit for four points from a charity line to gain a wider margin.

With only a few seconds left, the Tribe drove for its final points as the final buzzer sounded. Malmen hit a 30-foot jump shot.

Leading scorer for the Tribe was Gary Schull with 21 points, followed by Lytle, sinking 19 points.

Before the varsity game the frosh took the Jacksonville 79-70.

FLORIDA FLAMBEAU

12, No. 82 Published Daily By Students Of Florida State University Wednesday, January 26, 1966

BY BOB CORNET

Flambeau News-Assoc. Editor

A confusion-ridden New Party-University Party (NP-UP) convention last night nominated Larry Gonzalez for SG president and Dave Nelsen for the vice president spot in the coming student body elections.

The convention, in the Union ballrooms, was highlighted by political infighting and poor timing which saw over half the delegates forced to leave due to the 11 p.m. curfew before nominations for men's and women's vice presidents were completed.

Dropping a small bombshell at the coalition convention, New Party did not back its proposed candidate for student body president, but led the movement that adopted Gonzalez by acclamation.

Informed sources said that New Party's Jim Stevens moved for acclamation for Gonzalez instead of nominating Byron Price because of reports that Price was going to defect from New Party and denounce the party during the convention. Sources said that Price was going to make this move since he felt he was being used as a "sacrificial lamb."

Price, said, sources, thought he was going to get the full backing of New Party at the convention, but later learned that NP planned to give him only token support.

According to the sources, Price did not plan to make a violent denunciation of the New Party, but was only going to explain how he felt about what happened. Price reportedly thought that the defection of the NP and its candidates were good, but he did question the party's "mechanics."

So wide open was the rest of the convention, with the three other major offices contested, that the delegates were unable to pick candidates for men's and women's vice president before the convention closed.

These two offices will be decided today and tomorrow by a special polling procedure agreed to by both parties.

By this agreement the heads of the delegations will poll their delegates informally and record their vote with the delegate's signature and student number. This tally will be turned in to the commissioner of elections in the Cabinet office.

Commissioner of Elections Ted Hanes said that the delegates also have the prerogative to come to the Cabinet office between 3 p.m. and 5 p.m. today and tomorrow to cast their votes.

Hanes said that there will be a member of the election commission on duty at that time.

In the other races Aron Brumm was nominated for chief justice of Honor Court.

CHEERING CROWDS

Can Be Done'

Fritz Wants Student Academic Interest

Using up the banner of the campus Union, Rick Fritz, Student Party candidate for student body president, outlined his plans to get students more involved in academic affairs.

Fritz said the first maneuver in this campaign would be to revitalize and expand existing programs of student academic involvement.

"I'd like to see the Curriculum Evaluation Council be significant working bodies next year, responsible for both course and teacher evaluation," said Fritz.

"The current evaluation of teachers has just not done the job as it should. I know it can be done more effectively and be more meaningful for the student body—particularly by publishing the results of the poll," he continued. Fritz said these two programs can enable the student body to express its concern with academic affairs and policies.

To help acquaint students with the faculty at the University, Fritz said he'd like to see a booklet published each year presenting brief sketches of all faculty members.

Along with this, Fritz said he would like to see an outstanding professor for the year recognized by the student body, as differentiated from the FSU Distinguished Professor Award.

Fritz said he also believes that Student Government should encourage education experiments by organizing experimental classes or seminars in fraternities, sororities, scholarship houses and other small living areas based on the "new college" experiments currently under study in higher education circles.

"Of course the best way to get students and faculty mutually involved in academic affairs would be to work toward establishing a joint student-faculty congress," said Fritz.

Fritz said he envisions this congress as being made up with a student senate and a faculty senate having functions analogous to the present Men's and Women's Senate.

To start students thinking beyond the University front gates, Fritz said he believes a public affairs forum should be instituted with discussion of international and national issues by nationally-prominent speakers.

"Naturally when we think about academics we can't ignore the financial problems of students. Therefore, I believe Student Government should give the Dollars for Scholars program its wholehearted support," Fritz concluded.

Ferrante-Teicher Piano Team To Perform Tomorrow in Tully Gym

"Richardson-Kuback" committee of piano, Ferrante and Teicher, will pull off their "Duet" in Tully Gym, tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets are on sale at the Union Office at $1.50 for students and $2.00 for non-students.

For students to the show, normally $2.50 for other events in Student Entertainment Series.

Nelson Speaks for ASL Tonight

David Avelson, the third speaker in the current FSU American Studies Series, will lecture tonight at 8:30 p.m. in 101 Love Bldg. Avelson, FSU's assoc. prof. of sociology, will lecture on "Urbanization and the Family". He received his Ph.D. from Washington State University in 1962.

After joining the FSU faculty he became a member of the faculty of Col. State University. The theme of the lecture series is "Urbanization: Impacts on American Society" and features faculty members speaking on various aspects of the theme.

are being offered at a special price for tomorrow night's program, said Charles Tunniff, chairman of the SES Committee.

The two concert pianists have been playing together since they met as students at the Juilliard School of Music in New York when they were six years old, said Tunniff.

Their first hit, "Theme from the Apartment", was followed by "Exodus".

Now recording exclusively for United Artists Records, their albums combine classical music with their own arrangements of tunes of Gershwin, Rodgers, Kern, Porter and other popular composers, Tunniff added.

Reception Planned

President and Mrs. John Champion will entertain all freshmen and transfer students who entered FSU in either September or January, at their home at 1030 W. Tennessee St. with a reception tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m.

Two University buses will provide transportation to the reception. The buses will shuttle between Bryan Hall, Landis Circle and the President's home from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

LARRY GONZALEZ

Monologue

The "Dialogue" between the students and the members of the Administrative Council in Moore Auditorium Monday marked the implementation of an excellent idea for improving communications between the students and various University officials.

These programs have the same potential as the similar session sponsored last trimester by the Union Program Council in its "Gripe Session".

It is unfortunate that more students do not attend the sessions.

Even more unfortunate is the attitude of the administration (which may very well be the key to the problem of low student attendance).

Considering the "Gripe Session" and the Dialogue together, we find that members of the administration have consistently let it be known that the dialogue which takes place will be nothing more than exactly that: talk.

Despite protests to the contrary, it soon became obvious in Monday's meeting that though the Administrative Council was willing to listen to student opinion, it was not about to seriously consider the opinions given.

On such matters as construction of dormitories, the parking problem and women's rules, students were continually told that "the decision has been made".

Rather than re-examining their policies in the light of student criticism, or even indicating that they would do so in the future, administrators stubbornly, and sometimes illogically, persisted in the defense of their policies.

As a result, no student who attended left with the idea his comments would result in any constructive action.

The administration should realize that if it persists in its obstinacy, not only will sessions such as the dialogue become worthless, but the students will be forced to seek other means of expressing their ideas on University policy.

Regrets SP Membership Resignation

To the Editor:

In view of the present status of the Student Party and the establishment of the New Party on the campus of FSU, I feel it necessary to openly resign from the Student Party. This is legally required by the laws of the Student Party which explicitly state that an individual associated with another campus political party cannot be a member of the Student Party. After six years as the chairman of the married student delegation to Student Party conventions, I feel a deep regret and a definite hesitation to make this decision. Serving the Student Party has been deeply rewarding in both friends and experience during these six years, viewing the passage of numerous eminent student politicians through the ranks of the Student Party feel that it has made a definite contribution to FSU and to the government.

However, the party now represents the outstanding astute students and philosophy one was its hallmark. At the same time it seems overly organized and dedicated to a philosophy which is unable to serve with total devotion. Consequently, I must indicate my qualifications and note the change in my loyalties to the New Party. I have established myself as a devoted to academic excellence and constructive action.

I hope that this move will be interpreted as a personal disaffection with any one element of the Student Party since it is rather accumulation of numerous complaints. I would thus urge those who are satisfied with the present tactics and philosophy of the Student Party to remain in their camp. By the same token, I would also urge those members who share my concern and dissatisfaction to support the New Party in support of the New Party evident in the makeup of the Party.

Dale's Remarks Appreciated

To the Editor:

I appreciate Sen. Dale's remarks and sentiments, particularly his expression that a part of the Faculty Senate did "exterminate personality development". My usage of the term "faculty" was contextually meant to imply those actions which were rendered in the name of the faculty, and therefore, stood as a decision of the faculty-in-general. That this is obvious is beyond further comment.

Contrary to Sen. Dale's insistence that the faculty as a whole did not "omit" are six is the fact that they did—as a body—more it no longer required, I am amused that this so-called part of the Faculty Senate that accomplished this was confronted with a report — from a minority — that the change not be made in the interests of such "basic aspects needed in every person's general education..." as "home and family life, nutrition, health education, and personal development..." (Dr. Louise Smith). I have no argument with this for it substantiates the reality of our elementary and high schools in America.

In seeking to make an informal fallacy a formal truth — I would not credit Sen. Dale with the error which he accused me of, argumentum ad hominem, but rather reductio ad absurdum — let me sympathize with those who would favor crisp courses in every department.

Although I have not used as many parentheses and quotations as Sen. Dale, I have not naively assumed that the Faculty Senate minutes represent the whole reality of a meeting, or that the students know what is good for them.

Steve Niemeyer

'We Must Know'

To the Editor:

I am writing in reference to several letters printed recently but most of all to Richard Walker's article printed Dec. 8.

I agree that the faculty deserves some respect—in the classroom as they are supposedly intellectually superior. But we employ the faculty and are paying a considerable amount of money to live here, therefore we deserve to have direct information concerning the faculty senate. The students have a right to know what is going on in the faculty senate since they are denied the power to rule themselves.

I disagree with the idea that my job is primarily to study. I came here to get an education, most of which I believe will not be out of books but through experiences that I will have during the next four years. I agree with the statement "let the educators educate" — but if they are going to legislate, I want student observers there.

FSU's swimmers put an 18-meet winning streak on the line tomorrow when they invade Carolina waters for the first of three big dual meets in as many days. By the time the Swinimoles return to the Union pool Monday, they will have met two of the strongest teams in the nation; and once again one weekend will determine if the Tribe can maintain its dominance of Southern swimming.

Last year North Carolina State and the University of North Carolina came to Tallahassee on successive days and both went away losers.

This year the tables are turned and the "Swinimoles" must meet these two powerhouses in their backyard.

FSU swims the Wolfpack of NC State, tomorrow night in Raleigh. Probably the strongest of the three teams the Seminoles will face on the trip, the Wolves will be out to avenge a 56-39 upset by the Tribe.

After a stopover in Greenville, N.C., for a meet with East Carolina, the tankers move on to Chapel Hill and UNC, Saturday.

"Swinimole" Coach Bim Stults, who never has shown many signs of optimism, shook his head wearily as he watched his charges work out in Monday's near-freezing temperature.

"I don't know what to expect," he said. "This weather just hasn't let us practice at all. It's been the worst weather we've had."

The weather may have been bad the past few weeks, but it will take a lot of convincing to make the U of F and Georgia Tech swimmers believe that it has kept the Tribe from getting into shape.

Stults sent a spirited group of swimmers off on a sprint across the pool, and as he watched them churn up the chilled water, he lamented, "All I can say about these meets coming up is they are going to be good ones, but then I'm not going to be taking any money with me either."

Then he checked the times of the sprint and smiled.

SPORTS ON CAMPUS

The FSU Sailing Club will meet tonight at 7 p.m. in room 346, Union. All interested persons are invited to attend.

The FSU All-Campus Intramural Tennis Tournament will be Feb. 7-11. No varsity players are eligible to participate. Applications may be picked up in room 124, Tully Gym, beginning Friday.

The FSU Equestrian Club will have a horse show March 6. Anyone interested in participating or helping with arrangements should contact Judy Snelling at 599-1149 or Dana Ostlund at 224-0421.

Warren, 'A Fine Student-Athlete'

by BILL THOMAS

FSU Football Coach Bill Peterson will be seeing many new faces on the gridiron this fall as new freshmen take to the playing field for the first time in their college careers.

One of those faces belongs to Tommy Warren, and it should be a pleasant sight to Peterson.

A triple threat to opponents as a runner, passer and kicker, Warren recently signed a four-year grant-in-aid with FSU.

Presently a senior at Coral Gables Senior High School in Miami, Warren was sought by at least 40 colleges and universities across the country. He is regarded as one of the top two or three football prospects in the State.

Warren alternated as a halfback and quarterback while a junior at Coral Gables when his team was ranked number one high school team in the US. As a senior he played quarterback slot for the entire season.

Gables went 8-2 for the year. Warren led the Gold Coast Coaches in scoring.

His excellence does not stop on the football field, however. Warren is an honor student and could have completed his education on an athletic or academic scholarship.

FSU Coach Bill Crutchfield credited Warren as "one of the student-athletes that a coach would want."

Ladd Pledges 'Finest in South' for University College of Law

Dr. Mason Ladd, dean of the newly-established FSU College of Law, pledged today that FSU's law school would be the best in the South.

Here on a visit, primarily to organize a bulletin explaining the school, Ladd also meeting with prospective students of the college.

Dean of the College of Law, University of Iowa, Ladd said that will consist of an assistant professor, a full-time graduate and himself.

Ladd said that after considering the number of applicants some positions have been chosen, remaining positions are still in process of selection, he continued.

Ladd will be named by President Chapman within the next six days, Ladd said.

Ladd described the personnel as a very excellent group with fine backgrounds.

Ladd said for the first year will be basically the same as at other schools," said Ladd.

However, the methods of teaching materials, Ladd said, will employ novel techniques.

Classes will include property, procedure, legal method, torts, contracts, criminal law and constitutional law," he said, adding that professor will concentrate on two subjects.

Research and writing by the professors as well as by the students are expected and emphasized," Ladd explained.

He continued that the planned curriculum consists of both small and large classes with a great amount of individual attention. Concentration on concepts and principles of the program will include argumentative cases, creative writing

Frugh Wins But Talk In Running

Frank Bell, chairman of the Union Party, and Fred McDonald, chairman of the New Party, today agreed that Tim Frugh won the Union nomination for men's vice president at Tuesday night's convention.

Ladd said that Frugh and Eric Falk for the post in number of actual cast, but that Frugh won by a margin of the weighted vote for New Party.

Ladd said yesterday that UP's Frank Bell invoked the "disagree clause" of the coalition, thus withdrawing its support of the coalition ticket. Lynn Callahan will be the delegates agree to this move, Bell.

Finals for the nomination for men's vice president between Sater and Frugh will not be decided at press time.

The coalition ticket, Randy Neil as candidate for chairman of the Union Party, Lynn Callahan will be the position of clerk of Honor.

Publications candidate is Carolyn Allen and Phil Barnes seeking positions on the Union Party.

"We plan to have local judges sit with attorneys in presiding over and conducting hearings. We will use hypothetical facts," he added.

Ladd said it is hard to anticipate when students will be accepted as applications cannot be processed until the students' records are sent in.

"There will be a maximum number of acceptances. However, the exact number will not be determined until the quality of students is known, Ladd explained.

Ron Anderson, FSU instructor of business, said that many of the applications have been made.

Ladd said he expects to have a library of 10,000 volumes by or soon after the opening of the school. He said he hopes it will expand to 20,000 by the end of the second year.

The school will also affect the Tallahassee community, said Ladd, since "it is customary that law students enter into the public defender system to be of service to the public and obtain experience in the field."

In this capacity they will act as legal aides to attorneys, he continued.

Ladd said, "Preliminary steps have been taken toward accreditation locally and nationally so that students may take the bar examination in any state."

He added that this will be completed in time for the first graduating class to be eligible.

'Short' Student Senate Session Equalizes Election Expenditures

Handicapped by lack of a quorum after having met only 45 minutes, Student Senate managed to pass a bill amending election expenditure regulations and a resolution which will procure change machines for the University during yesterday's meeting in Moore Auditorium.

A verbal bill introduced by Sen. Skip Gunn amended the recently-passed elections code revisions to read that any candidate endorsed by a combination or coalition of parties could receive funds only from one party for his active campaigning.

The bill was passed only after explanation by Gunn that the "situation as it exists now negates the whole idea of budget limits."

Gunn claimed that the economic aspects of a coalition between two parties was a glaring inequity in the Statutes in view of the recent developments in campus politics. With the passage of Gunn's amendment, candidates for Student Government are endorsed by only two parties may use funds from only one party. The bill must be signed by Student Body President Jim Groot before it is effective.

In other action in Senate, Sen. Rick Bennett, freshman class senator, introduced a resolution to "allocate the necessary funds to lease four change machines on a two-month trial basis" for the University.

The machines, which will be leased from a company in Jacksonville, will give change for half-dollars and quarters, said Bennett.

Several senators expressed their concern to Bennett over possible "animosity" between the local Tallahassee merchants and the Jacksonville company. Arguments to this effect, termed "ridiculous" by a fellow senator, were squelched when the bill was passed after a call to vote immediately.

In other business, Senate President Larry Gonzalez appointed Sen. Jack Whitley to fill the chairmanship of the Labor, Student Service and Education Committee following the resignation of Sen. Susan Richardson, who was recently appointed secretary of communications.

Miss Richardson's resignation was also highlighted by Gonzalez.

Joe Hartley was appointed deputy attorney general in a letter to Senate from Groot. Sen. George Noga was delegated to head a special committee.

Smith Leaders Elected Today

The men of Smith Residence Hall will elect this trimester's officers today announced Bob Levy, advisor to dorm government.

Balloting will take place in the Smith Hall lobby area from 4 p.m. to 11 p.m., today, Levy continued.

Because of the addition of the unit system to the functioning of the hall, the entire government structure has been reorganized, Levy said.

The officers of governor and lieutenant governor have been changed to president and vice president. In addition, there are three new offices (student committee chairman), Levy continued.

The duties of the president shall now include attendance at all Student Senate meetings, he said. The vice president will maintain the internal stability and workings of the hall.

Champion Fete Honors Students

President and Mrs. John Champion will honor all new freshmen and transfer students who entered the University in September or January, 1965-66, at a reception tonight.

Guests will be received from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the president's home, 1030 W. Tennessee St.

Student Body President Jim Groot will greet guests at the door along with Alice Chambers, asst. to the FERRANTE AND TEICHER, ... duo-piano team, will perform this evening at 8:30 p.m. in Tully Gym. The appearance tonight marks the second year in a row that the popular artists have been to the FSU campus.

SES Series Ferrante-Teicher Perform Tonight

The returning duo-piano team Ferrante and Teicher will present "Double Play" on the stage of Tully Gym, at 8:30 p.m. tonight.

Tickets are now on sale at the Union Ticket Office at $1.50 for students ($1 less than the usual Student Entertainment Series events) and $2 for non-students.

The Student Entertainment Series Committee is making every attempt to provide the best possible entertainment at the lowest possible price," said Charles Tunniff, chairman of the committee.

For several years they combined teaching with a limited schedule of concerts. During this period they created new duo-piano material, employing original techniques. In 1947, they began to devote their time to concert work.

Their recordings of "Theme from the Apartment" and "Exodus" were their first hits.

Politics

During these next few weeks of hectic campaigning for various Student Government offices, both the commissioner of elections and the dean of students will undoubtedly be subject to a great deal of political pressure from all sides.

Commissioner Ted Hanes, being a former member of one political party, will have to bend over backwards to be fair to all concerned.

Hanes must also be concerned with the University administration's understandable desire that this be a 'clean' campaign.

Dean Harry P. Day would rather not be caught in the stormy seas that characterized the climax of last spring's student body president election. In that little typhoon, Jim Groot was accused of illegal campaigning by the Elections Commission, convicted by Honor Court, and then cleared by a higher appeals committee.

The net result for Groot was a presidency that came equipped with a decidedly hostile "loyal opposition"; for the University it was some blushing colorful coverage in the State newspapers.

It's things like that that make a dean want to take up something nice and quiet like undercover work for SPECTRE.

As much as we sympathize with the dean's need for quiet seas and a good press, we do not think that it is in the best interest of the student body to have a Student Government regulatory figure (as is the commissioner of elections) wink at promiscuous activity.

Such leniency on the part of this important official would only lead to a disregard of legitimate campaigning procedures and would put the electorate at a disadvantage since it might end up selecting the candidate who got the most publicity through illegal practice.

We would ask the commissioner to remember that his first concern should not be with the wishes of the administration and the image of FSU, but rather should be for the welfare of the student body.

'Please LBJ, I Don't Want To Go'

A recent survey of FSU students showed wide-spread concern over the Vietnamese war. When questioned, most men replied that they did not want to go to Vietnam now. One youth responded simply, "I don't want to get killed." Other reasons included education, family, friends and plans for marriage. Also, men can partially fulfill obligations with campus military programs. If the war escalated into World War III, nearly all men interviewed said they would go. One youth claimed he "would gladly go". For a few, there was a feeling of adventure or commitment.

When asked about US involvement most students said they felt it necessary. Some people questioned American tactics there. Earl Walker felt the US "should evaluate its policy".

Some students said they would more personally involved if the war were directly against the US. Most say they believe that there is a serious threat in Vietnam. Students were unsure of just what the US policy was. They accused the Vietnamese war-shaling Communist aggression.

A religion major said that he opposed to all conflicts. He especially opposed to the Vietnamese war because US policy was "for selfish motives".

Several students said they felt concepts of democracy differ from nation to nation. Jim Richardson summed up this idea by saying that he could not be policeman of the world. Richardson also said he felt that the Vietnamese war differs from the Korean conflict and World War because it is a guerrilla war. "The enemy is everywhere and nowhere," he said.

Attitudes on how to end the war varied from negotiating, to dropping an atomic bomb. Eric Falk said he believed that the US "should concentrate on economic aid". He felt that it was unfortunate for the US to be in its present position. He also said he felt that the US should take those needed with strictest deferment for essential and most college students. In time of war, those with occupations necessary to the war effort, scientists, should not be drafted, he said.

Many students have been personally affected by directly participating in the war or having friends and relatives there. One student who served in Vietnam claimed, "I'll never go back." Another told close friends who had been killed badly wounded there. The attitude most persons was that the US had become too deeply involved to withdraw from there now.

PD105 Passing Mourned

such as a practical course in personal adjustment, may prove invaluable help to him.

Personal Development often provides the student with the necessary skill to deal with future changes in life. This area includes adjustment to work, academic achievement, marriage and aging. It reveals the natural changes in a person's life and the corresponding roles he is expected to perform. In doing so, the student is prevented from any fear pertaining to his changing role in society and, in the meantime, is well-equipped to face the many problems which may arise throughout his life.

For me, Personal Development is an excellent orientation to human behavior. It deals with the basic principles and phenomena in psychology in relation to a socially maladjusted person. In such a case, the student will be able to understand the basic elements in psychology and their application without digging into the technicalities of the subject.

For some, a course in Personal Development may seem like a snap and a comparatively easy subject, but this does not mean that it is a less useful one. According to my experience, I dare say that I have learned more in this course than in any other that I have taken here at FSU. In my opinion, what I have learned in the course is both interesting and most practical in everyday life. It would seem to me to be an essential course for every student regardless of his major field of study. To me, a foreign student, this is especially true, and I hereby plead for its addition to the curriculum of Basic Studies.

Kai-yeng Chai

To the Editor:

I learned recently from the "Flambeau" that courses in the Personal Adjustment area have been deleted completely from the curriculum for the Division of Basic Studies. To me, and I am sure that many will agree, this rearrangement of courses inflicts a great loss to the students and denies the students a great opportunity to orient themselves to college life.

I fail to see any strong argument in support of this action; on the contrary, I hear only silence. I wish to point out from experience the value of the courses in the area of personal adjustment with special reference to Personal Development 105.

Personal Development 105 is a course which every freshman should take during his first trimester. As a student fresh from high school, a freshman has to adjust to almost every aspect of life in college. For the first time in his life, he is given the opportunity to pursue knowledge on his own and at his own pace without external pressure or interference. Consequently he must be very careful in budgeting his time and must search for a study method that is most suitable to him.

Moreover, he is now expected to act as a responsible adult. For better or for worse, he has to stand on his own feet and struggle for existence. He is now away from home; he can no longer rely on his parents since he must make every decision as best he can. To the strong, this change in role may be a good experience towards mental maturation and personality growth, but to the inexperienced and immature, this may be extremely difficult. Whichever the case, a reliable source of guidance,

Tribe Meets NC State In 'World Series Of Southern Swimming'

by JUDY HUGHES
Asst. Sports Editor

The FSU Swinmiles will put their 18-meet winning streak on the crest of a tidal wave tonight as they engage North Carolina State in what the Wolfpack refers to as "The World Series of Southern Swimming", in Raleigh.

The two pool giants will tangle in a battle of the unbeaten in the first of three tough competitions in as many days for the Tribe splashers. Winners of seven straight meets, the Wolfpack will be out to tie the Seminoles' skin and be the only defeated tanker squad in the South.

NC State will be banking its hopes on freestyle specialist Steve Reyck, who has already posted the three best times in the nation in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle.

Following the grind with the Wolfpack, the Seminole tankers will continue on the Carolina trail to face East Carolina in Greenville tomorrow.

The East Carolinians boast one of the perennially strong small college swimming teams, placing high annually in the NCAA College Championship Tournament.

The Tribe splashers complete their tour of the Tarheel State with a journey to Chapel Hill and a meet with the University of North Carolina, Saturday.

Although the Swinmiles beat the Tarheels by a 55-40 margin last year in Tallahassee, UNC boasts a former Olympic butterflyer and freestyler, Phil Riker, and Rick Forum, an Atlantic Coast Conference All-Star breastroker.

Seminole Coach Bill Suits has been hesitant about the grueling road trip, due to the freezing and rainy weather which has made recent practice sessions difficult. However, riding on the laurels of the first two meets in which the Swinmiles used their experienced tankers sparingly, Suits' swimmers could come up with a few surprises in North Carolina.

Kennedy Honored

by Larry Spalding
Flambeau Sports Writer

FSU Head Basketball Coach Bud Kennedy was presented a plaque of appreciation by the Dolphin Century Club before the game with Jacksonville University Monday night in Jacksonville.

The award was given for Kennedy's "outstanding contribution to college basketball in the state of Florida" during recent years. After the game Bill Kautz, sports editor of the "Jacksonville Times-Union", indicated that the award was a "spontaneous gesture of respect and friendship by the basketball fans of this city" and not a form of "psychological warfare" to kill the opposition with kindness.

Despite the loss to JU, the Tribe did demonstrate one thing, namely that it still has the ability to hit a respectable percentage of its free throws.

After falling from fourth in the nation according to the NCAA statistics, the Seminoles were hitting little better than 50 percent of their charity shots in the four games prior to JU. In the Jacksonville game the Tribe sank 72 percent of its free throws.

SPORTS ON CAMPUS

The FSU Soccer Club travels to Orlando Sunday for a match with the Orlando Orange Soccer Club.

The club will practice today at 4 p.m. and Saturday at 10 a.m. on the soccer field. All members are urged to attend these final practices.

The FSU All-Campus Intramural Tennis Tournament will be Feb. 7-11. No varsity players are eligible to participate. Applications may be picked up in room 124, Tully Gym, after tomorrow.

Here's the excitement and great music from Ferrante and Teicher's concert tours that have broken box office records all over the country. It's a great one...

Price, Stevens Make Rift Public

by ELLEN WEISS
Asst. News Editor

Price, supposed New Party candidate for nomination for student president, was not nominated Tuesday night's coalition convention of New Party and University Party, said Jim Stevens, Party member and pivot man in the choice of presidential nominee.

Stevens, who reportedly had pressed to yield the floor to David Price, Price's nominator, instead pushed for the nomination by acclamation of University Party's Rick Fritz.

Stevens explained the last-minute move as an attempt to prevent Price from delivering his planned speech denouncing both parties.

According to Stevens, Price was unhappy with the party, because he felt it was "selling him out" and that it would not support him during the voting. Price confirmed the sentiment saying that several New Party delegates told him of the party's intended token support of only 30 votes.

Price said he had prepared to tell the convention of his withdrawal from race, his support of Rick Fritz and to point out the faults of both New Party and University Party.

He later said that he was upset with the "sacrificial candidate" attitude toward him and the lack of integrity of the party.

He criticized the machinery of both parties saying that New Party was "extremely disorganized and unrepresentative, being run by four or five self-centered students" and that University Party's "organization is oriented to the petty desires of party leaders."

Stevens harped upon the loyal voting of the party saying, "The New Party captured 100 percent of the nominations for which it produced candidates. We can only speculate what the result of the presidential race would have been had Price held firm."

Price said of the same consistency in voting, "The result proved that New Party is fooling everybody as well as me. They completely ran the entire convention and dictated how NP-UP candidates would be."

Stevens said, "The members of New Party, thinking they had a solid candidate, began the organization for nomination. Party workers prepared banners, signs and press releases... All this was done with the idea that we could possibly defeat the opposing candidate and at least gain a fairly solid name for our nominee."

Price said he asked Stevens what preparations were made and Stevens told him of one two-foot by one-foot sign and several smaller ones. Disagreeing with Stevens who said "Our nominee did not aid in the least the preparations for the convention," Price said he had drummed up the support of 35 UP delegates.

Stevens summed up the affair saying, "This story indicates the difficulty a new party faces in building the confidence of candidates."

Price finished by explaining, "I can and will do what I honestly feel is right. I can and will no longer be associated with either the New or University Party."

SG Adopts 25th Air Traffic Company

Following a first among universities in the Southeast Government today announced the "adoption" of the 25th Air Traffic Company of Vung Viem, by the student body.

The program, under the chairman, Susan Richardson, sec. of the Student Government, will include an individual pen pal program between the soldiers and the students, sending items such as soap and candy, and the big program of forwarding new and used paperback books.

The new program is an outgrowth from the candy drive sponsored by SG before Christmas which sent 1,800 boxes of candy as Christmas gifts to Vietnam.

The overwhelming response on the part of the soldiers who received the candy prompted the program, said Miss Richardson.

The new and used paperback book drive will be Monday night in every dorm and living area on the campus. Beginning at 9:30 p.m., the collectors will go from room to room in the living areas for donations.

Both paperback tests, such as humanities books, and pleasure reading books are requested, Miss Richardson added.

"These men in Vietnam work about 10 hours a day, sleep about eight, and have the other six hours to write letters, read books and play sports," she continued.

Student Government has received letters from servicemen such as:

SG Abolishes Knowledge Test

William Howse, chairman of Women's Judiciary, today announced the abolishment of the Social Register Test for women.

The test, formerly known as the "Knowledge for College" Test, had been given at the beginning of each trimester to entering women and transfer students. They were required to pass the test or be restricted for one trimester.

Women's Judiciary voted to abolish the test at its Wednesday meeting as they believe that it is the more mature approach to pressure women with the regulations set and make it a personal responsibility to learn the rules," Miss House.

She cited as reasons for abolishing the test was the cost of the test and the time that it took to give. "The test had to be rewritten each year, the printing of 2,000 tests is expensive," explained Miss House. The administration of the test also took much time of the members, Sophomore Council members, who took it, added.

The test was deemed necessary the past to give all women the rules environment and to combat the excuse of ignorance as a cause of infraction.

"When Student Government wrote them of our intention of adopting their company they were very enthusiastic. The first thing they requested were books so I hope that the students body will support this drive to send them what they have asked for," said Miss Richardson.

"Our goal is 1,000 books which I hope we can easily exceed," added Miss Richardson.

If a book collector does not come to a student's room, books may be dropped off at the APO office or in the Student Government offices in the Union.

Through this program of personal contact with the soldiers, the students at FSU hope to show the men in Vietnam that there are people in the US who care that they are there, commented Miss Richardson.

Whitley Named LSSE Chairman

Student Body Vice President Larry Gonzalez Wednesday announced the appointment of Sen. Jack Whitley as chairman of the Labor, Student Services and Education Committee of the Student Senate.

Gonzalez said that the post was vacated by Susan Richardson when she resigned her senate position to assume the duties of sec. of communications.

"Whitley, served on the committee last year," said Gonzalez, "and he is a member of the Judicial and Rules Committee this year."

SUSAN RICHARDSON

... sec. of communications, goes through a stack of letters from US soldiers in Vietnam requesting more correspondence from FSU students. Miss Richardson responded with a program to send paperback books to the men.

Rick Fritz Calls For State Involvement

RICK FRITZ

"I think its about time Student Government realizes its full potential as the voice of the student body to the administration, community and especially the State government," said Rick Fritz, Student Party nominee for student body president, today.

Fritz said that Student Government can make great strides in taking a more active role in representing students to the State government than it is now doing.

"I don't think that it's really hit home that we're not just students, but we're also citizens and voters, (or potential voters). As such we can become a significant force in the State's smaller issues to the University, a voice that has to be listened to," said Fritz.

"Because we are not subject to the same economic reprisals as the administration, we have greater freedom to defend the interests of FSU when the University is being pressured by the Legislature, Budget Commission or Board of Regents," he continued.

"Such a move to involve Student Government with State government should also increase student awareness of the role they play as citizens in higher education," Fritz said.

To carry out this program, Fritz stated that he would reorganize the lobby bureau so that it would be a full-time functioning organization with constant communication with legislators, state officials and influential students.

"There have been some one-shot, and sporadic attempts at lobbying before that did get results for a specific project," said Fritz, "but there has been little attempt to form continuous lobby programs."

Our Found Guilty Of Deception

Students were tried and convicted by Honor Court for cases of deliberate deception at last Wednesday's court session.

Justice of Honor Court Don White said today that three of the defendants were convicted for misuse of food plan card and received one trimester probation.

One of the three was also sentenced to the loss of a scholarship.

The other case concerned deliberate deception involving the illegal use on an ID card. The defendant received one trimester probation.

Flambeau Editorials Feiffer Every Friday

FLAMBEAU editorials do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the student body as a whole or administration of Florida State University. Editorials reflect the editorial policy of the FLAMBEAU.

Legal Error

FSU students took another stop forward today, in their continuing effort to escape a self-imposed Victorian fantasy when Jennifer Howse, chairman of University Court, announced the abolition of the Social Regulations Test—formerly known as the Knowledge for College test.

Miss Howse and the court are to be congratulated for finally recognizing that college coeds are as equally able as men to adjust to social situations without being subjected to the childish exercise of the "I'll-be-a-good-girl"—written-25-times-on-a-black-board genre.

Ironically, the court's move to abolish the test in a way substantiated the long held belief that the test was utterly meaningless.

The test had no meaning or validity, not particularly because of its content, but because it was fundamentally unconstitutional.

It had not been instituted by the Student Senate and was not part of the Constitution or Statutes, but had been decreed into existence by judiciary several years ago.

The judicial system is not empowered by the Constitution to legislate in this fashion.

By admitting that it did not have the legal power to initiate the Social Regulations Test, the court has not only taken a more realistic position on the maturity of FSU coeds, but has also made a significant contribution in assuring legal due process for the student body.

Wasteland

Wonder of wonders, with the heavy rains of the past week there has not been a single report of any student trapped forever in "Green's Wasteland".

In times past during the normal Tallahassee typhoon season there have been at least two or three reports of students caught and sucked under the mud of the construction sites while trying to get from a French class in the Business Bldg. to a chemistry class in the History Bldg.

At such times a public outcry was usually raised to lynch FSU Asst. Business Manager Ray Green for his lack of consideration for students while erecting edifices to education.

Rather than risk the embarrassment of a nasty rope burn, Green now has done a good job of planning for student traffic with clearly marked, paved and raised temporary walkways.

We congratulate Green for both his good planning and personal discretion.

Campus 'Fiji' Chapter Colonizes

Phi Gamma Delta, national social fraternity now colonizing at FSU, will be the 19th social fraternity on campus.

Steve Edwards, field secretary from the national office in Washington, D.C., explained that "Fiji" and the University have been working together for several years to determine the most appropriate time for colonization.

The University finally extended a formal invitation to the chapter last spring, he said.

The colony now is comprised mainly of graduate students who were members of the Phi Gamma Delta chapter on the campus where they attended undergraduate school.

Assisting Col. Robert Shoemaker, prof. of aerospace studies and faculty advisor to the group, is Dr. Milton Carothers, prof. of higher education, and Dr. Dehart Krans, University psychiatrist, who will form the board of chapter advisors. The four original pledges, Bruce Murray, Roger Bone, Steve Sparkman and Rick Shilling, were joined by others initiated at Friday night's pledging ceremony.

The chapter will continue rushing through March 15, complying with IFC's open rush regulations.

"Fiji" has been officially recognized since Jan. 1, and has been a non-voting member of IFC since then.

Probationary period for the chapter will be completed Jan. 1, 1967, providing the roster has reached 15. The chapter is also required by the University to have established an internal system of bookkeeping, which a committee of graduate students is now working on, and provisions for housing, said Edwards.

Edwards said the chapter plans to participate in all intra-fraternity activities that may be suited to a group with small membership.

Dr. Flory Guest At Coffee Hour

"Annie Oakley in the South" will be the topic of discussion for English Coffee Hour speaker, Dr. Claude R. Flory, FSU prof. of English, today at 4:10 p.m. at the Westminster House.

The hour is jointly sponsored by the English Dept. and the "Flambeau".

Flory is president of the Tallahassee Historical Society and has done amateur history writing.

His article on Annie Oakley will be published in the "North Carolina Historical Review".

He said he feels that Annie Oakley is an interesting topic for a coffee hour discussion because of her participation in the Florida peninsula.

Flory said she was a visitor to Florida for 10 years previous to her residence here in 1922 to 1926.

Panamanian All-Stars' Speed Challenges Eminoles Tonight In Tully Gym Fracas

... fans will have a chance to see a unique type of basketball game as FSU Coach Bud Kennedy leads an all-star team from Panama in Tully Gym at 7:45 p.m.

All-Stars will appear in conjunction with the US State Dept.'s People's Sports Committee. Panamanians' play is unique because of the squad's size. The tallest man on the team is 6-5 Norris Webb, a University of Panama star. Other standouts include Julio Osorio, 6-4; Cleveland Geddes, 6-4 and Luis Morrell, 6-3.

The team is composed of outstanding collegiate and amateur players representing the entire country of Panama.

Although the Panamanian team members are small, they are very fast. Their game is exciting to watch because of their speed.

"Without a doubt they'll be the quickest bunch we'll play in a long time," freshman Coach Rufus Ashworth said. "They don't have much height, but all of them are fast and they have quick hands. It will be an interesting team to watch."

The quickness of the team is due to an international rule which requires a shot at least every 30 seconds.

While in the US, however, they will play under collegiate rules. The Panamanians run a lot and like to work the ball.

The All-stars will frequent the use of a "snowbird" tactic rarely seen in US basketball. They use fourmen on defense, and keep one man under their own basket.

Because of its size the team doesn't come down with many rebounds. Instead it tips the ball off to the top of the key and fast-breaks downcourt.

Last week Panama played a semi-pro team in Jacksonville. The All-Stars were able to keep up with the Jacksonville team in the first half, but the latter's height was too much for them towards the end of the game.

The Panamanian team is coached by Maura Lasso, and will be accompanied by Victor Vargas, president of the Panama Basketball League.

New pledges are Claudia Allen, Marilyn Ansley, Heather Baylis, Becky Blakemore, Jo Buchanan, Christy Burns, Janice Conrad, Susan Crowder, Linda DeFina, Ava Eng and Kathy Gourley.

Also, Janet Graham, Hilda Henderson, Jo Ellen Holmes, Judi McQuade, Dee Reagan, Mary Lee Reagan, Judy Teale, Marilyn Thompson, Pam Tracks and Sandi Turner.

SIGMA Xi's New pledges are Tom Kuntz, Chris Martin, Randy Monchick, John Lipscomb, Rob Hackly, Ronald Hyde and Howard Gray.

The Group will play for a party in the Snake Pit tomorrow night, SIGMA Phi EPSILON: The Sig Ep's will go back in time tomorrow for a "Roaring 20's Party" with the Marsauders supplying the music.

New Sig Ep pledge is Richard Ross.

Americus Tournament

Frosh Prepare To Defend Title

by: Larry Spalding
Flambeau Sports Writer

The rampaging baby Seminole cagers invade Americus, Ga., to defend their title in the Americus Invitational Tournament tonight.

The FSU frosh will be going into the tourney after three strong wins, all upsets, on the road. Two of these victories were against Chipola JC while the third was over the previously undefeated Brevard JC team.

The Tribe tangled with Brevard, which was ranked ninth nationally among the junior colleges, and thrashed them soundly 74-63, Saturday.

The baby Seminoles started the game slowly and found themselves down 37-30 at the half, but they came back, took the lead, and never let it go.

Against the taller Brevard team the Seminoles shot an outstanding 53 percent from the floor.

The FSU frosh now own a 7-4 record. Two of their losses came against the tall, unbeaten U of F frosh and the other two at the hands of the equally tall Gulf Coast JC team.

"For all of their seven victories the Seminoles have relied on their strong outside shooting and tight defensive play," said freshman coach Rufus Ashworth.

The Tribe frosh will be led into the tourney by Jeff Hogan, the top scorer on the team, averaging more than 25 points per game, and by LaDon Boyd, the top playmaker.

Jim Geller and newcomer Jeff Churchin have come on strong in the rebounding department to give the Seminoles an edge in the defensive portion of the game.

Opposing the Tribe in the Americus Invitational Tournament will be freshman teams from Georgia, Georgia Tech and Auburn.

According to Ashworth, "It should be a really good tournament. The teams are well matched, but on the basis of our last three games, we expect to win and retain the trophy."

In the first round tonight Auburn will face Georgia Tech in the square game and the Seminoles will square off against Georgia in the second game beginning at 9 p.m.

Tribe Gymnasts Beaten By LSU

Flambeau Sports Writer

Despite an outstanding performance by FSU's Jon Culbertson, the Seminole gymnastics team was defeated by LSU Wednesday night at Tully Gym, 163.5-150.3.

Culbertson, who was high scorer of the meet with 51.2 points, performed in every event but the trampoline. Bob Gramling contributed 29.8 points for FSU, and Frank Dennard added 22.3 more points. Pete DiCroce, who is FSU's star performer on the trampoline, did not participate because of a dislocated shoulder.

LSU managed to score important third and fourth place points, which proved to be FSU's downfall. As Culbertson said, "FSU team members did their best but were beaten by the superior depth of the LSU team which should be first or second in the Southern Intercollegiate Gymnastics League Championships set to take place in early March."

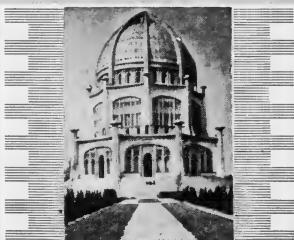

The team has a meet against Auburn Saturday night in Tully Gym at 7:30 p.m. Culbertson will not be permitted to participate, since he has graduated a student member of FSU's clubteam.

There will also be an exhibition put on by the girls of Gymnastics.

LATE COMER

... Jim Geller will help lead the freshman cagers tonight and tomorrow in FSU's defense at the Americus Invitational Tournament. The forward's recent rebounding surge is one of the major factors in the frosh's improvement and three-game winning streak.

FSU's swimboard Swinmoles dropped their first dual meet, 19 tries last night, losing to the powerful NC State Wolfpack, 59-36 in Raleigh, N.C.

The Swinmoles managed to take first in three of the events but it wasn't enough to overcome the Wolves.

Seely Feldman set a varsity record of 1:47.6 in the 200-yd freestyle and Mike Koch captured the 200-yard breaststroke for the Tribe. Duane McAllister and Bob Crutchank took one-up in the diving for the Seminoles.

Coaching Changes Announced

FSU announced three changes involving football coaches—two additions and one possible departure—yesterday, to take effect for the coming gridiron season.

Gene McDowell, cousin of linebacker and defensive captain of this year's Tribe grider Bill McDowell, has been named new freshman coach. McDowell succeeds Bill Proctor in the frosh position, who moved up to fill the asst. dean of men's post at FSU.

McDowell, himself a linebacker for the Seminoles until his graduation in 1963, paved the way for his younger cousin. He coached under Proctor this past first season when the yearlings turned in a 4-1 record, best ever for an FSU freshman squad.

In another move, Bobby Jackson, formerly a graduate asst., has been promoted to varsity status and named to Head Coach Bill Proctor's duties with the Seminoles. Jackson has yet to be decided.

In a final release, FSU offensive coach Bobby Bowden was viewed yesterday for the same position at West Virginia. Bowden, the Tribe staff in 1963,

Greek Groups Again Give Legend Prizes

Donnie Egan, editor of the "Legend", the campus literary anthology, announced today that prizes for the winning edition will again be offered for the best contributions in the areas of poetry, short story, essay, work and photography.

Prizes for the prizes were recently awarded by the Inter-Fraternity Council and the Panhellenic Council (from each).

Prizes submitted by any undergraduate student are eligible. Miss Egan said. The deadline for all submissions is Feb. 10. A board of 10 reviewers will determine the winners.

The "Legend" has been published annually each year since 1959. It is first known simply as the "Literary Anthology". In 1960 the name was changed to "the Legend," she said.

The prizes will be as follows: short story—$50 first prize, $25 second prize, $15 third prize; poetry collection—$25 first prize, $15 second prize, $10 third prize (second and third prizes may be a single poem); "Legend" has been published annually each year since 1959. It is first known simply as the "Lit-

Smith Hall Reveals Government Program

Smith Hall took the wraps off its revolutionary idea for student involvement in the University when Bob Levy, the hall's advisor-counselor, made public today the experiment in dorm government the hall has been carrying on since last fall.

The dorm government, originally a one-unit system, has been broken down into a three-unit organization, the "Huns", "Playboys" and "Penthouse Phantoms". Each of the units possesses its own constitution.

"The purpose of the change," Levy said, "is to help make the freshmen and transfers to FSU feel as if they belong to a meaningful organization."

Levy said he feels that this change will take in the interests of the individual and make him feel necessary to the functioning of the dorm and University.

"Through this action a more personal interest can be taken in each new student and each student can feel he is a significant member of the University community and not just another number," he continued.

Last trimester after a debate about block seating the top unit of Smith Hall received recognition from Student Senate as an organization. "This is the goal of each unit," Levy said.

The change has created three new offices (three steering committee chairmen). Each chairman represents a unit in the dorm. The three newly-elected chairmen are Britt Small, Wayne Clemmer and Martin Dundas.

"The steering committee idea was conducted as an experiment on the top unit," Levy said. "We conducted weekly unit meetings and discussed such problems as parliamentary procedure, dorm problems and how to effectively conduct a meeting."

Levy said he feels that this reorganization has increased active support of dorm activities by the residents. He said this is apparent in the turnout of 85 percent of the residents in the recent elections of officers.

The new officers are Ken Smith, president, Byron Price, vice president, Dave Riddle, secretary and Jeff Burrows, treasurer.

Gonzalez Calls For 'Business Bureau'

Calling for better communication between students and Tallahassee businessmen, Larry Gonzalez, University Party-New Party president, today revealed plans to start a student better business bureau as part of the Student Government platform for next year.

Gonzalez said many student complaints about service, policies and prices seem well-founded. Through 1965, problems that arise could be worked out in a non-forceful way, he said.

Gonzalez said he hopes to see such programs as a "student discount" during which University buses would transport students to the business area.

Gonzalez said he advocated a diplomatic approach toward the merchants, showing them that the attraction of a discount would bring to the business students who would buy discounted items as well. In charge, Student Government would insure wide publicity about the day, he said.

Gonzalez said he consulted with both the Tallahassee BBI and the chairman of the Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce who was hesitant about the project but said he felt it was a good idea. He advised Gonzalez to explore the legal aspects of the action such as chances for libel and slander.

Gonzalez emphasized that anything published would be objective. Complaints would not be judged as valid or not.

The power in such an organization lies in the bad publicity a business could receive, said Gonzalez. He said he feels many businesses such as movie theaters, laundries and grocery stores would be hurt by the non-patronage of students although he has no statistics on the subject.

He said he felt a fallacy in the present thinking of businessmen was that they felt they were helping the University now by contributing to such organizations as the Seminole Boosters. Although this benefits FSU, it doesn't directly affect the students, he continued.

"SQUAW VALLEY HERE I COME"

SSRF Receives 'Jeweled' Grant

A gift of $2,500 from Ruby Diamond, a Florida State College graduate of 61 years ago, was announced today by the Southern Scholarship and Research Foundation.

Dean Mode L. Stone of the School of Education, the president of the foundation, said Miss Diamond's check, presented this week, is enough to provide a "permanent scholarship" for a male or female student.

The foundation does not award cash scholarships but the aid it gives a student is valued at about $600 a year.

The foundation has converted 12 residences on the edge of the FSU campus into scholarship houses. Students meeting the rigid selection requirements are enabled to live rent-free and do their own cooking and housework, thereby shaving several hundred dollars off the cost of a year in college.

Students selected must have demonstrated financial need and good character, Stone said.

Sick? Buy Today

Student Government announced that this is the last day for students to purchase student insurance for this semester.

Students wishing to purchase insurance for this trimester should go down 331 Union, before 5 p. m.

The policy is good anywhere and is effective until Sept. 1, 1966.

Political Expert Speaks Tonight

Jeremy Azrael, a political scientist from the University of Chicago and specialist on Russia, will speak in Moore Auditorium at 8 p.m. tonight on "The Legislative Process in the Soviet Union".

Azrael is coming to Tallahassee directly from Moscow, where he has been on a brief research trip, according to Dr. Elie Frank, director of the Public Lecture Series of the Dept. of Government.

His address is part of a series devoted this year to legislative procedures in various countries and units of government.

Azrael majored in government at Harvard College, specializing in Soviet politics, and graduated magna cum laude in 1956. He continued as a graduate student at Harvard.

In the academic year 1958-59 he attended Moscow State University as a participant in the first U.S.-USSR academic exchange. He returned to Harvard as a graduate fellow of the Russian Research Center and completed his work on a doctorate in 1961. He has been at the University of Chicago since then, and now is an assoc. professor.

During 1963-64 he took leave to work on the Russian Research Center at Harvard on a book which will be published this year, "Management and Politics, USSR: The Role of the Managerial Elite in the Political Development of the Soviet System".

Among his publications are an article, "Murder Trial in Moscow", in the May, 1962, "Atlantic"; "Soviet Freedom: A Balance Sheet," in the March, 1963, "New Republic"; and "Notes on the Probable Consequences for the Internal Functioning of the Soviet System of Arms Control and/or Disarmament Inspection", a memorandum being revised for publication.

Money

Student Body President Jim Groot saved Student Government the possible embarrassment of looking like the political madhouse of pre-De Gaulle France, when he signed into law Sen. Skip Gunn's bill to limit a candidate's party financial affiliation to one political party.

The bill and the signing, at the end of last week, came none too soon as active campaigning begins Tuesday at 5 p.m. As it is, the latest FSU fad of party proliferation should come to a hasty halt as the word of the bill's signing gets out to worried student politicians.

Had this law not been enacted, the campaign could easily have been turned into a contest for creating party fronts. With the backing of each new front group a candidate could spend more money.

Such a development would very likely find candidates with more initials behind their names than a university commencement speaker; i.e., Jack Groot UP, SP, NP, GOP, DP ad infinitum.

Fortunately--thanks to Gunn, the Student Senate and Groot--this absurdity will not take place. Under the provisions of the new law, no matter how many parties wish to endorse and support a candidate, the candidate can receive financial assistance from only one party.

Besides preventing the ludicrous situation already alluded to, the bill maintains the traditional FSU political stance of attempting to keep student politics from becoming a rich man's hobby, or from having someone "buy" his way into office as happens more often than people care to think about at other universities.

We therefore commend Student Government for its evident interest in fair and reasonable election procedures.

Pamphlet Needed To Offset Lack

To the Editor:

Despite the noble though not too successful efforts of our athletic teams, I feel that FSU is not receiving the publicity it deserves, and that this lack of laurels might account for its intellectual malnutrition. What I propose is that FSU print up a pamphlet to be distributed to all high school graduates in an effort to arouse the interests of students worthy of our faculty. The following are suggested paragraphs to be included.

Aesthetically speaking, one could say that the FSU campus is swamped with tradition... why, that mud has been here since Dean Warren first started making little girls out of FSU's women. Yes, progress is the by-word at FSU. Once there were sloping lawns, and a green lined with tall shade trees between the Student... whoops!... University Union and the pool. Now there is a wide, two-lane sidewalk to handle the huge student traffic from the Social Science Bldg, construction site to the circus lot. A multi-million dollar, multi-storied aspirin and cold pill dispensary is being erected behind the Women's Gym. Last but not least, pencil sharpeners might soon be installed in the Math Bldg.

As to architecture, FSU has everything. The lovely Robert M. Strozzer Bldg, which houses FSU's inadequate library is located just down the green from Fort Landis. Far from the bustle and noise of the classroom buildings stand the modern Physics Research Bldg, and Smith Hall of the pre-demolition period. Strategically located on the perimeter of this complex, and just off US Highway 90 stands Kellum Hall, designed in the "highrise" style of the 1960s. Here the male students can sleep to the gentle rhythm of the shifting dials; all this, just 20 minutes from most classes.

"The University Union is the epitome of non-academic student facilities (more so than even the Business Bldg). The Union Cafeteria provides the student with the opportunity to fight for his meal thrice daily (in keeping with the President's Conservation Program, the Union Cafeteria is saving water by washing only every fourth eating utensil). If the student wishes to see his food cooked, he can go to the snack-bar and watch the grease be fried from his $1.15 oatmeal burger. The Union post office gives the student a personal link with his Draft Board, Hugh Hefner, his loved ones, and Look-Magazine-subscription drives. Here, too, is the Student Depository which, due to its constant efforts to improve its service, is constantly closed. In the center of this architectural Eden is the Union Fountain, the pollution of which is already a Seminole tradition.

"But the biggest thrill for the incoming student is to know that now he is part of the legendary FSU Student Body. For those who wish undergraduate training in alcoholics unanimous, there are close to 40 fraternities and sororities campus. Those who do not wish to study interfere with college careers have a choice of appropriate majors (Business Administration, Elementary Education, etc.) to choose from, or can enter the varsity athletic program. Those majoring in these fields are requested to transfer to the University of Florida, while the faculty may not be as good, the atmosphere is much less stifling. A student at FSU need not think why he expends effort needlessly. Administration, using the popular principle of in loco parentis (Latin for: "If it's fun, it's a crime. If it's free, then it's a crime. If it's true, it's seditious."), fully regulates student life to insure that all graduates will be their Alimissima Mater's proud assumption their proper roles in inferno Life."

So you see, dear Editor, the abilities are numerous. Your list should be clear.

To you, the thinking people of campus, yes you, both of you, no apologize for any insult. I merely ask you to write in this paper with all the fun and excitement you can muster, for "Flambeau" is starved for attention.

Ruling Illogical

To the Editor:

As a member of our University Court System, one of my greatest concerns is to see the fair and equal administration of all University rules. Disrespect for the spirit and letter of University regulations in one area ultimately leads to lackadaisical administration of rules in others. It is difficult to explain to a freshman coach why she should respect social regulations when the very political leaders who make those rules don't consider themselves bound by other rules such as election statutes.

Regarding an allegedly illegal University Party circular that declared in big red type "Vote for the Progressive Party. Vote U.P." The elections commissioner tells us that it wasn't really campaign literature, that it didn't "advocate candidacy, but rather nomination or party." Strange that the word nominate didn't appear anywhere on the leaflet. Strange also that one was sent to almost every room in Kellum Hall where there were only about 10 University Party delegates who could vote at the convention.

Without questioning the election commissioner's integrity or impartiality but disagreeing with his logic, it seems obvious that this leaflet was, in the words of the elections code, "The dissemination of literature of any type... for the purpose of advocating or urging the election of... a group of candidates" which is defined as illegal if passed out more than seven days before election day. Such flagrant violation of our elections code or any other University regulation cannot be ignored if our Student Government is to retain the respect of the faculty and support of the students.

Engineers and Scientists:

Let's talk about a career at Boeing...

Campus Interviews, Monday, February 7

The most effective way to evaluate a company in terms of its potential for dynamic career growth is to examine its past record, its current status, and its prospects and planning for the future, together with the professional climate it offers for the development of your individual capabilities. Boeing, which in 1966 celebrates 50 years of unmatched aircraft innovation and production, offers you career opportunities as diverse as its extensive and varied backlog. Whether your interests lie in the field of commercial jet airliners or in space-flight technology, you can find at Boeing an opening which combines professional challenge and long-range stability. The men of Boeing are today pioneering evolutionary advances in both civilian and military aircraft, as well as in space programs of such historic importance as America's first moon landing. Missiles, space vehicles, gas turbine engines, transport helicopters, marine vehicles and basic research are other areas of Boeing activity.

There's a spot where your talents can mature and grow at Boeing, in research, design, test, manufacturing or administration. The company's position as world leader in jet transportation provides a measure of the calibre of people with whom you would work. In addition, Boeing people work in small groups, where initiative and ability get maximum exposure. Boeing encourages participation in the company-paid Graduate Study Program at leading colleges and universities near company installations.

We're looking forward to meeting engineering, mathematics and science seniors and graduate students during our visit to your campus. Make an appointment now at your placement office. Boeing is an equal opportunity employer.
